Foreword

Westward the course of empire takes its way, especially that empire of aspiration and desire which is the peculiar heritage of the scholar and the seer.

Beyond the Pillars of Hercules lay the first Eden of man's imagination. Still the West seems a land of achievement, of power, of glory. Still there is the lure beyond the ranges, the call of some mysterious good, the vision of a thousand breathless discoveries of this shining world. Still youth adventures beyond the Pillars of Hercules, questing for the land of heart's desire, thirsting to find that land and to open it to the legions that will follow.

So we, Westerners, sometime dwellers in the far fair lands, have chosen the Pillars of Hercules as our crest, the red of the apples of the Garden of the Hesperides as our color, and the search of the lands to the West as our Grail.

February Seniors

History of the February Class, 1925

Those who come must go, so we, the eighteen members of the February class of 1925, with due regret departed from Western on January 29, and went forth to conquer the world.

The history of a mid-year class is difficult to recount; the personnel is continually changing, and until graduation the members have no individuality, being merged, for school activities, with the June class of the same number of credits.

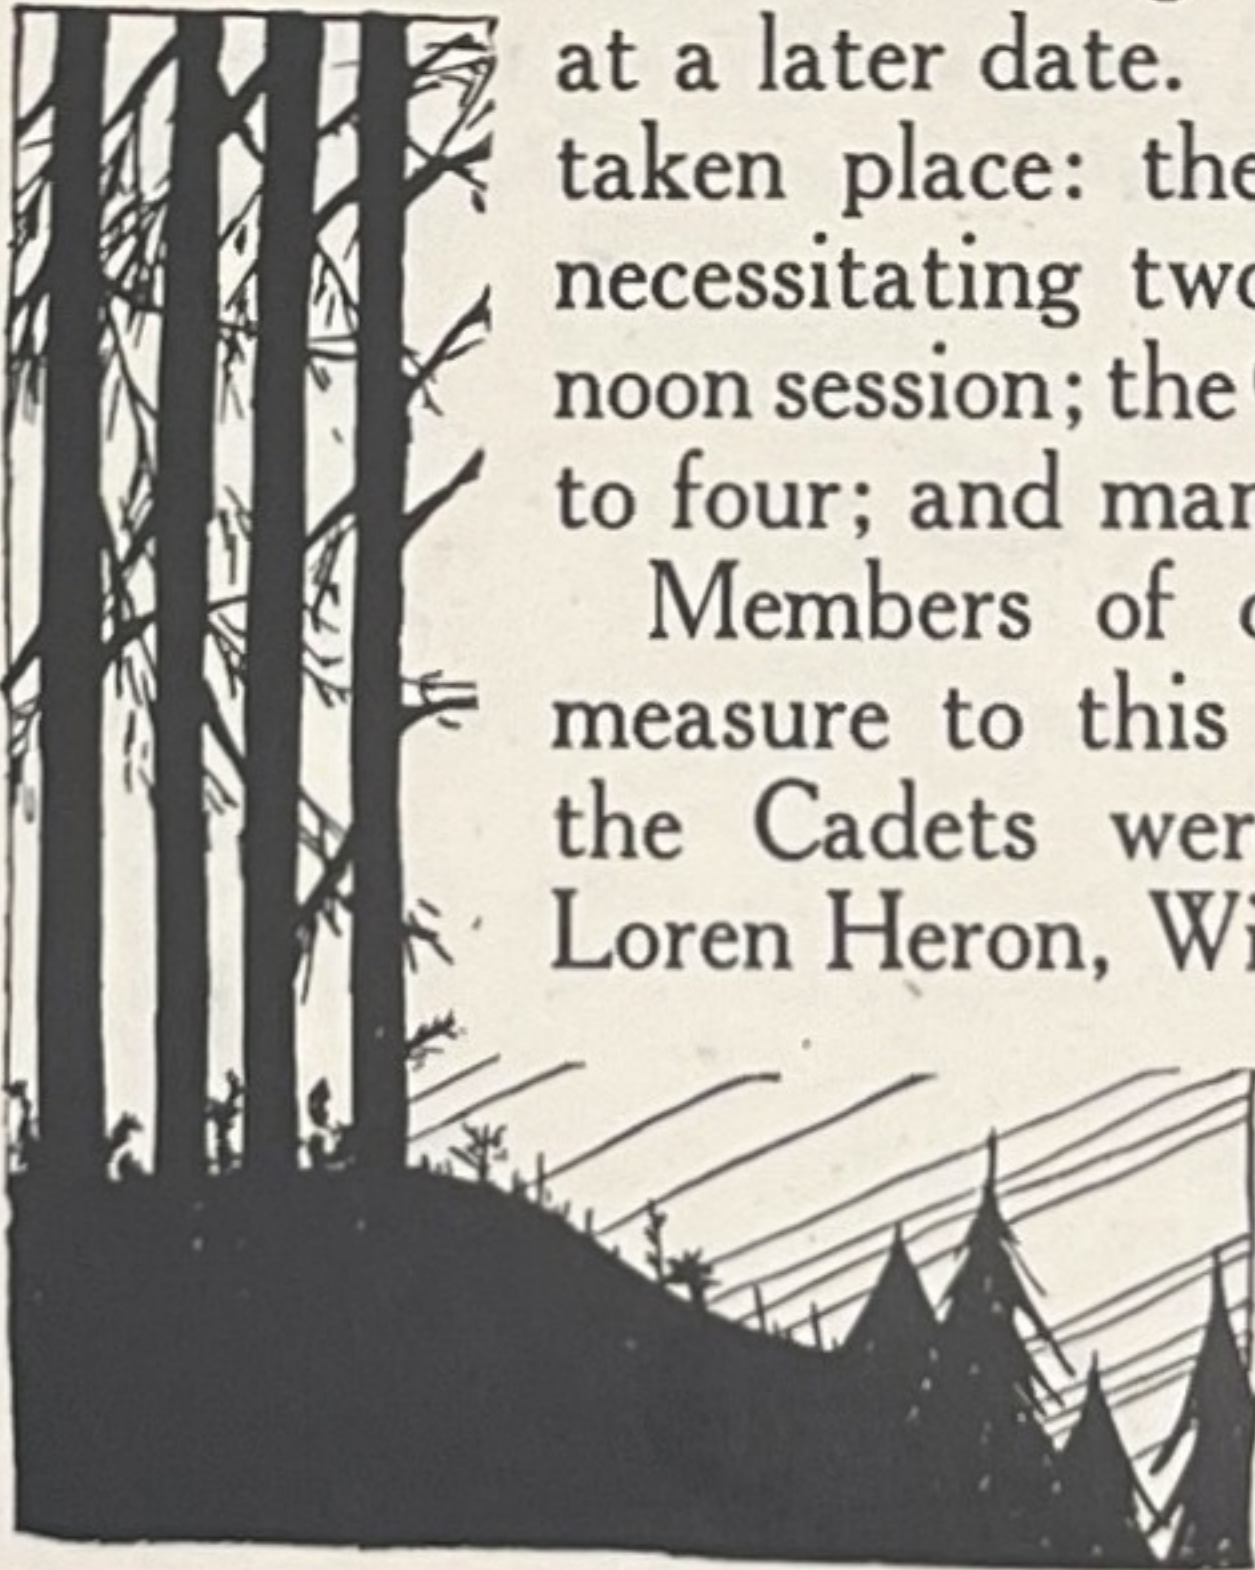

In February 1921, the class began its career at Western, though some of the members joined the ranks at a later date. During our stay, many changes have taken place: the number of students has increased, necessitating two divisions—a morning and an afternoon session; the Cadets have grown from two companies to four; and many new clubs have been organized.

Members of our class have contributed in large measure to this development. Those who served in the Cadets were Charles Beard, Stafford Hawken, Loren Heron, Wilson Hooff, Edward Kumpe, Edmond Pigeon, Henry Gichner and Hamilton Rhea. On the Honor Roll at different times have appeared the names of Edith Duehay, Mary Elizabeth Whiteside, Henry Gichner, Loren Heron, and Edmond Pigeon. Consistent backers of the Art Club were Virginia Lake and Sylvia Shaw. On the Girls' Rifle Team, Ruth Starrett was an exceptionally good shot. In the realm of publications, Loren Heron served as cartoonist for The Breeze and Henry Gichner directed the Athletic Department. Several of the boys took part in athletics which were in full swing on the Back Lot until the work on the new building transferred practice to the "Hollow." Hawken and Gichner specialized in football, and starred on the 1924 championship eleven. In lightweight basketball, an outstanding player was Hamilton Rhea.

With the award of the last diploma on January 29, the mid-year class of '25 passed into history; but eleven members returned to do post-graduate work, and delayed their departure for another term.

Historian, February Class.

ANSTICE DAVIS

EDITH DUEHAY

HENRY GICHNER

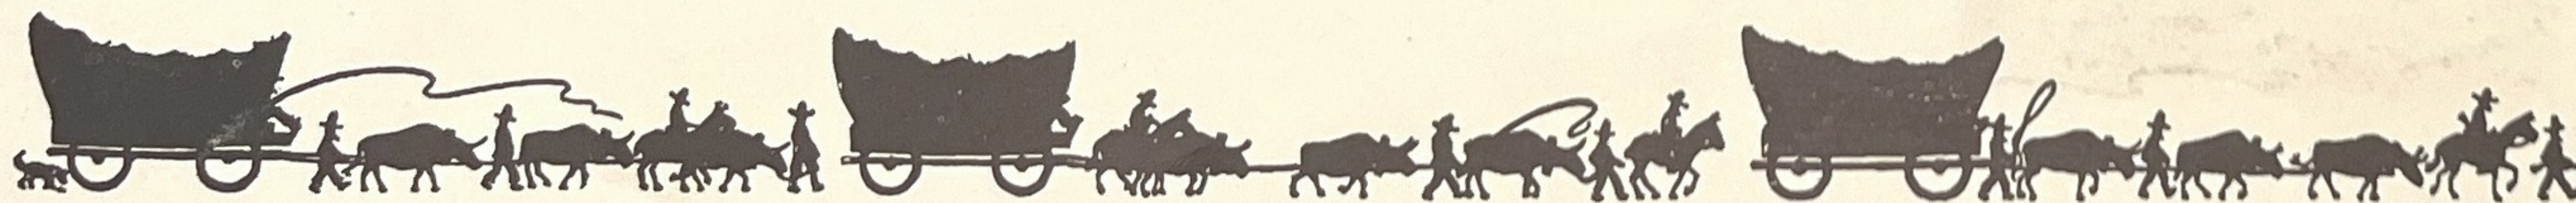

Charlie Beard is a strong reminder of the days of Daniel Boone, Kit Carson, and Roland Dulin, when a man walked twenty miles over an ice-bound mountain pass to buy a yeast cake. Every school day of the year (excepting private holidays) he comes here all the way from Rockville! He is still with us, due to an aversion to dropping 4B Math.

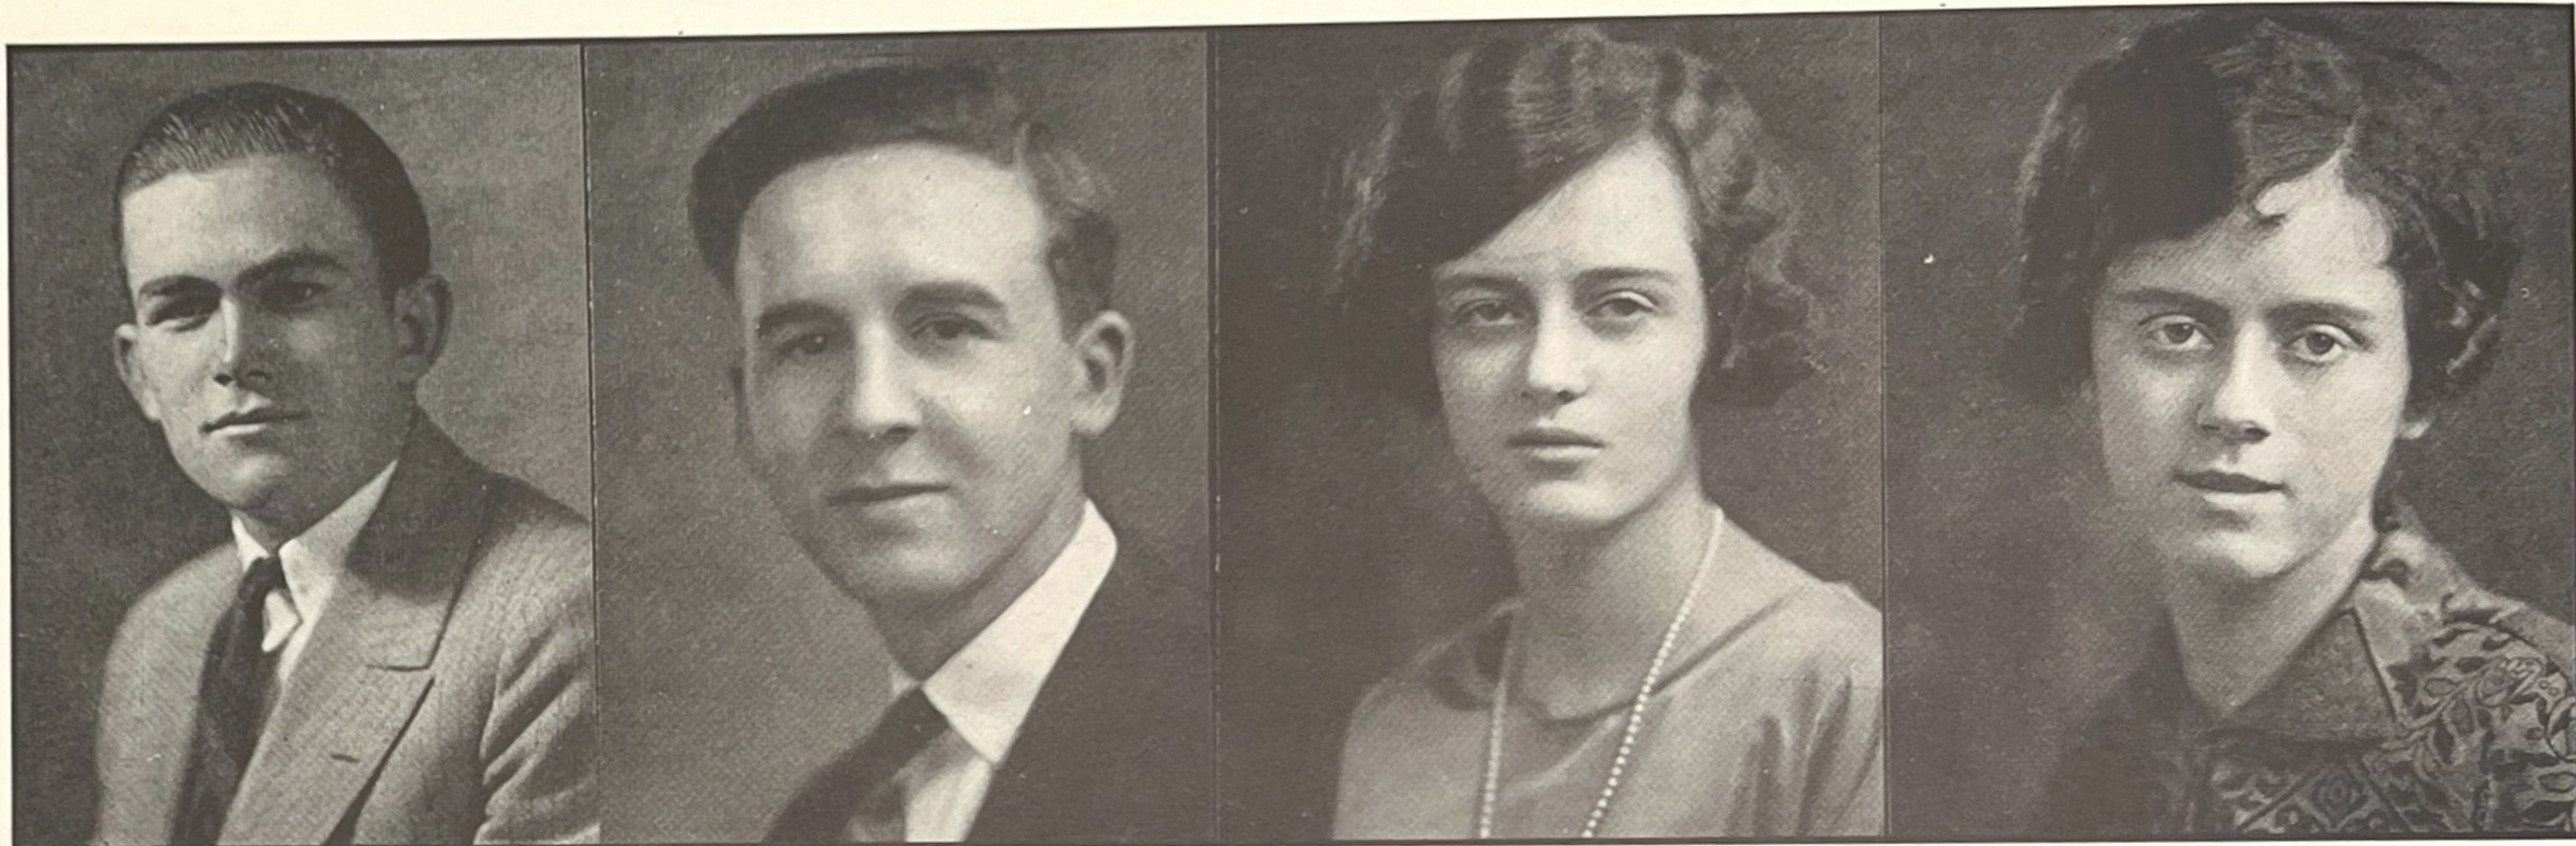

Pity the poor public! When people come into the bank which we feel sure Anstice will soon head, they will take one look at her smile and forget whether they came to make a deposit, pay a note, or obtain a loan. Attractiveness is an asset, and Anstice is so bountifully supplied with it that a casual visitor cannot stand its potency.

Her hobbies are dogs, books, swimming, chickens, and gentlemen farmers. To the world in general, she appears demure and shy, but those who know her best will assure you that she is full of fun and mischief, and as for being shy—wrong again!

"Pardon me!" That is the password Gich uses with which to get by with murder. Should he cut you off in the middle of a well-turned sentence, that's all right—just so he says those two little words. However, his is the only excuse that excuses an excuse.

STAFFORD HAWKEN

WILSON HOOFF

MYRTA JOHNSON

VIRGINIA LAKE

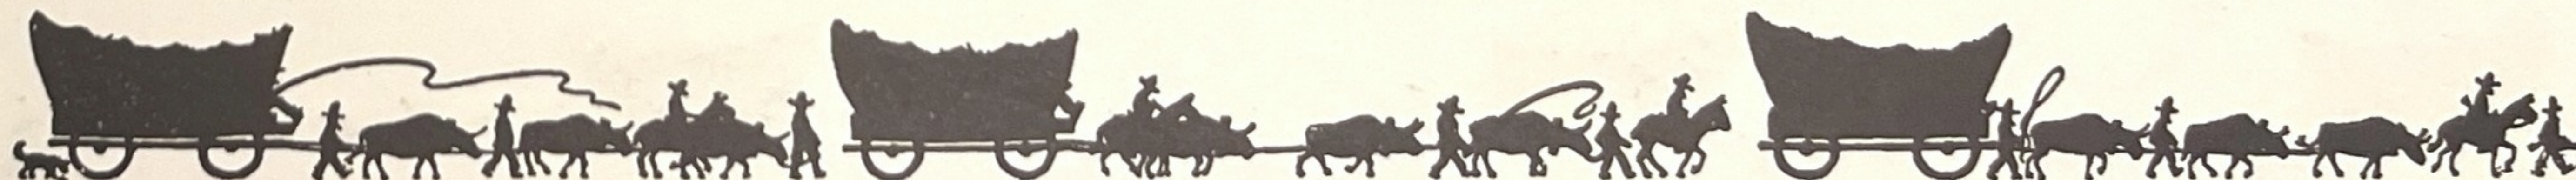

Hockey '21, '23; Glee Club '22, '23, '24; "Hop Along" '22.

Stafford is a brother of Ashley Hawken, of football fame. His zeal and skill were on a par with his brother's when it came to football, but the copiosity of avoirdupois necessary to make a superlative player was denied him, preventing him from obtaining a "W." His very undesirable absence has been staved off for a few months by post-graduate work.

Wilson is best known for his omnipresent smile and goodfellowship and his hair; unique to say the least. He was one of the crack privates of Company L of '22, and also the following year. Throughout his school career he has been driven to the point of insanity in the vain attempt to have his name spelled correctly by other people than himself.

Myrta believes in letting the rest of the world do the talking. She alone remains calm and unruffled, while the rest of us go on our noisy way. And although she would never tell us her plans for the future, we have a hunch that whatever she does will be done well.

It has been a standing custom for generations to call attention to the tresses of a person possessing auburn hair (not that this shade is inferior to others, but on the contrary to be highly prized). For this reason we will not mention Virginia's. Her greatest specialty has been art work, in which, it is needless to say, she is very successful.

EDMUND PIGEON

SYLVIA SHAW

RUTH STARRETT

ELIZABETH STEARNS

Cadets '22, '23, '24; Spanish Club '23; Track '23; Swimming '23.

Ed. Pigeon's hefty bulk has always been a view to raze out the written troubles of the brain, for the upper extremity of his figure is ever indicative of happiness and a cheerful spirit. His work in the cadets has been faithful and persevering as has been his leg work in track. The icing on the cake is his school record—one of the fruitiest.

Sylvia is one of those story-book girls—golden hair, blue eyes, peaches-and-cream complexion. In every other respect she has it all over the fictitious heroine; that is to say, she is not insipid or so universally perfect as to be odious. At present she is learning to pound the keys at Strayer Business College.

The clash of steel! A daring feint! A thrust and the point is grounded. Fencing is not Ruth's only accomplishment, for she is also very proficient with the rifle. In spite of her marked proclivity for outdoor sports, she excels in her studies and intends to attend Normal School. Can you imagine Ruth a teacher? Neither can we!

"Isn't she a sight" is not what we say of Elizabeth, but what she often says of us. Translated from the ancient Virginianese, it means "How funny!" We would like her dry humor more were we able to understand this dead language more thoroughly. Even as it is, some of her wit seeps through and sends us into gales of merriment.

June Seniors

History of the Class of 1925

In the fall of 1921, the Western curtain rose on a group of brilliant green Freshies, launching upon a high-school career. As this verdant hue changed into red and white, the Class of 1925 became an integral part of Western High School.

A review of our four years shows both expansion and progress (modesty forbids us to claim credit therefor). We found two companies in the Cadet Corps when we entered, and we leave a Western battalion of four companies. We responded in such numbers to the call for Cadets in 1921, a new company was formed, designated "K" (in 1924 a fourth company, "M," was added), and the new Western battalion took the Craigie Cup in the Competitive on May 22. In June, our companies took first and third places in the annual competition. We also won the baseball championship, and held Central to a scoreless tie in football.

Sophomore year, we missed the basketball championship by two points and took second place in the annual Competitive in June. The athletic prowess of our girls, now a well-known fact, first became known at Western in 1923, when the Sophomores carried off the inter-class baseball championship.

We were Juniors before we had quite recovered from Sophomosis. The new building was to be a reality on the back lot, and in the spring work began, with all its accompanying noise. Under Major Burton the Third Battalion went over to the Wilson Stadium and won the Craigie Cup again. A few weeks later we placed second in the contest at Griffith Stadium.

The formal organization of the Class of 1925 came with the election of officers in the fall of 1924. Chester Ward was chosen president, Mary Hoge vice-president, Louise DuBose secretary, and Wilfred Hearn treasurer. We tied Tech for the football championship; we had a close call for the championship in basketball, but lost to Central in the final game; one of our members, Sam Levering, won the oratorical contest at Western. In the realm of Cadets, under Major Davis, the Third Battalion won the Craigie Cup permanently on May 6. The senior girls won the hockey championship and tied for the inter-class cup.

Building operations reduced the size of the Assembly Hall and there could be no assemblies of the entire school, few plays of the Dramatic Association, and no Spring Play. Cadet dances and the mid-year Prom were held outside. When the position of president of the class became vacant in March, Mary Hoge succeeded to the office, and under her able leadership commencement plans were made. Alice Graham was chosen poet, Lilian Rixey and Anne Gleaves prophets, Robinson Glazebrook giftatorian, and Tyler Page historian.

On June 17, at Memorial Continental Hall, about one hundred and fifty graduates will receive diplomas and leave Western to the mercy of the younger generation. We leave with a deep sense of gratitude for the privileges that have been ours; with great loyalty for our school; and with a desire that the opening of the new building next fall may mark a new era of progress in the history of Western High School.

WALDO ABBE

Cadets '21, '22; Glee Club '22; Football '24.

When we caught our first glimpse of Waldo, back in the dark ages of rookthood, he was a bashful, curly-haired little boy, with a great big pile of books. Since then he has altered considerably, especially in regard to size, but he is still just as well liked and as fine a fellow as one could wish to find.

FENDALL ALEXANDER

Golf '23; Tennis '24; Track '23; Basketball '23, '24 ("W"); Student Committee '24; "Breeze" Staff '24; "W" Club '24.

Fendall is a member of that sagacious throng whose rare judgment brought them to Western from other schools. Immediately upon his arrival here he became athletically active, and has remained so ever since. He moves in a crowd of happy-go-lucky fellows who take life as it comes. One of the many advantages of having him as a friend is that he can be easily recognized from a distance—by his hair.

DICE ARMSTRONG

Maybe Dice isn't known to all Westerners, but that only makes those who do know him more jealous of his friendship. He is always the creator of an excellent report, yet we never see him studying. He is a genius at oratory, and this quality, with his potential head-piece and constructive ability, will make him a good senator.

DAVID AULD

Cadets '22, '23, '24, '25 (Captain); Rifle Team '23, '24 ("W"), '25 (Manager); Spanish Club '23, '24 (Treasurer); Officers Club '25 (President); Student Committee '25 (Chairman); "Westerner" Staff '25.

Dave Auld is one of the best known, best liked, best looking, best equipped mentally, and best everything else individuals in this best of all possible classes. He has consumed untold calories of energy in his (we certainly hope successful) attempt to put over a winning company.

MABEL BEST

SALLIE FAISON BEST

SUE BIRNIE

CELIA BOLEY

Glee Club '25; "Patricia" '25.

Mabel has for some time been recognized as the champion chewing-gum snapper of the school. She has also been recognized as one of the best and finest when it comes to firm and faithful friendship. She is often seen in the act of heightening the lustre of the city's snappiest dance halls in a manner most pleasing to the eye.

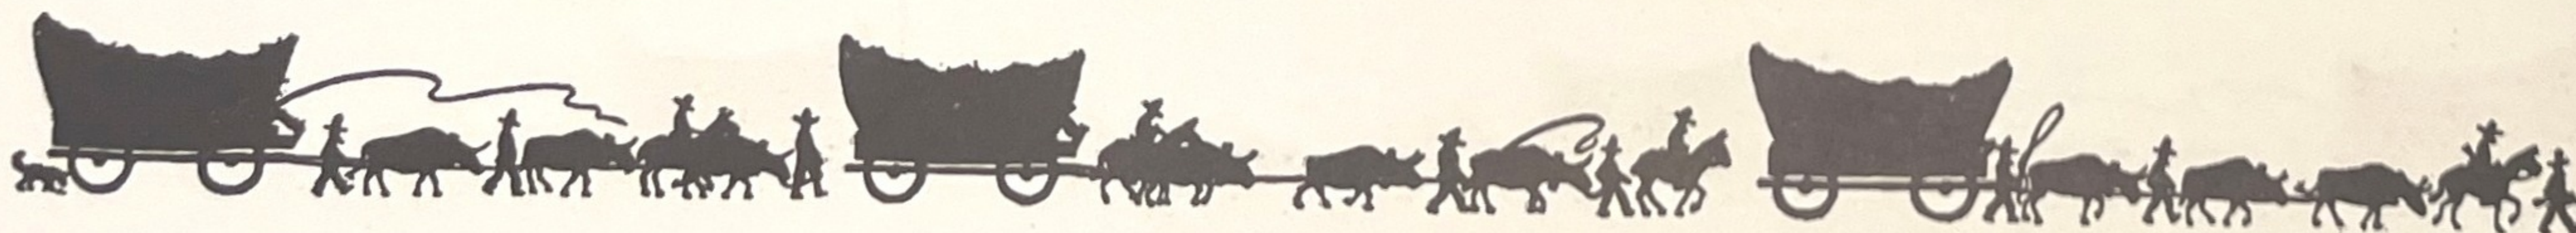

Our "Blue-eyed Sallie" comes from North Carolina (which is reported to be sunny). She has been with us for a year, in which short time she has made a long list of friends, ♂ and ♀. She is just naturally brilliant; one would have to be to make her grades and engage in so many outside activities as well.

Debating Society '24 (Secretary), '25 (President); Dramatic Association '24, '25; Student Committee '23, '24, '25 (Secretary); Basketball, '22, '23, '24; Hockey '23 (Captain, "W"), '24, '25; "W" Club '23, '24 (Secretary), '25; Editor, "Breeze" '25; "Western" Staff '25; Honor Roll '22, '23, '24, '25.

Poor Sue! She's one of those unfortunate mortals afflicted with high marks. But somehow everyone forgives her and likes her anyway—if you don't believe us just gaze at her list of clubs, offices, etc. "A re-markable girl."

Honor Roll '22, '23, '24, '25; Pianists' Club '24, '25.

Our quiet little Celia is one of the students of whom Western is very proud. She has appeared on the honor roll regularly, being one of our most studious girls. We often wonder whether she will teach Latin, French, or Music, but we are not worried over the prospect of her success; it is assured.

ELIZABETH BOOTH

Basketball '23 (H. M.), '24 ("W"), '25 ("W"); Hockey '23 ("W"), '25; Baseball '23 (numerals); "W" Club '23, '24, '25; Mins-trel Show '24; Dramatics '25; "Breeze" Staff '25.

In the first place, don't call her "Bessie"; she doesn't like it. But outside of that she's quite amiable, unless you happen to oppose her on the basketball floor; then you'll realize why Betsy won a "W." That's how she does it. Yea, Booth!

MARGARET BOUVE

Glee Club '25; French Club '25; Basketball '25.

"Bouvie" has only been here in our midst two years, having distributed the previous years of her existence in various other favored spots. She came to us from the Philippines. Except for a slight idiosyncrasy about haircuts, our young globetrotter is quite sane and sensible.

BAINBRIDGE BOYLE

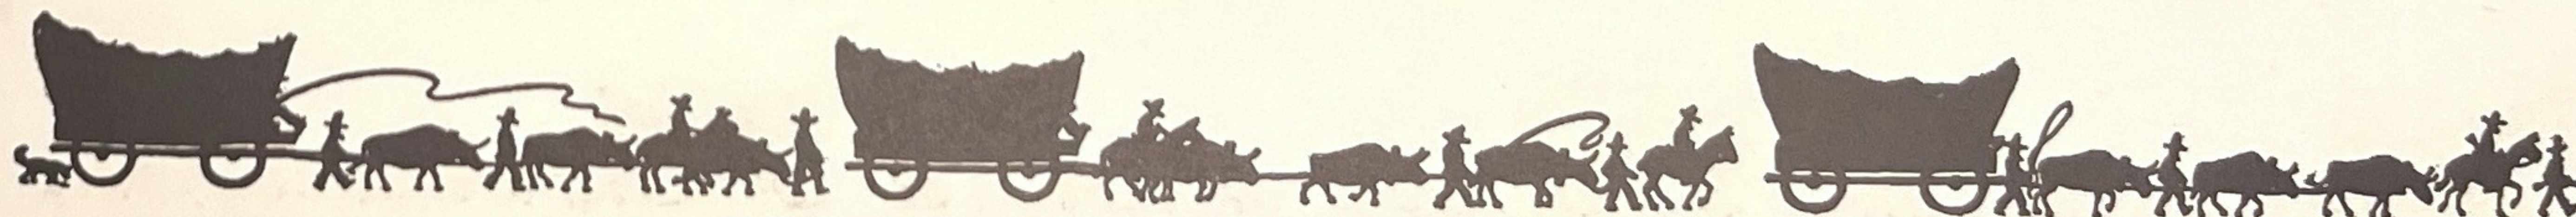

Tennis '25.

"Once a Westerner, always a Westerner" is certainly true in the case of Bainbridge. She left Western in her Freshman year, emigrating to Louisville, Kentucky, where she attended school. She came back this year the proud possessor of the highest scholastic honors at Cedar Grove Academy. Anyhow, we are glad she came back in time to graduate with us.

JAMES BRADLEY

Football '22, '25 (Manager) ("W"); Baseball '22 (Manager); "W" Club '25; French Club '25 (Vice-President); Dramatic Association '23; Honor Roll '22, '23, '24, '25.

As a general rule, the perfect scholar is conspicuous for the absence of all other desirable characteristics, but in the last of the Bradleys we have a decided exception to this rule. Jimmy has been very active in class work, athletics, dramatics, and violation of the department regulations. Everyone likes Jimmy except those who are jealous of him.

MARY BRADLEY

Basketball '21 (Captain "H. M."); Baseball '21; "Breeze" Staff '25.

Mary is that rare type of girl who is always laughing and in good spirits on all occasions. In fact, she has the "smile that won't come off." She seems to spend all her spare time trying to keep out of the society column, but we feel sure she will succumb sooner or later.

VIRGINIA BRANT

Rifle Team '23, '24; Tennis '24, '25; Hockey '24, '25; Dramatic Association '24, '25 (Secretary); Art Club '23; Fencing '24; "Western Breeze" Staff '25.

There is nothing Virginia can not do, and do well, from editing a society column, playing hockey, arguing in class meetings, riding, swimming and making frequent visits to Annapolis and West Point. Needless to say, those black eyes of hers have wrought considerable damage about here, too.

KATHARINE BRIGGS

Debating Society '25; Fencing Club '24; French Club '25; Honor Roll.

Here we have another of these three-and-a-half-year wonders, who manage to preserve their sense of humor anyway. Kay seems to like Staunton, catching the bus, making fudge, going to Annapolis and taking American History, Economics and Civics (draw your own conclusions!) almost as well as we like Kay.

ANITA BROWN

Glee Club '22; Dramatic Association '23, '24, '25; "Breeze" Staff '25; Rifle Team '23, '24, '25.

Anita is perhaps best known to seniors as a super-expert typist, always ready to help out a fellow Breeze member in the time of stress. She has often been heard exhorting the officers of the various societies to make their cohorts pull off something, so that the "Organization" column might be fed. Her short stories are the sort created by the inspiration of genius alone.

KATHERINE BROWN

Katherine is an "Army girl"; therefore Katherine was bound to come to Washington at some time or other, and equally destined to arrive at Western. All very nice—but the flaw in her destiny and ours is that Fate—and the War Department—kept her away from us until our last year at Western, a cruelty for which we'll never forgive them.

SARAH BROWN

Basketball '22; Glee Club '22, '24, '25; Art Club '23, '24, '25 (Vice-President).

Would our four years have been complete without Sarah? She adds to any occasion, for she is always different. Sometimes we have seen her shy and wistful, next without a single care—except to find Harriet. Then a zealous student, and once—serious. But she's always a Sarah we love.

CORNELIA BUSICK

Hockey '24, '25; Tennis '23; Glee Club '23, '24, '25 (Vice President); "Trial by Jury" '24; "Patricia" '25; Dramatic Association '25; "Western Breeze" Staff '25; Honor Roll '23, '25; Debating Society '25; Rifle '23.

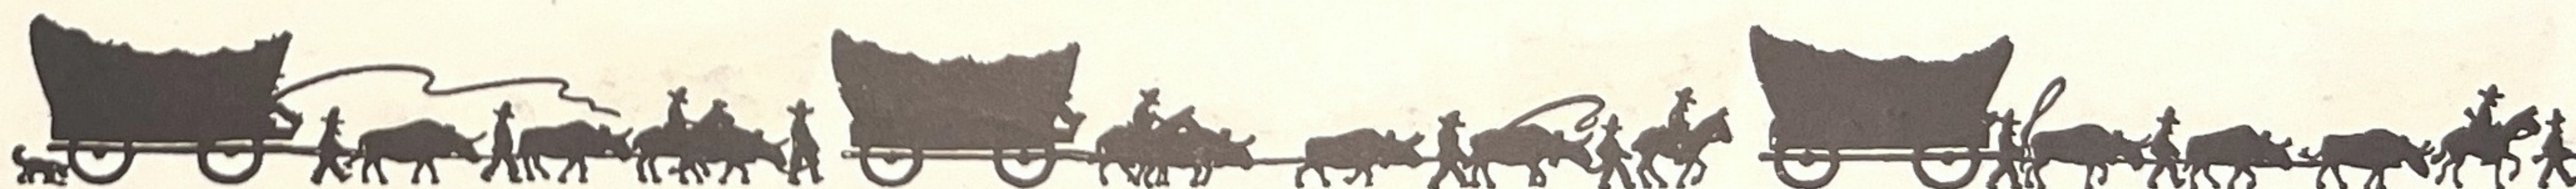

Smiles, smiles, and more smiles! That's Cornelia. We don't know why she is so happy, but we do know why she should be. Anyone with such an outrageous number of "E"s trailing her ought to smile. And who can find anything from hockey to singing in operettas in which she is not willing to lend a helping hand?

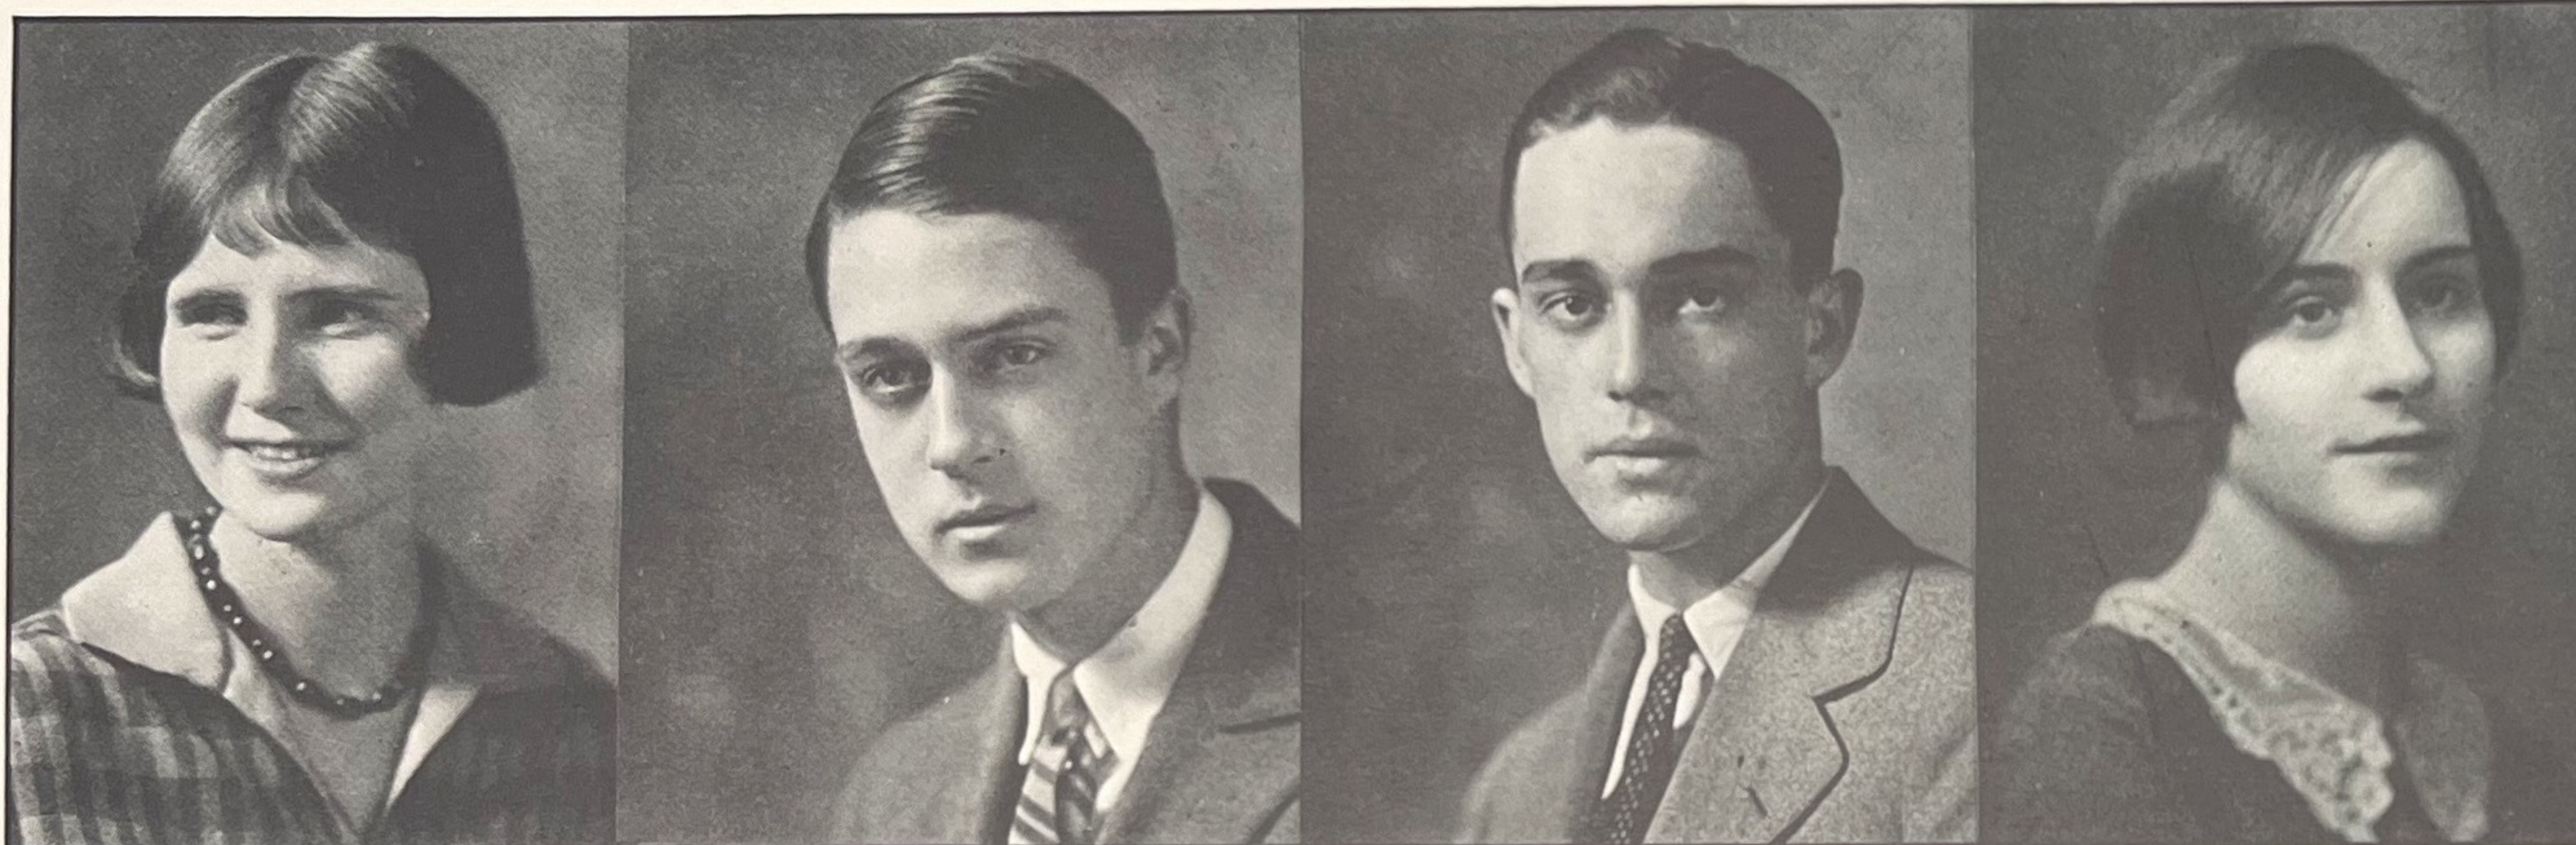

CONSTANCE CANDEE

Honor Roll '22, '23; Baseball '23 (Numerals); Tennis '23; Rifle Team '24 ("W"), '25 (Captain); Hockey '24; "W" Club '24, '25; "Westerner" Staff '25; Glee Club '25; Minstrel Show '25; Student Committee '25.

Constance has the rare characteristic of combined brains, athletic prowess, popularity, and leadership. She possesses a charming grace, quiet dignity, and perfect courtesy that have made her the admiration of her many friends. Also she is a good sport and an excellent mixer.

CATHERINE CARMICHAEL

Basketball, '22, '23, '24 (H. M.), '25 ("W"); Baseball '23 (numerals); Track '24; Glee Club '25; Spanish Club '25; Minstrel Show '25; "W" Club '25; Hockey '25.

Catherine is one of those hardy individuals qui se Vergilio crederunt. As can be easily ascertained by a brief squint at the above, she has indulged in Athletics extensively and well, while in the interior type of activity her record is irreproachable. She is a good example of the class of scholar whose industry, zeal, and spirit have made the Western world famous.

EDWARD CARMICK

When the head of the house of Carmick first settled in Washington, his primary consideration as to the location of his domicile was that it be near Western, so that his issue might obtain the best possible education with the greatest ease. Eddie has shown by his work in Math that he is well equipped mentally with all modern improvements.

LOUIS CARMICK

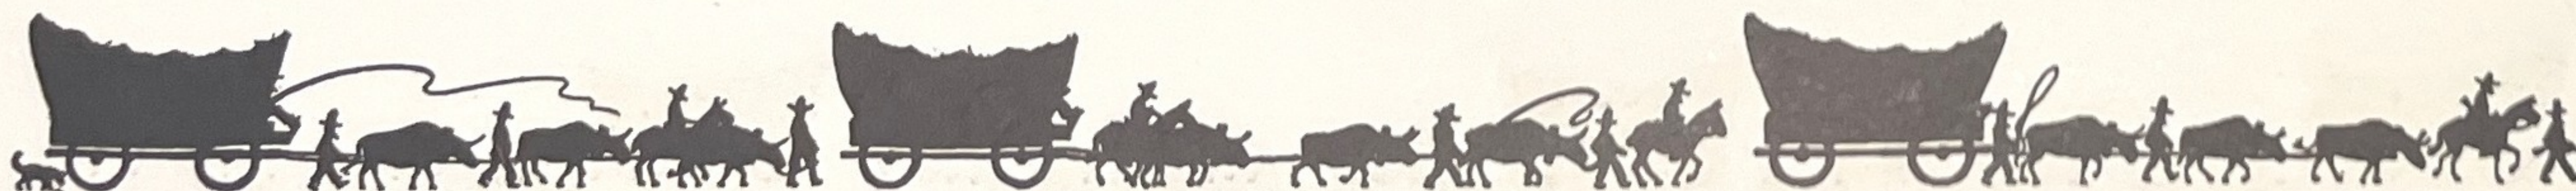

Lightweight Football '22, '23 ("LWW"); Track '22, '23; Dramatic Association '23, '24; Debating Society '23, '24; Glee Club '23, '24; "Mikado" '22; "Trial By Jury" '23; "Queen's Enemies" '25.

Louis entered a half year earlier than the gross bulk of the class, but is graduating with them, a fact due to his missing several months of school last year, and by no means due to intellectual inferiority on his part; he goes to the pinnacle of the opposite extreme. He is one of the reasons why L. Company won the drill in '22.

KATHRYN CASEY

Basketball '24, '25; Hockey '24, '25; Track '24; "W" Club '24, '25; French Club '25; Minstrel Show '25; Glee Club '24, '25; Dramatics '25.

"Casey" is one of these sophisticated "Noo Yawkahs." You should see her dodge taxis. This practice has made her quite agile and as a result she has become a shining light on the basketball floor. Also she has won everlasting renown for being the discoverer of that famous feline, "Asthma."

WILLIAM CHAPMAN

Cadets '23, '24, '25 (2nd Lieutenant); Radio Club '23, '24; Rifle Team '25; Officers Club '25.

Bill Chapman's greatest claim to fame, besides his school spirit, is his valiant work in the Cadets. By dint of long and unstinted labor he has risen to the coveted position of second loot. His work in mechanical drawing is beyond all the eloquence of Burke or Patrick Henry to describe.

MARY CHESNEY

It was Montclair's loss and our gain when fate brought Mary to Western three years ago. She has been a popular member of the class ever since her arrival, for her quiet charm has made her the friend of all. To put it in a nutshell, she's a peach.

JANE CHILTON

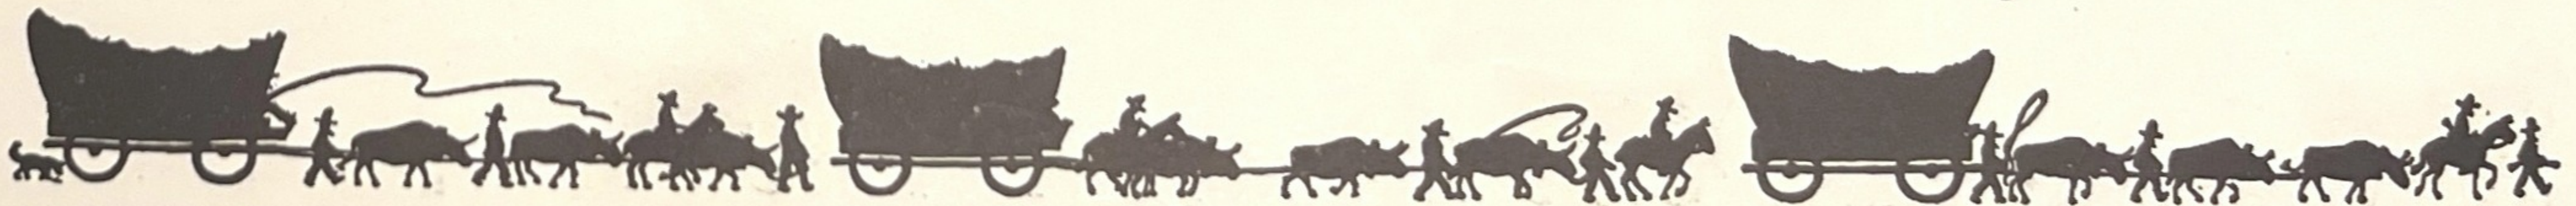

German Club '24, '25.

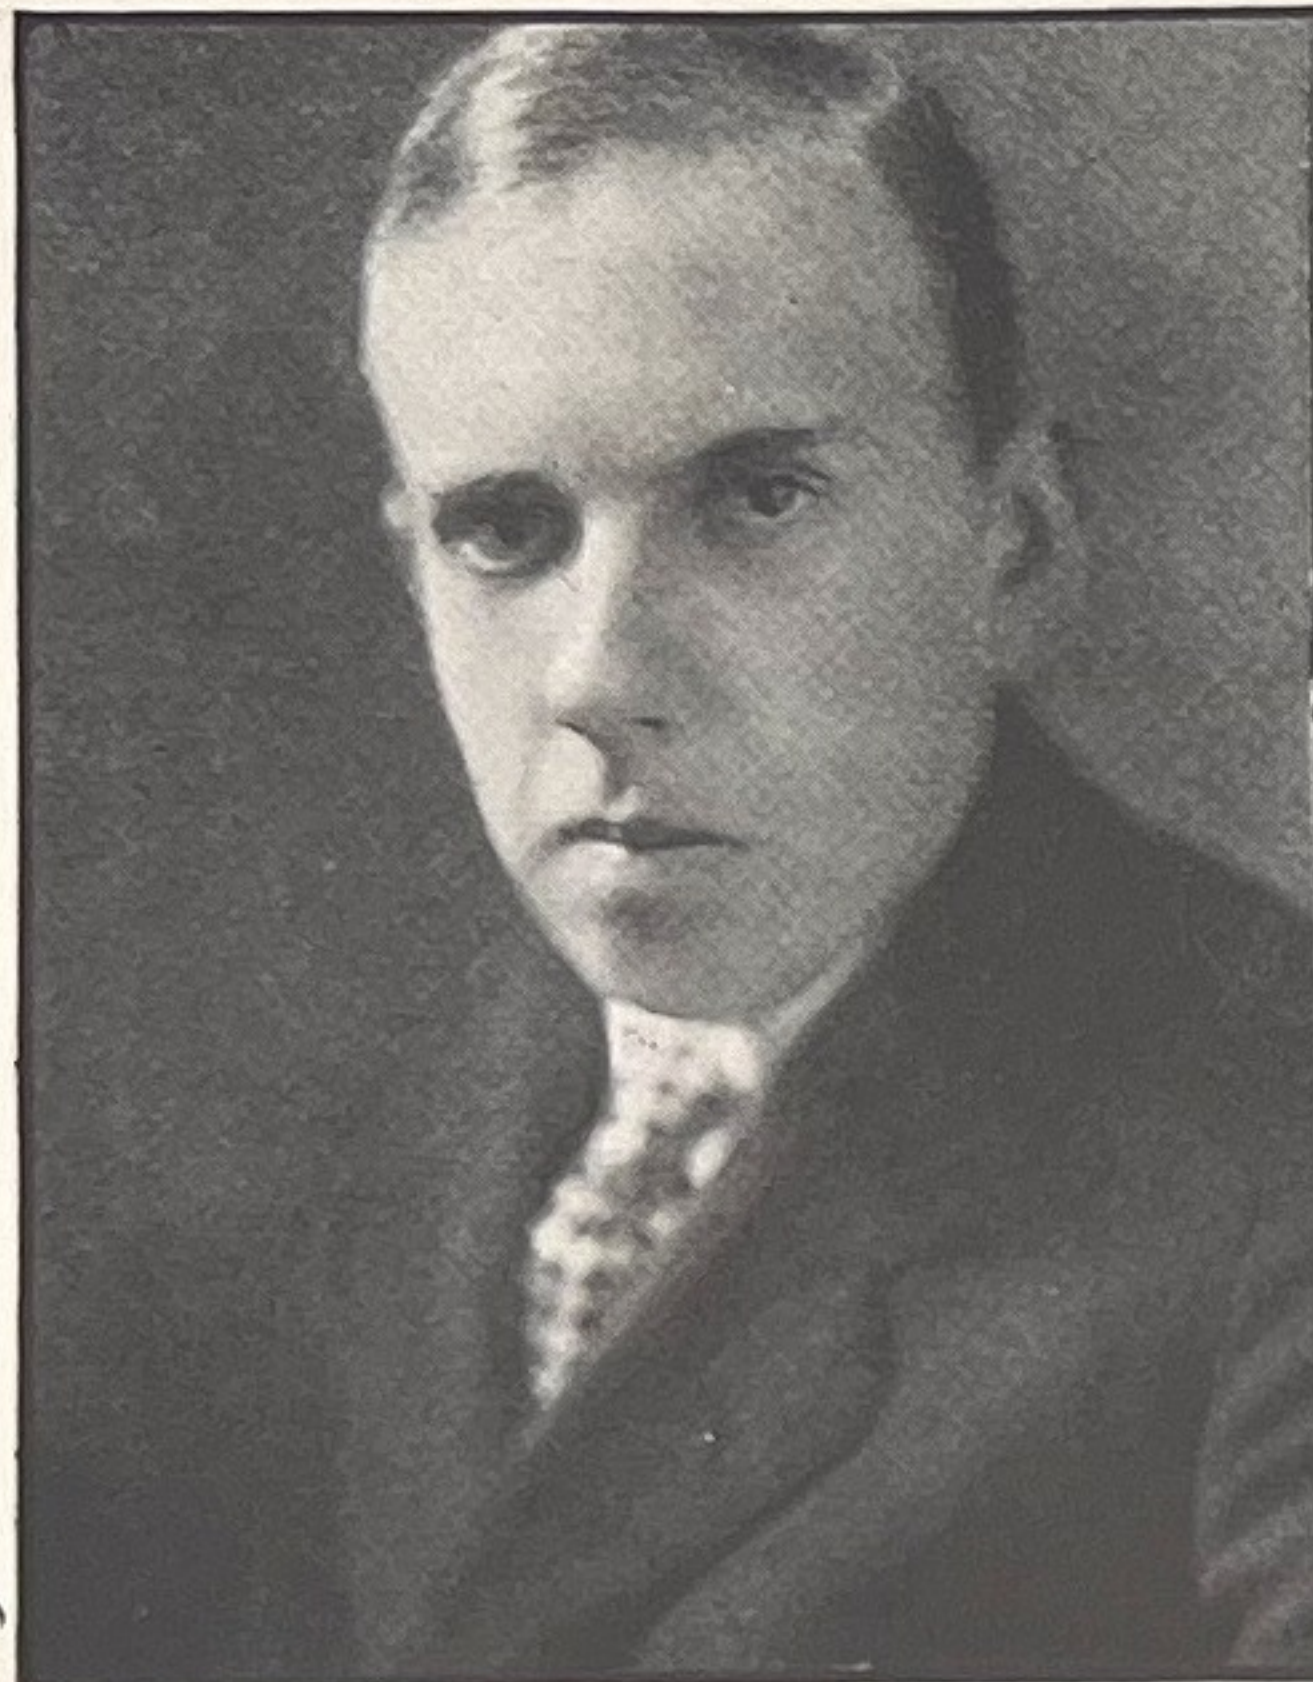

Jane used to go to school 'way down in Virginny, but hearing Western praised so highly she decided to find out for herself. She has been here only two years, but has formed many lasting friendships, as those who know her can testify.

DUNCAN CLARK

Freshman Baseball '22; Honor Roll '22; Dramatic Association '24; Cheer Leader '24; Math Club '25 (Sergeant-at-Arms); Student Committee '25; Debating Society '22, '23, '24, '25 (Secretary); Cadets '22, '23, '24, '25 (Captain, Co. K); War Games '23, '24, '25; Officers Club '25.

"Madam Chairman, honorable judges, most worthy opponents, and fellow debaters"—we present for your approbation and delectation the above photograph. When Duncan Clark, Western's diminutive war god, wins undying military and forensic glory, that picture will be worth remembering.

KENT CLARK

Cadets '24, '25 (Sergeant Battalion Staff); Debating Society '24, '25; Dramatic Association '25.

Kent, during his two-year sojourn at Western, has become as well known and as well liked as many a four-year individual. An eagerness for work, an extraordinary good nature, and an abundance of the old Western spirit have made him one of the kind that this school feels proud to have evolved.

VERNA DARR

Art Club '24, '25 (Secretary, Treasurer); Spanish Club '24-'25.

Verna, the girl with the smile. She left Central in '22 and came to Western, where she has won many friends. We know Verna is a good Spanish student, but most of her interest is shown in the Art Club, where she has been both secretary and treasurer.

LOUISE DAVIDSON

Track '24; Glee Club '24; Pianists' Club '24.

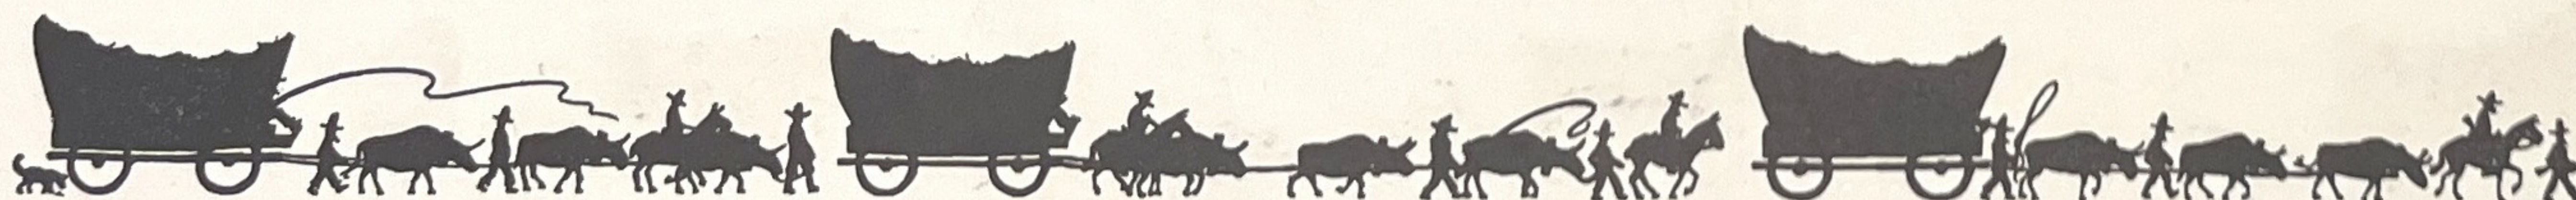

Throughout the time she has been at Western, Louise has passed and maintained every requirement of an all-round good sport. She is always ready to help others and to do her own part as well. She's just the kind of girl we like to call a friend, for she is ever steadfast and dependable.

PEARCE DAVIS

Cadets '23, '24, '25 (Major); Glee Club '24, '25; Honor Roll '24, '25; "Trial by Jury," '24; "Hop Along Revue" '23; Radio Club '23, '24; Student Committee '24, '25; Officers Club '25; "Westerner" Staff '25.

Pearce might well be termed a marvel. Not because he has gone through Western in three and one-half years. Not because, with only three years' experience in the Cadets, he has attained the rank of Major. Not because of his popularity in and out of school. But because, in addition to all this, he has proved himself a real Westerner.

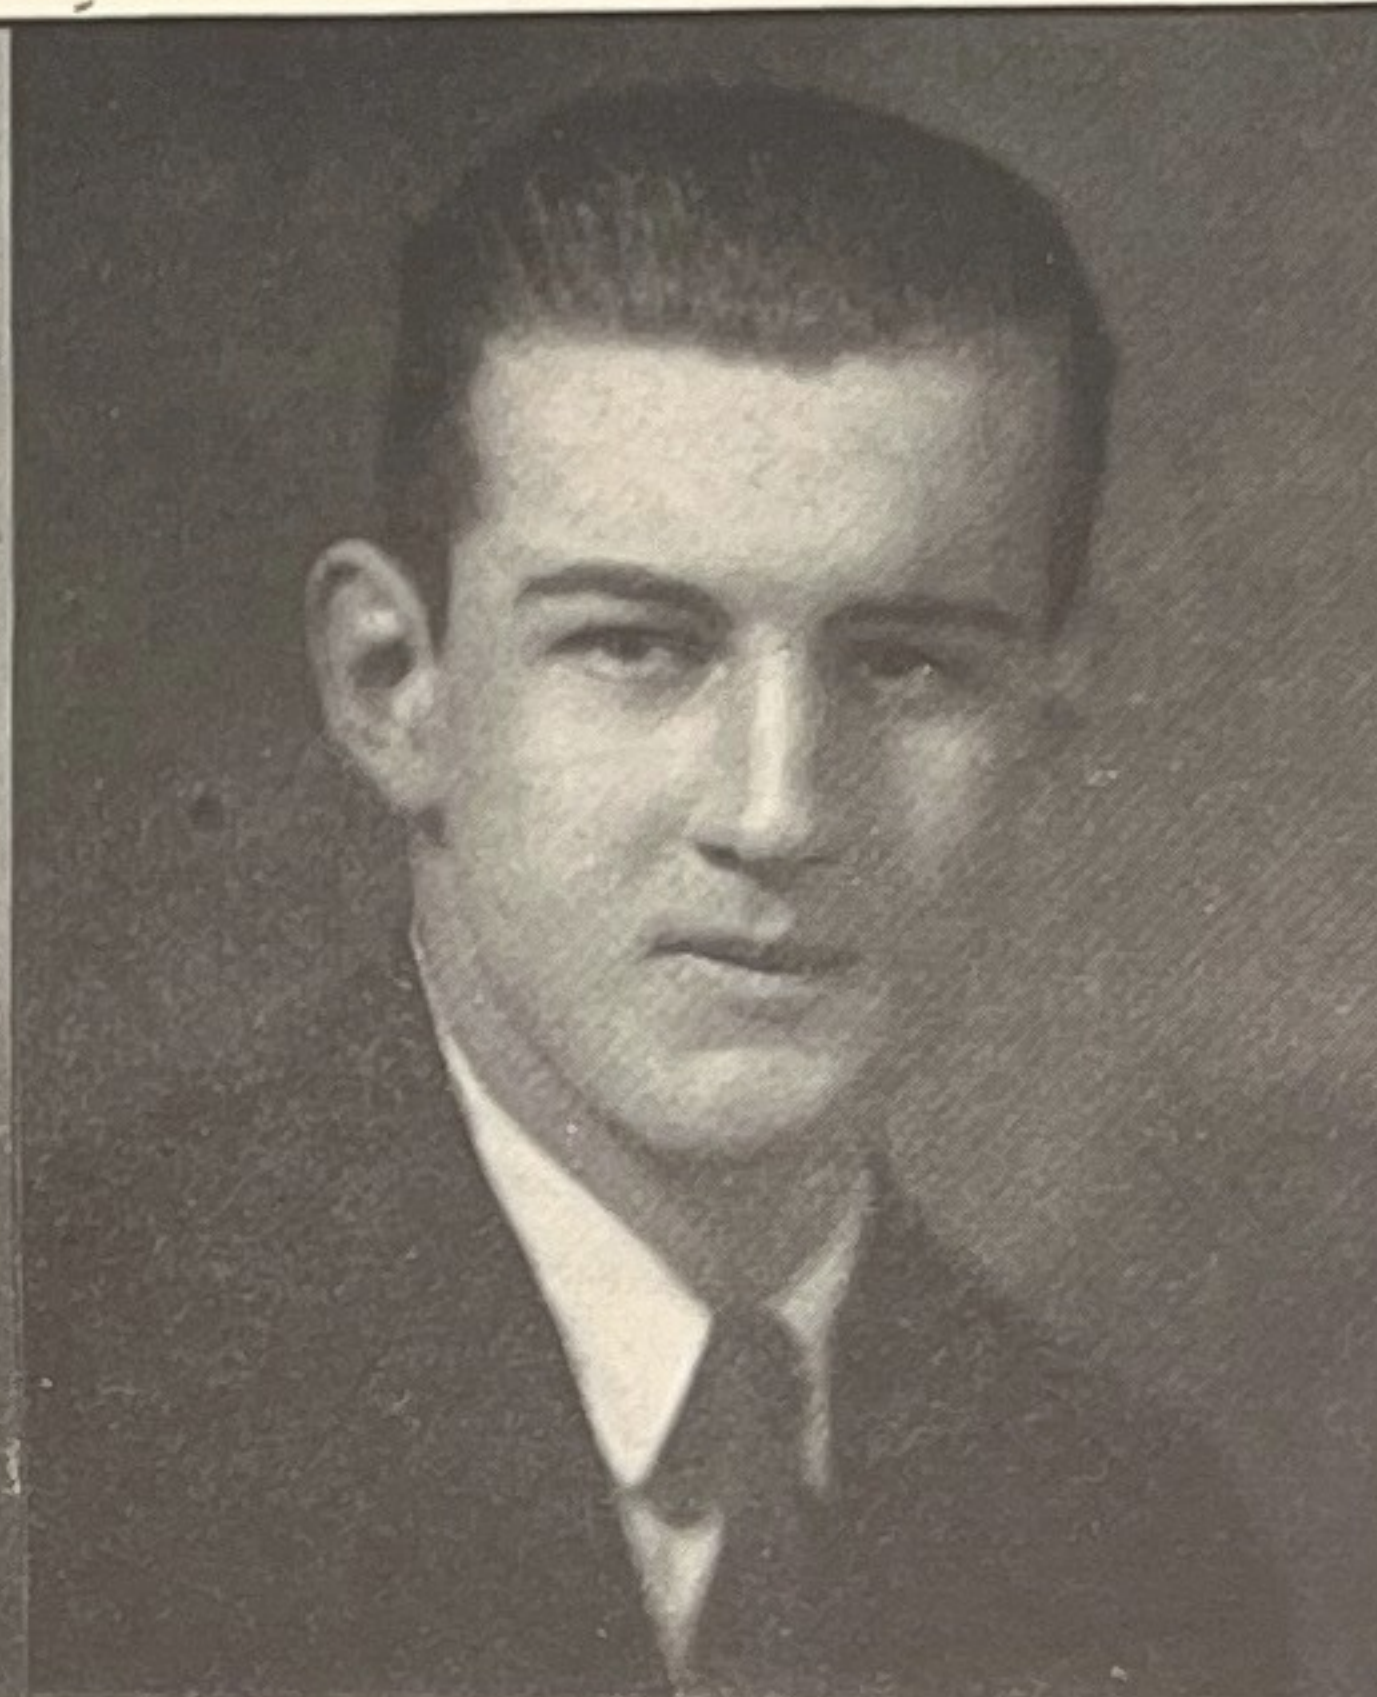

LOUISE DU BOSE

Hockey '23, '24 ("W"), '25 (Captain); Baseball '23; "W" Club '23, '24, '25 (Sergeant-at-Arms); Tennis '23, '24; French Club '24 (Secretary); Dramatic Association '24, '25; Student Committee '24, '25; "Westerner" Staff '25; Secretary of Class '25; Minstrel Show '25; Honor Roll '22, '23, '24, '25.

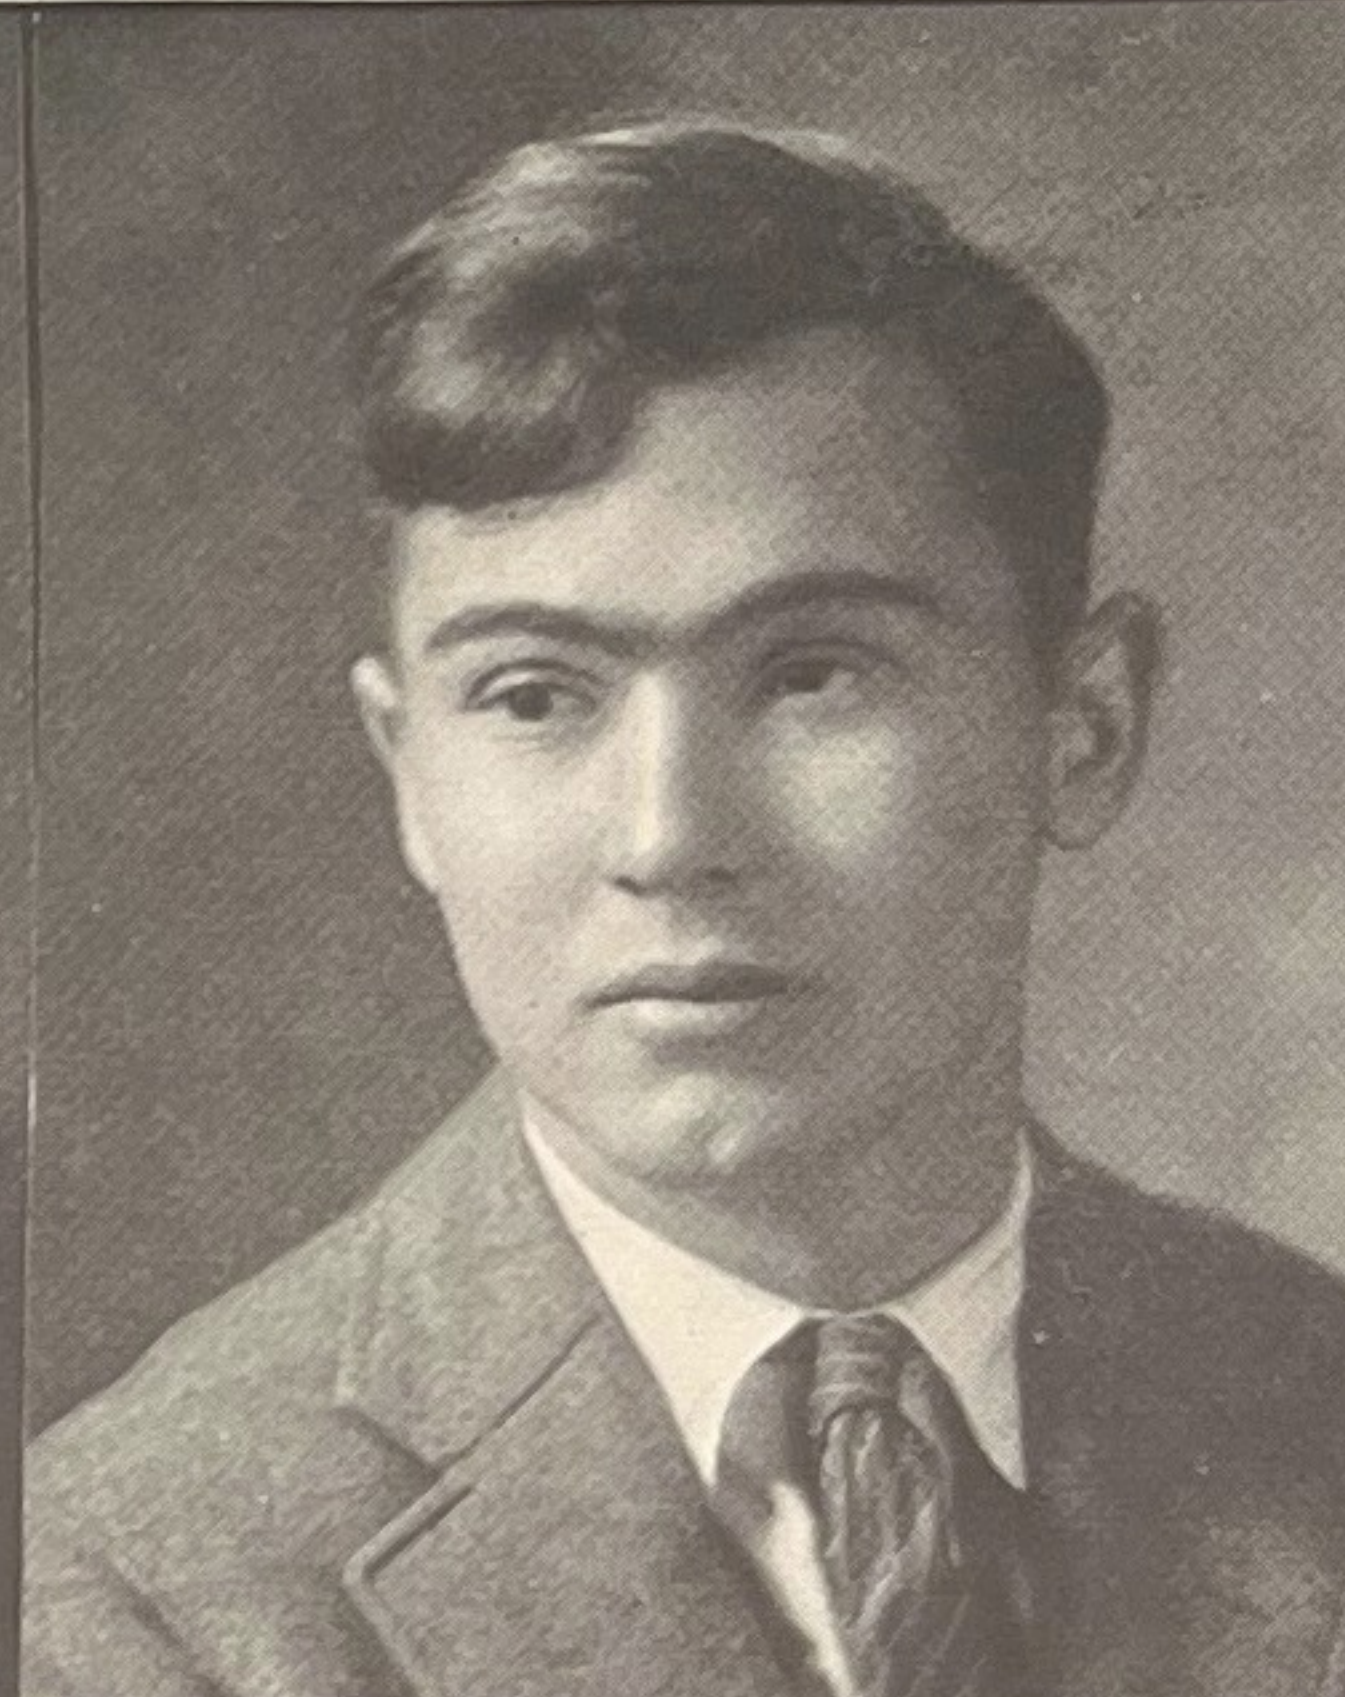

First let us say that the space is far too limited to do justice to Louise. She is a brilliant student, a wonderful athlete, prominent in school organizations, pretty and popular. All who know her love her—everybody knows her.

ROLAND DULIN

Baseball '22 ("W"), '23 ("W"), '24 ("W"), '25; Basketball '22 ("W"), '23 ("W"), '24 ("W") (Captain); Football '22 ("W"), '23 ("W"), '24 ("W"), '25 ("W"); Track '22, '23; "W" Club '22, '23, '24, '25; Minstrel Show '24.

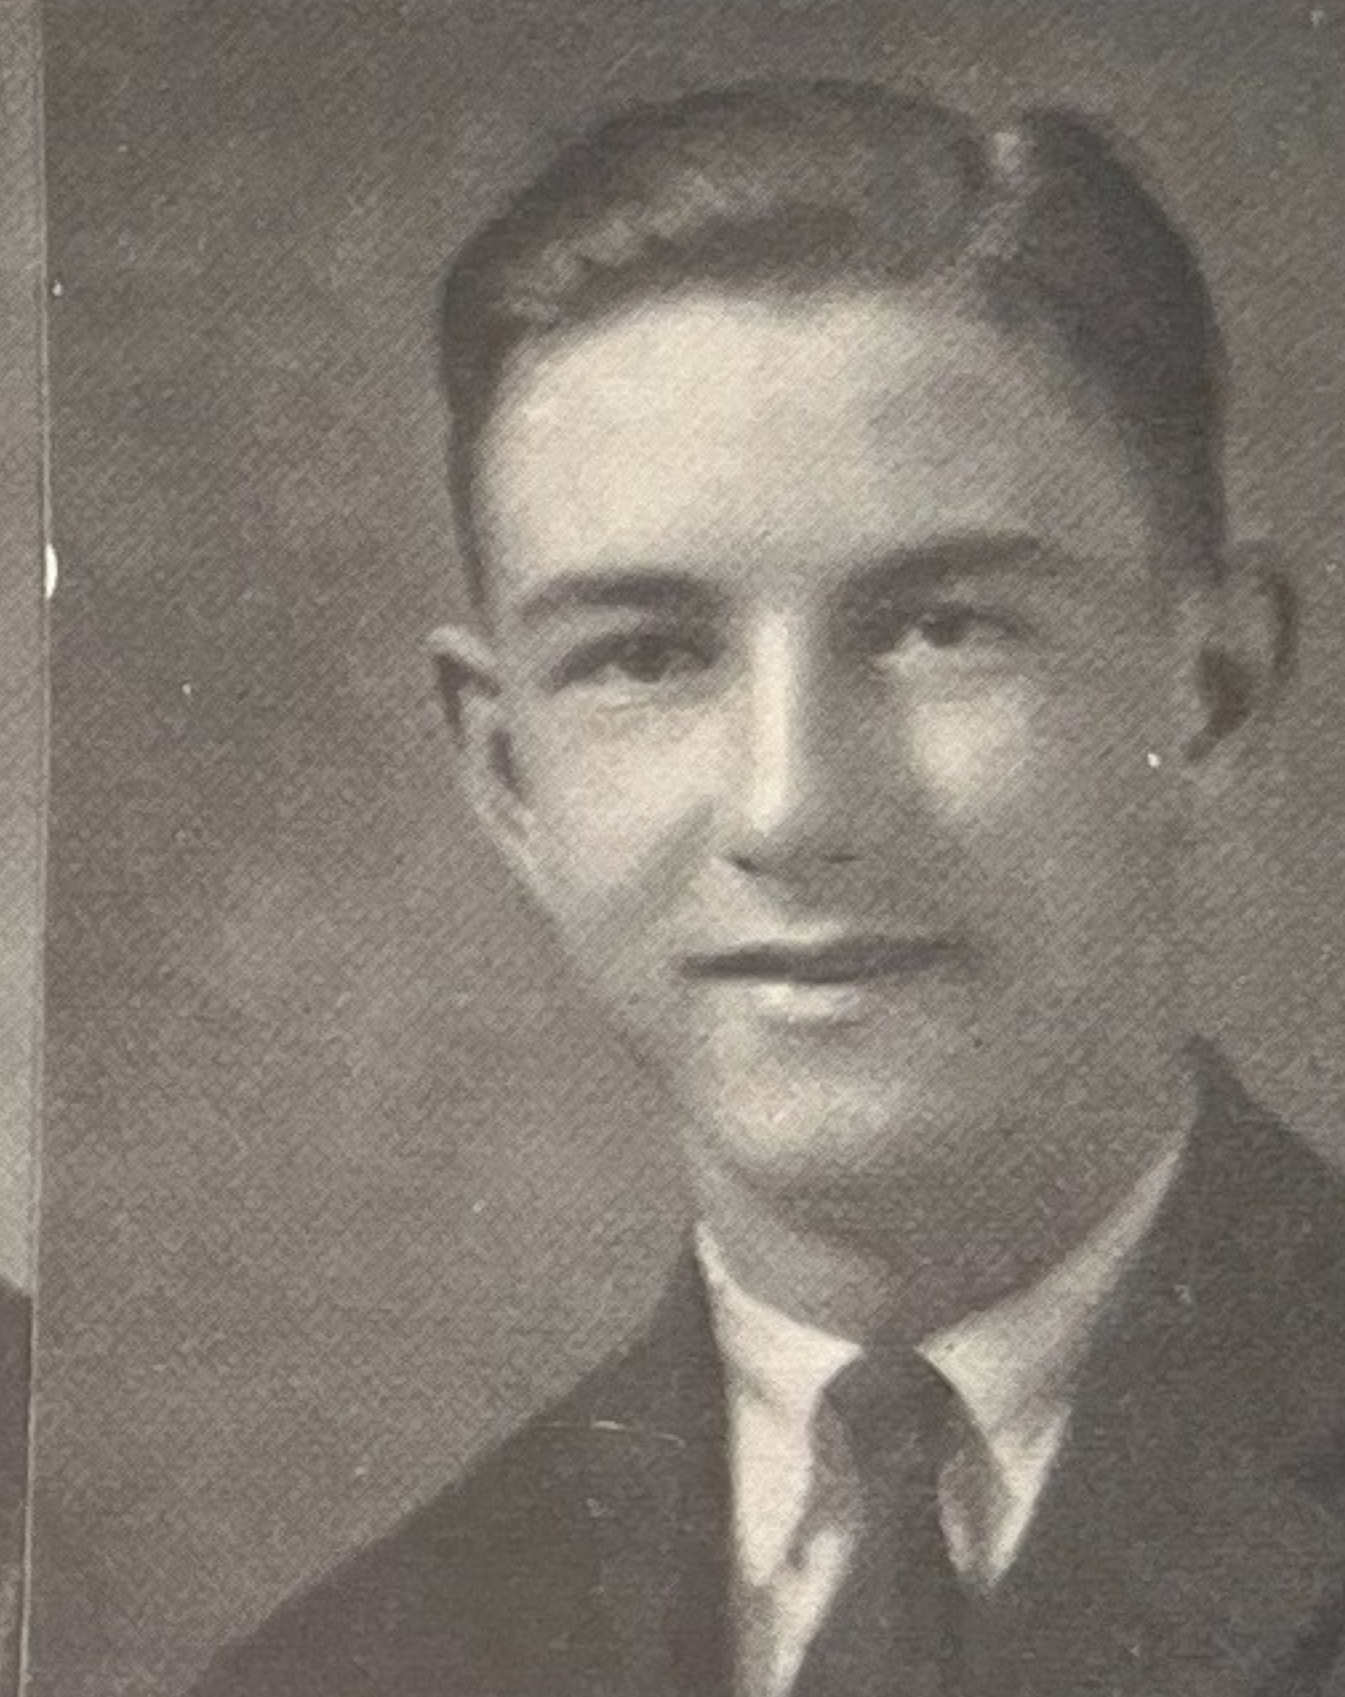

Roland is Western's own athlete. Ever since he left the grammar schools with the sole purpose in life of becoming a member of the Western student body, he has shined, nay, become incandescent, in sports, thus bringing great honors to the school.

BENNETT DURAND

German Club '23, '24, '25 (Secretary); Art Club '23, '24.

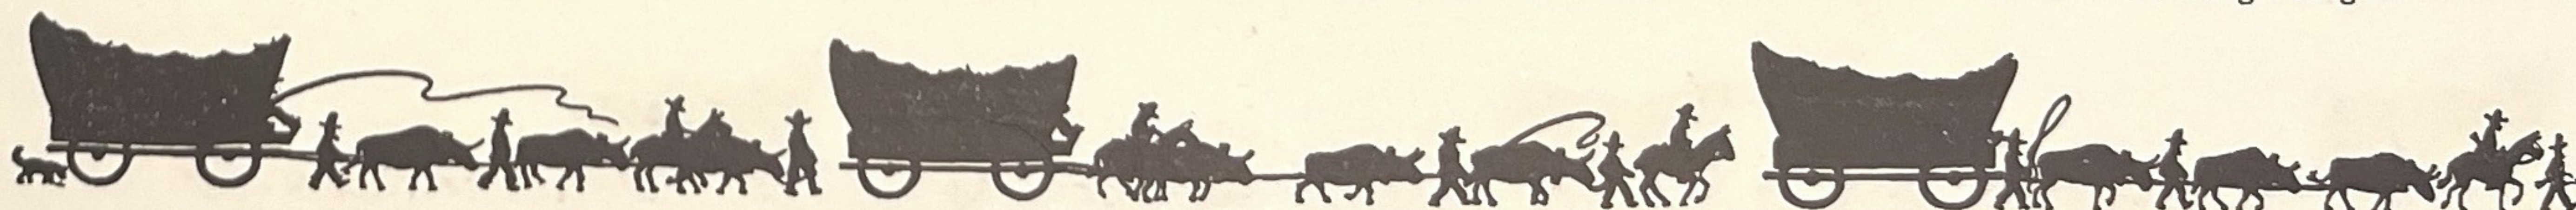

Bennett is one of those few unfortunates who daily wend their way from the far distant metropolis of Cleveland Park. He is quite an artist, having many of his drawings in the Breeze and in his books. Bennett will be remembered for his cheerful smile and bag full of books, which he carries everywhere.

BENJAMIN DYER

German Club '25 (Vice-President); Radio Club '22, '23, '24 (Secretary); Cadets '22, '23; Lightweight Football '24; Basketball '25.

Ben Dyer is one of our star lightweight men. During his senior year he has distinguished himself in sports. And when Ben reaches his promised growth and weight, we can expect a redoubtable athlete. His humor has only one side, and that is cheerful. For all his slaps on the gridiron, or among his many lady friends, he does nothing but grin.

CHARLES EARLE

BARBARA EDWARDS

VERNA EVANS

ELLEN FEATHERSTONE

Cadets '22, '23, '24; Radio Club '23.

Basketball '22, '23, '24; Dramatics '25; Art Club '25.

Math Club '25; Pianist Club '23; Honor Roll '22.

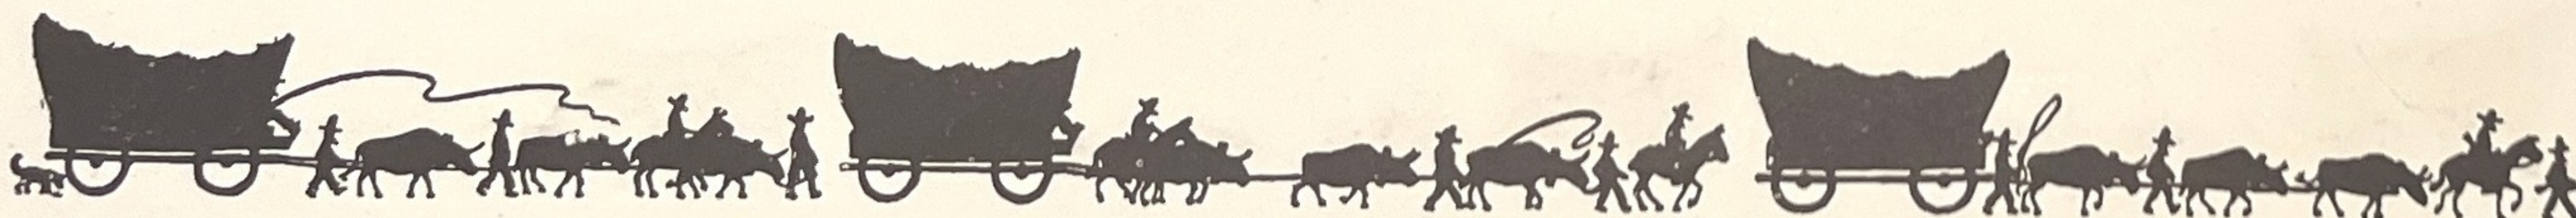

Glee Club '25; Spanish Club '25; Hockey '25; Tennis '25; "Patricia" '25.

Charles, our ardent bicyclist, and now member of the select order of "Lizzie Owners," has made 'em sit up and take notice since he entered our school. Even more distinguishing than his Ford is his flaming hair. "Reds" has supported Western in many ways since he has been with us.

Barbara has been one of the bright spots of Western ever since we can remember. Her smile is one of the permanent fixtures of the school, while her ever-present wit is unparalleled. Although she finds time to patronize the Washington dances, she often deserts them in favor of Annapolis hops.

Verna started at Western with a monument of books. As the years slipped by, this pile of books has diminished very little, for she is very studious. Her name has appeared on the Honor Roll a number of times. The Pianist Club has been often entertained by her delightful playing.

Ellen is one of those unfortunates who have been here only one year, but with her beautiful soprano voice as advertiser, she has become well known. We all know that at one time she wanted more than anything else in the world to become a farmer's wife, but since then she has changed her mind.

ALLEE FLANAGAN

Baseball '22; Basketball '22; Hockey '22, '23, '24; Dramatics '24, '25; Fencing '25; Glee Club '25; Honor Roll '25; "Western Breeze" Staff '25.

We take our hat off to anyone who can carry seven subjects and make the honor roll. Such a prodigy is Allee. Besides all this, she always manages to devote a great part of her time to dramatics, and to wielding a typewriter in 101.

EVELYN FLETCHER

French Club '25.

Most any morning about 8:20 one can see a large Studebaker dashing down Wisconsin Avenue, stopping here and there to pick up some unfortunate tardy one. Such an act betokens charitableness and nobility of soul. While somewhat nomadic in her habits, we have seen enough of her to know she is vivacious and charming.

FRANCES FORT

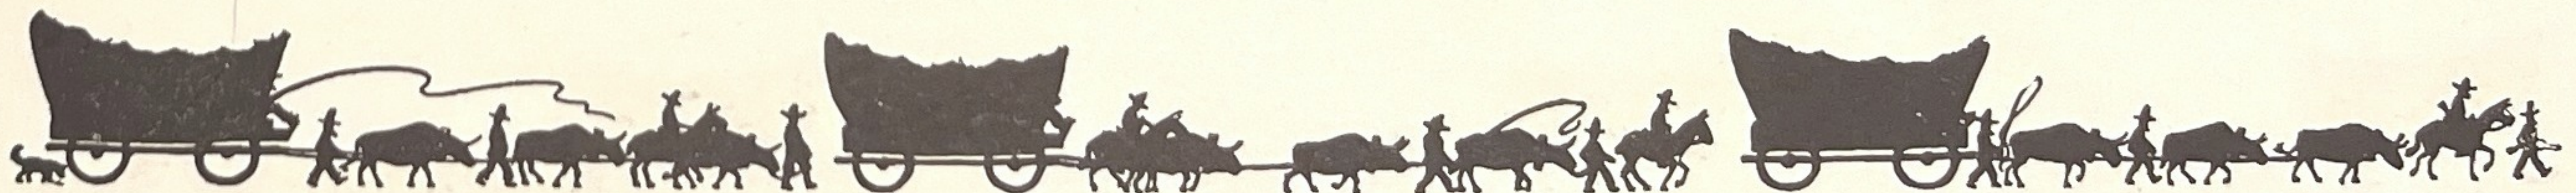

Hockey '23, '24, '25 (Manager) ("W"); Tennis '24, '25; Dramatic Association '24, '25; Debating Society '24, '25; French Club '25; "W" Club '25.

Girls' hockey will receive a severe shock with the exodus of Frances. Her management was a success in every respect. She deserves honorable mention, not only as an athlete, but also as a hard worker and admirable personage generally. Her work in the French Club was one of those things which cause criminals to reform.

BARRETT FUCHS

Glee Club '24, '25; "Patricia" '25; German Club '25.

Barrett is one of those slow-plodding fellows who always manage to get there and get there with ease (Es). He has gone into the foreign-language side of the school course and made German his specialty. He also is a fine actor and distinguished himself in "Patricia."

RAYMOND GARBER

Football '23 ("W"), '24 ("W"); Basketball '22 ("W"), '23 ("W") (Captain), '24 ("W"); Baseball '25 (Manager); Track '23 ("W"), '24 ("W"), '25; Rifle '24 ("W"); "W" Club '23, '24 (President), '25; "Hop Along" '24.

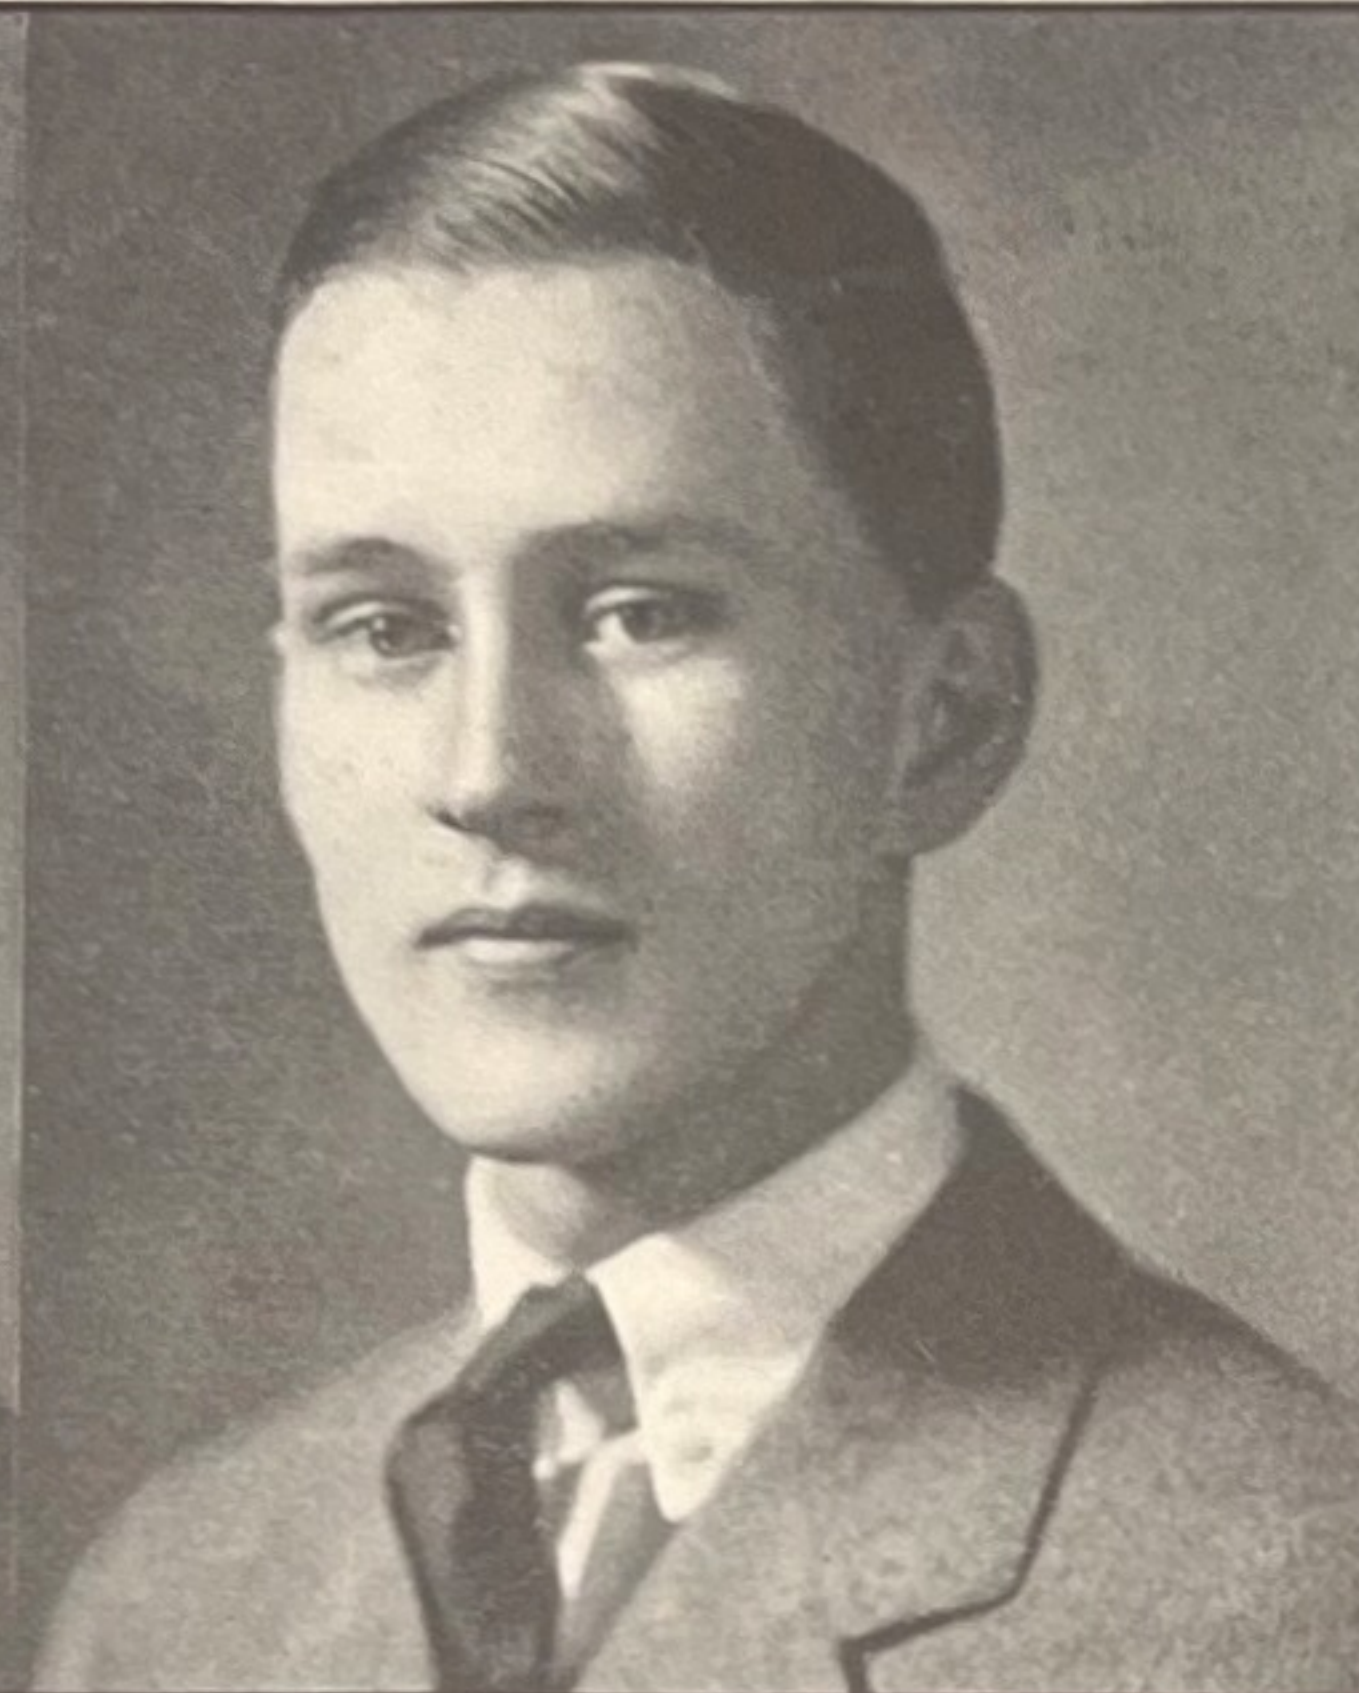

Ray came up to Western several years ago and liked it so much that he has paid us quite a visit. He has made his mark in athletics and by being a peach of a good fellow. Next year he plans to help uphold Western standards at Swarthmore.

PHILIPPA GERRY

French Club '24, '25; Spanish Club '24, '25; Dramatics '24, '25; Glee Club '24, '25; Art Club '24, '25; Fencing '24, '25; Honor Roll '24.

"Pip," with her original coiffure and well known energy (?), is not only an exceptional artist but can say "nothing" in almost any language except Hindoo, which she will take up next. Although George Washington University and the Corcoran Art School will claim her after June, we have had her for four years, and would like to keep her four more.

ROBINSON GLAZEBROOK

Freshman Football '21; Lightweight Basketball '22, '23; Basketball '24, '25; Business Staff, "Breeze" '25; Business Staff, "Westerner" '25; Math Club '25; Tennis '25; Class Giftorian '25.

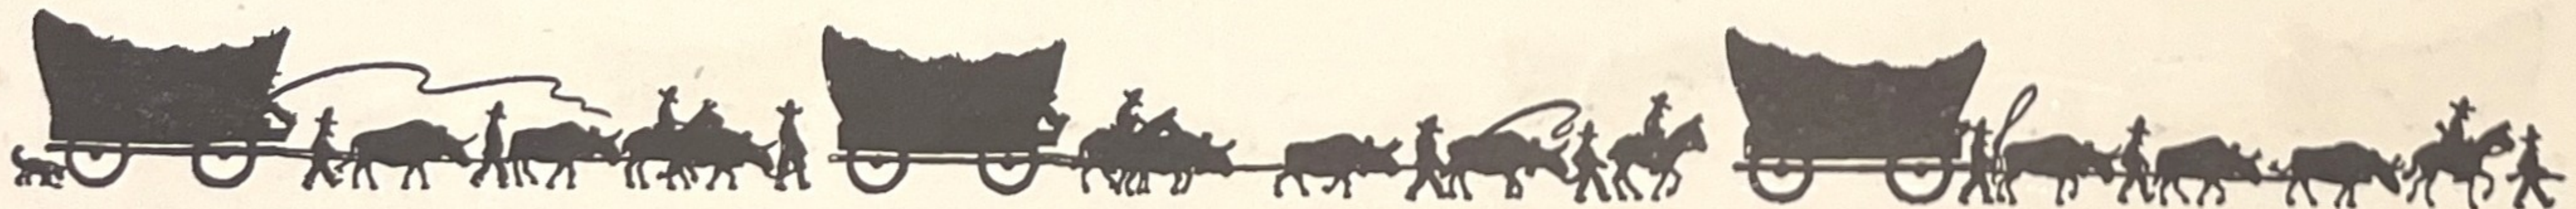

Step aside, you Romeos! Here is the young man with blond hair everyone has seen dashing around the building on important business. Besides being a second Bill Tilden, Robby can make a piano talk like a baby. We all know that he will be missed when he abdicates in favor of Cornell next September.

ANNE GLEAVES

Hockey '23, '25; Glee Club '25; Dramatic Association '25; Minstrel Show '25; "Westerner" Staff '25.

She's the owner of Olaf,
She's the prop of the Art Staff,
She could make a wampus laugh,
Or any man.
Her eyes are big and brown and wide,
Her line can keep 'em satisfied,
She's loveliness personified,
She's—just Anne.

ELIZABETH GORMAN

Basketball '21 '22; Baseball '22; Glee Club '25; Dramatic Association '25; "Patricia" '25; Minstrel Show '25.

This is the famous clog artist who has made the boards of Western's stage creak and groan on many a distinguished occasion. There are few revues or operettas that have not been enlivened by "Liz's" clever dancing and peppery personality. And, oh yes!—she has another prominent talent—the "gift of gab."

ALICE GRAHAM

Art Club '23, '24 (Secretary), '25 (Vice-President); Baseball '22, '23 ("W"); Basketball, '22, '23 (Captain), '24, '25; "Western Breeze" Staff '25; Debating Society '24, '25 (Secretary-Treasurer); Dramatic Association '24, '25; French Club '25; Hockey '23, '24 ("W"); Student Committee '25; Tennis '22, '23; "W" Club '23, '24, '25 (Treasurer); Editor "Westerner" '25; Honor Roll '23, '24, '25.

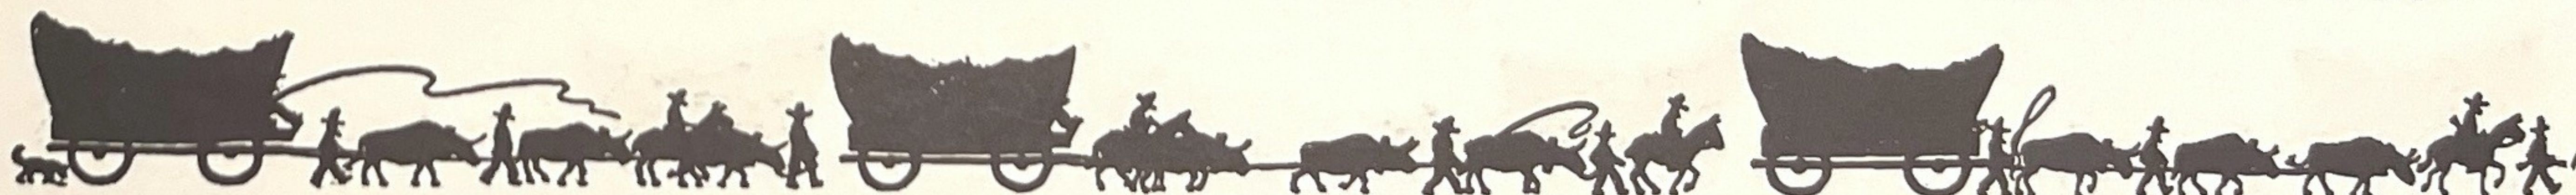

Here be it said that Miss Graham wants her dear Public to know that she stands for bigger and better year-books, peppermints, poetry columns, and—er—Sophs (Ouch!).

DOROTHY GRAY

Dotty first sprang into fame in '22 when, in the midst of a hectic inning, a Rookie with long black curls suddenly exclaimed, "Oh, I see, now! He has to beat the ball to the little white square!" The best commentary on Dot's charm and popularity is the fact that she lived that down, and we apologize for resurrecting her dark past.

EDITH GRAY

This migrant from watery Wisconsin has proven (unintentionally) to the satisfaction of all that she is a wholesome combination of high ambitions and common sense. She is attractive and dainty, with enough indifference thrown in to add spice.

HOWARD HACKLEY

ELIZABETH HALL

THEODORE HALL, Jr.

ROBERT HANNA

Cadets '24, '25; Honor Roll '24, '25; German Club '24, '25; Math Club '25; Debating Society '25.

Glee Club '25; French Club '25.

French Club '25, Mandolin Club '25, "Westerner" Staff '25; Glee Club '25.

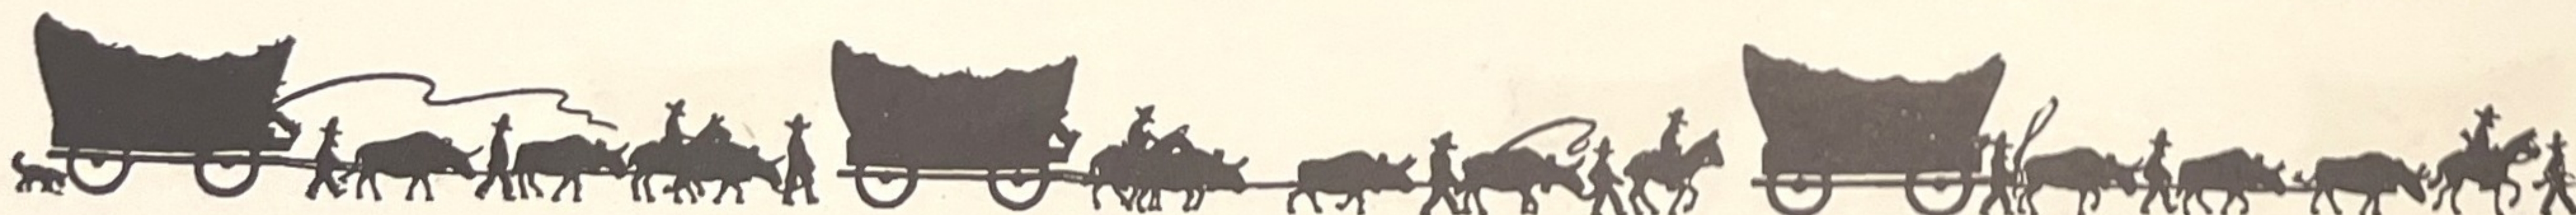

Cadets '21; Football '21, '22; Golf '23, '24; Swimming '24.

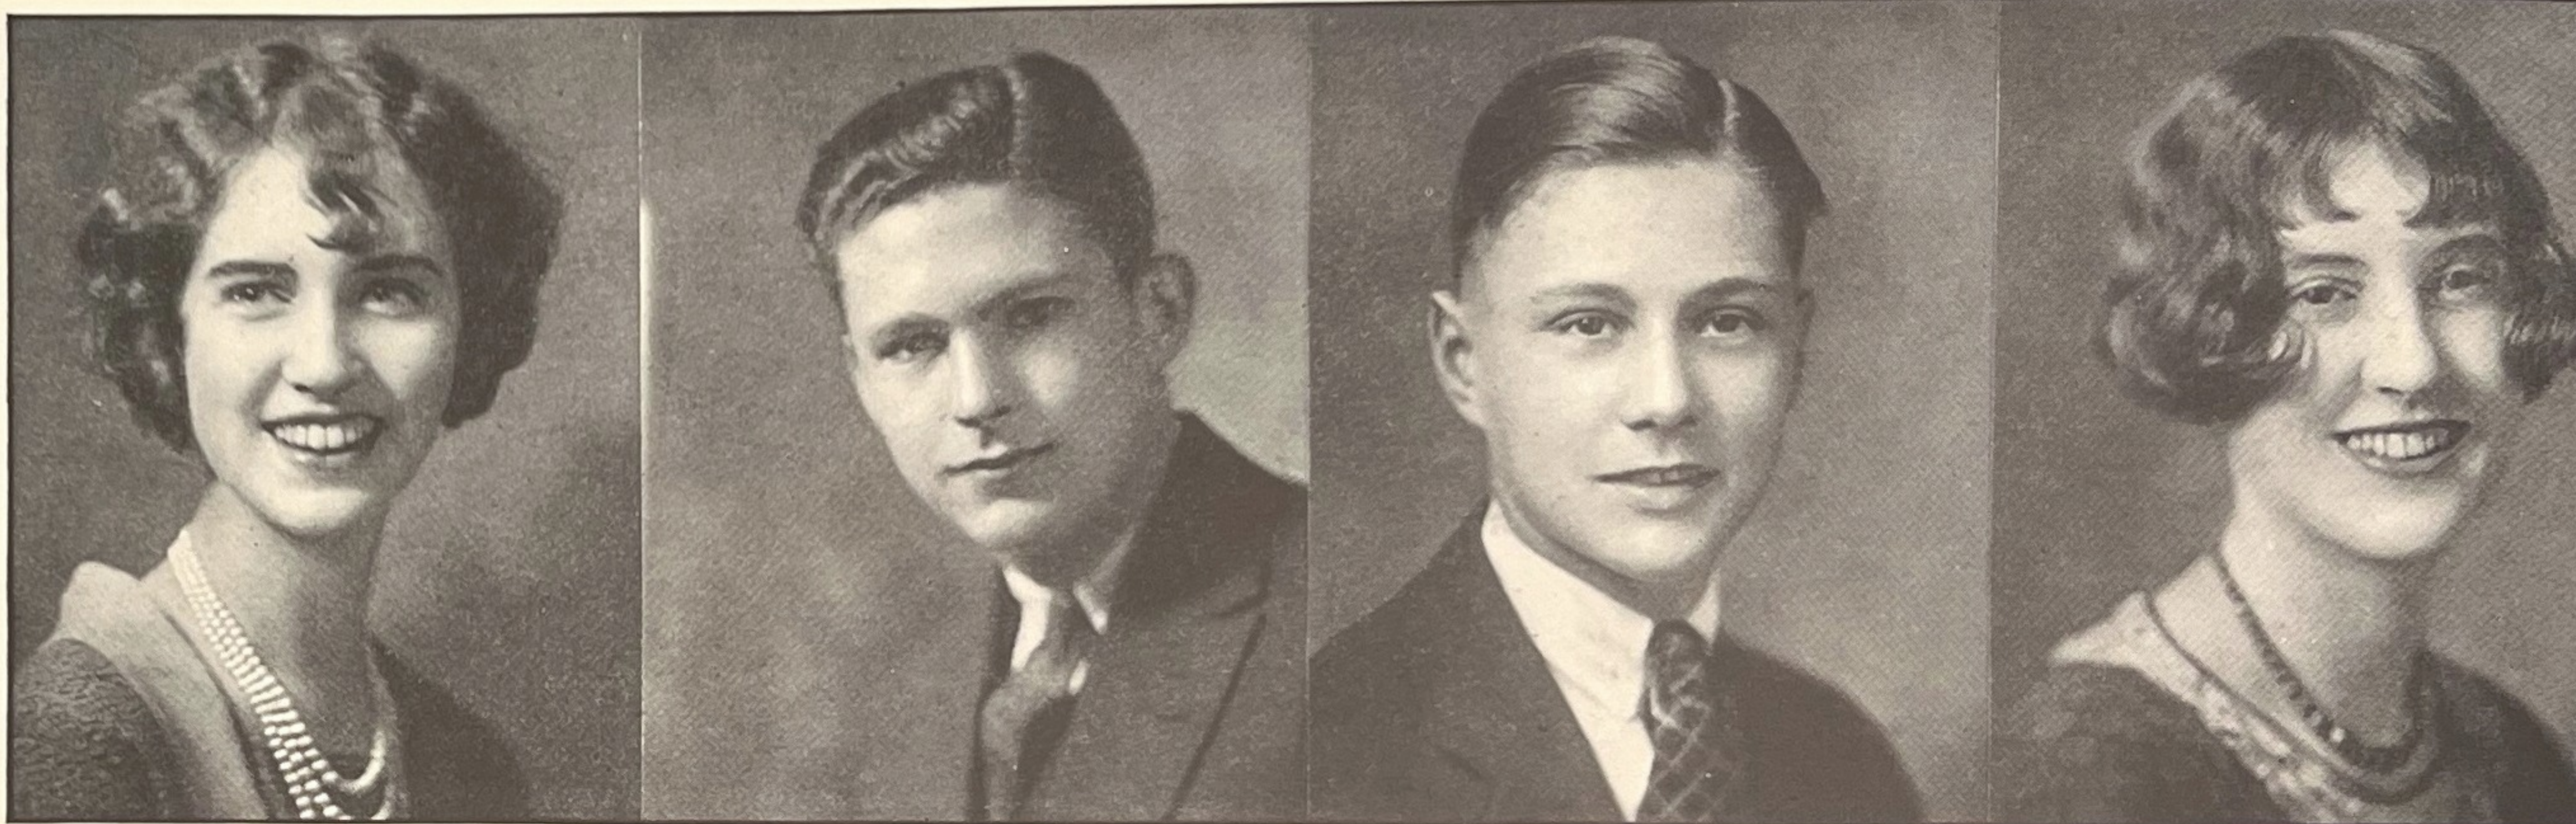

Howard came to us from Junior High School. He is very studious and, as his records show, he is also very bright. He has taken Latin and Mathematics for four years, which, as we all know, is quite an undertaking. He is also a good cadet.

Sunshine and smiles! Brown hair and brown eyes! A combination that is devastating to the other sex. According to report, this was also true in Honolulu, where Betty performed to perfection on the ukelele. To quote a popular song, "She has a smile and a cute little style that's all her own."

Theodore just came to Western last October, but since then he has played an active part in the activities of the school. He is a prominent member of the French Club and of the Mandolin Club, where he is noted for his skill in playing the steel guitar. The layout of this "Westerner" is also his handiwork.

Here is a member of the younger generation who is thoroughly inoculated with "golfitis." His arm is often seen swinging the mashie on the Columbia course made famous as the habitat of Roland MacKenzie. He still has time, however, to bask in the spotlight of Miss McKnight's 4-B Math Class.

KATHERINE HAYCOCK

WILFRED A. HEARN

GLEN HEBERT

LOIS HEDRICK

Cadets '22; L. W. Football '23 ("L. W. W.") (Captain); Football '24 ("W"); "W" Club '24; Treasurer Senior Class '25; Student Committee '25; Business Manager "The Westerner" '25.

Cadets '23, '24, '25 (First Lieutenant); War Game Team '23, '24, '25; Officers Club '25; "Breeze" Staff '25.

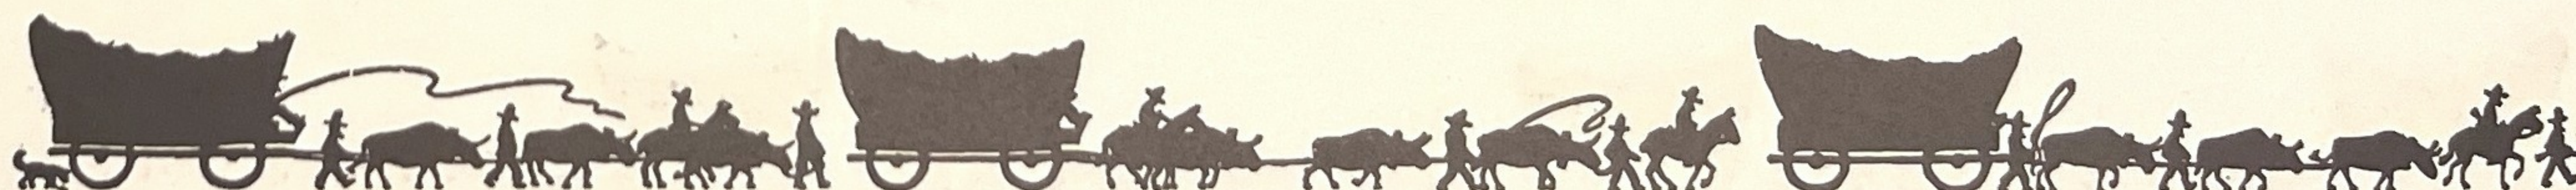

Glee Club '24, '25; "Trial by Jury" '24; "Patricia" '25; Dramatic Association '24, '25; "Westerner" Staff '25.

Who doesn't know Kay? One of the most popular girls of Western and one of the reasons why it is noted for its beautiful girls. Though we often see her in the halls talking to various gentlemen, we hear she—well, anyway we hear of a certain "Windy," and we wonder what she will do when she graduates.

If it were asked who were lined up for a successful career, we should put Wilfred among the first. With strangers, he has a powerful and dominating personality which causes them to give way in awe, while he is so well liked by his friends that all troubles from that quarter are of short duration only.

Among the great names affiliated with the Western Cadets, that of Glen Hebert will ever stand in the front rank, for his various medals will prove that he is one of the best ever. However, his cheery smile is not confined to the Cadets, and several school organizations will miss him next September.

Lois, the amber-haired, came to us from Leavenworth. No, no, not the penitentiary—the Staff School. Her outstanding characteristics, adornments, possessions—call them what you will—are her hair (whose wave is the envy and the despair of her feminine classmates), her lovely soprano voice, her giggle, and Buff.

ELSIE HENDERSON

FRANCES HENDERSON

RICHARD HENNEMAN

PHILIP HERRICK

Elsie spent her first year at Central, but when her wisdom began to expand and develop she came to Western. We are fearlessly relying upon her rare judgment to carry her through a life of many joyful years. Although she is undecided upon her future occupation, she does admit that she loves music, and has a weakness for George Washington University.

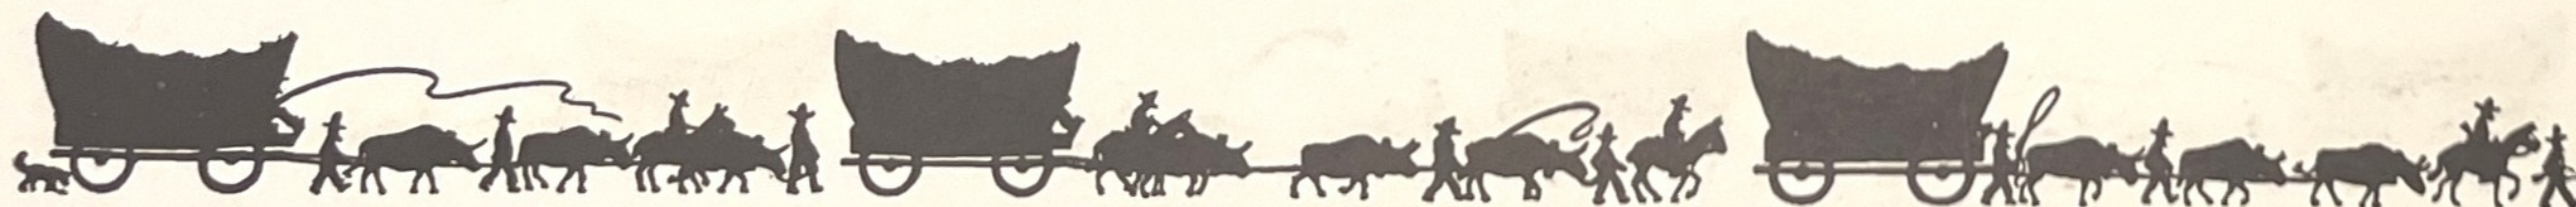

Frances entered the sophomore class from Paul's Valley High School, evidently, from its proceeds, a very superior place, but all that we have been able to find as to its exact location is that it is in Paul's Valley. Her school record has been above the average for some time, but her work in drawing is especially to be praised.

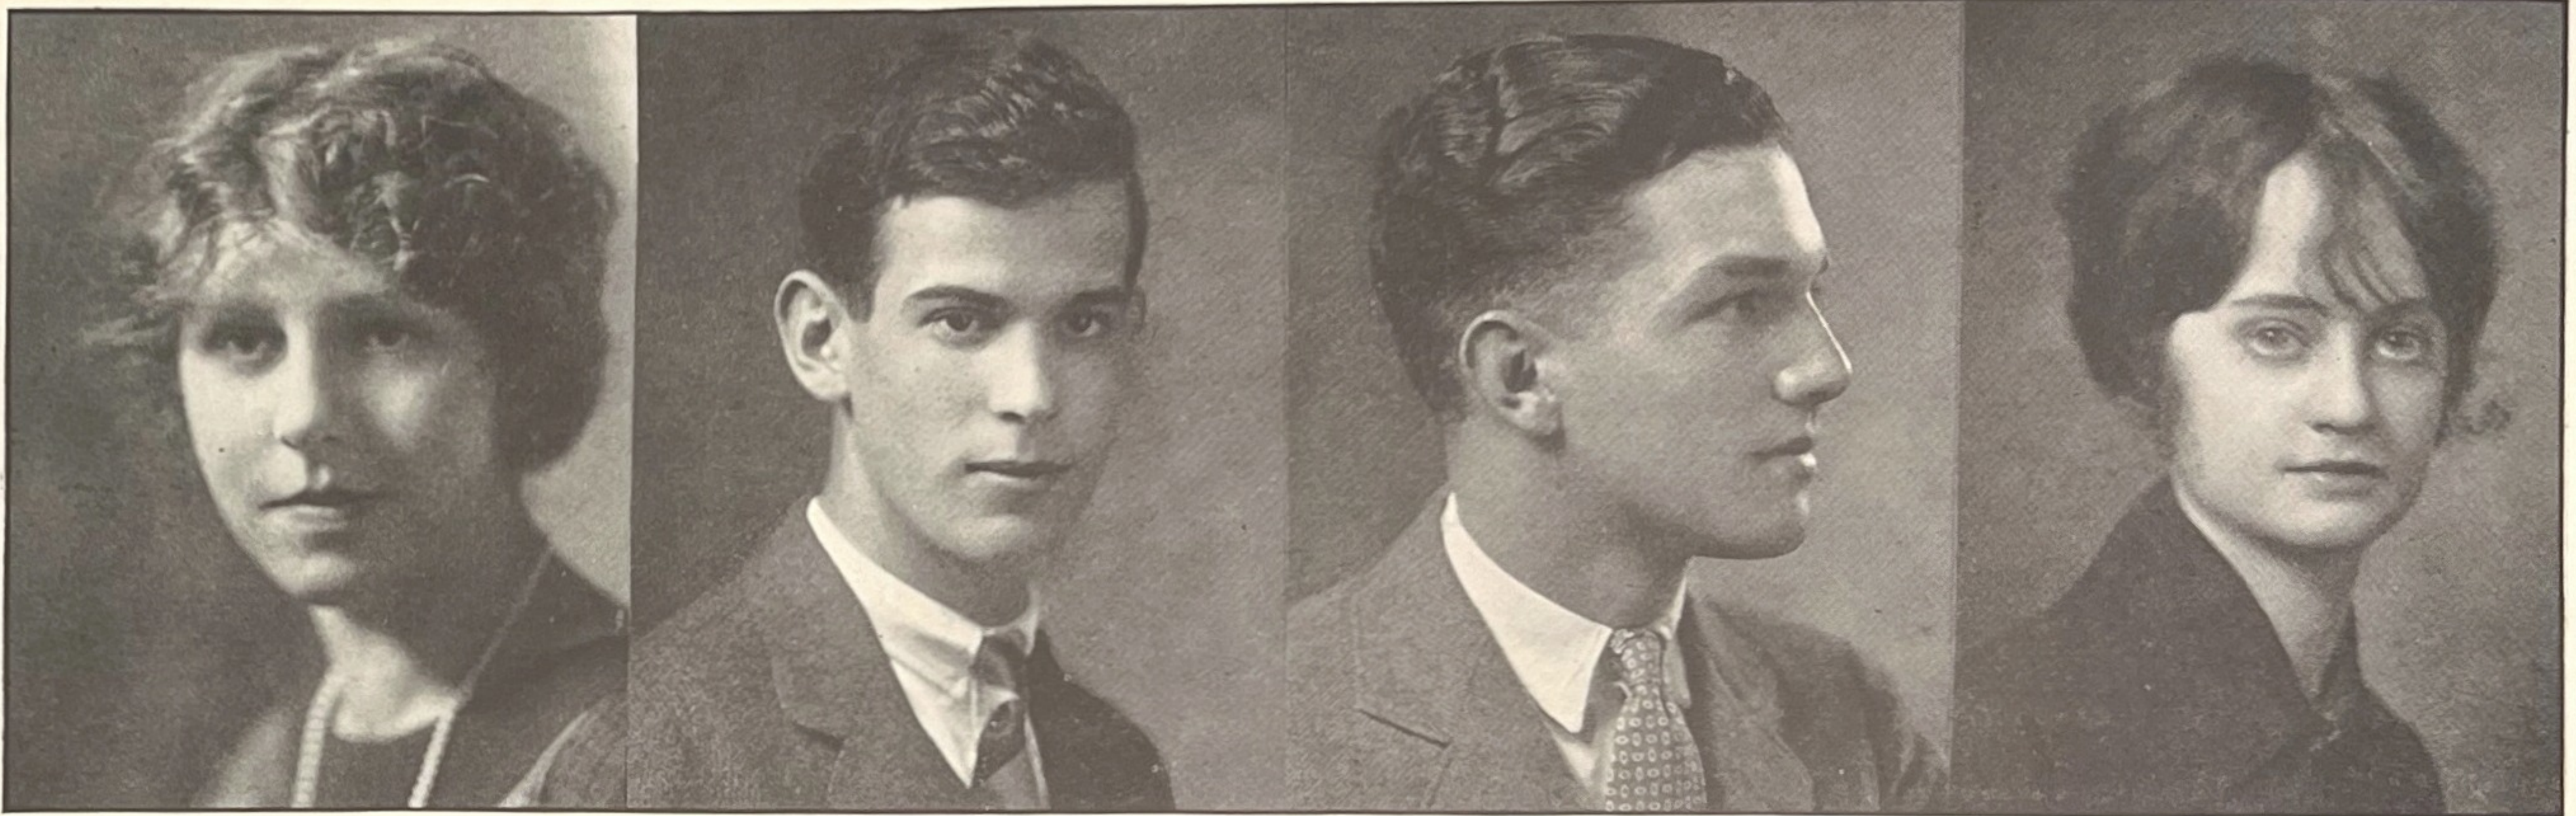

Cadets '23, '24, '25; Honor Roll '24; Officers Club '25; Debating Society '25; Math Club '25.

Conspicuous not only for his brilliant uniform, but also for his efficient brain and gallant manner, is Dick Henneman. He has performed the difficult feat of rising to first lieutenant in three years of service, maintaining, at the same time, a lofty average in class work.

Cadets '22; Honor Roll '23, '24; Lightweight Football '25 ("LWW"); Lightweight Basketball '25 ("LWW"); Math Club '25; Dramatic Association '25; Tennis '25; "Western" Staff '25.

Philip needs no introduction to the members of his class, but for the benefit of those poor unfortunates who through ignorance or insurmountable misfortune, failed to go through Western, we can indorse Herr Philip as being mentally and physically intact, an all-around good fellow and friend, and a perfect example of the gallant southern gentleman.

MARGARET HESTERBURG

Art Club '25.

Margaret has managed to move through the life at Western with an indefinable air of coolness and freshness. She is just as lovely as the pictures she loves, as gentle as the music she plays, and as sweet as the roses she always makes us think of.

JOHN HILL

Lightweight Football '23 ("LWW"); Football '24; French Club '24, '25; Math Club '25; "Western Breeze" Staff '24, '25; "Westerner" Staff '25; Dramatics '25; Mandolin Club '25.

We have no feelings but those of respect and extreme good will for this lanky lad (anything else is out of place in this book). He has made himself famous for his good fellowship, among those of his acquaintance, and for his active use of the pig-skin and banjo in the eyes of the rest of Western.

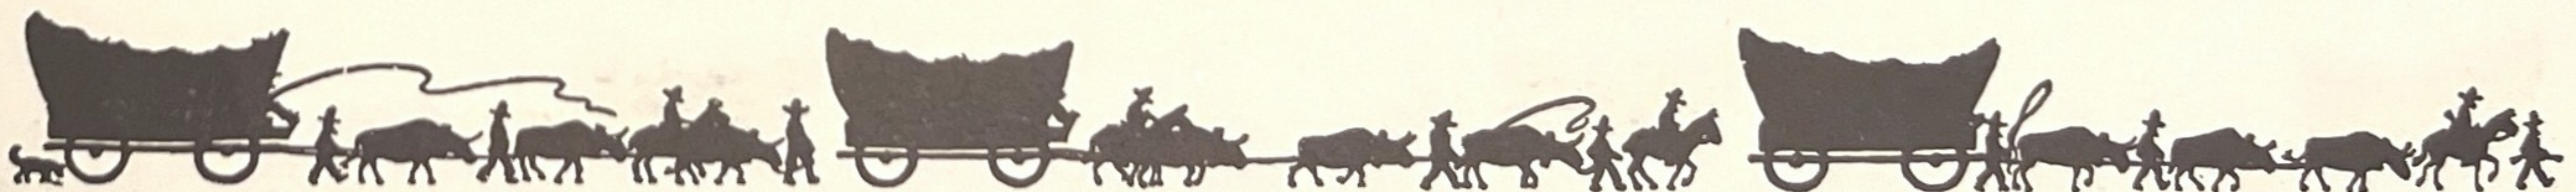

MANNING HOFFMAN

Buff Hoffman is one of the finest fellows in school. Ask any man in "H" Company or ask—the girls! He has been one of the mainstays of the tennis team, having won his "W" therein. Like his older brother, Maurice, he has devoted himself faithfully to whatever activities he has undertaken, and has always exerted his best abilities to gain honors for Western.

MARY HOGE

Basketball '22, '23; President Class '25; Student Committee '24, '25; Associate Editor, "Western Breeze" '25; Sponsor of 3rd Battalion '24.

When a fellow needs a friend—trying to write up Mary in fifty words. There is such a lot to tell about her—her marked militaristic tendencies, her preference for a certain University of Virginia "Speciman" who, she says, "has won all the bouts he's bouted in." Her popularity, her capability—Oh, shucks!

STEPHEN HULBERT

Freshman Basketball '22; Freshman Baseball '22; Lightweight Basketball '23, '24; Basketball '25; Cadets '23, '24; Rifle Team '23, '24 ("W"), '25 (Captain) ("W").

Steve Hulbert has impressed all who know him with his intensely intellectual ability. His mind is of that rare and coveted type which functions not with the suddenness and short-lived violence of a spring thunder shower, but with the deliberate and everlasting zeal of a tropical rainy season. He is perhaps best known for his good work in basketball and on the rifle team.

ESTELLA HUMPHREY

Glee Club '24, '25.

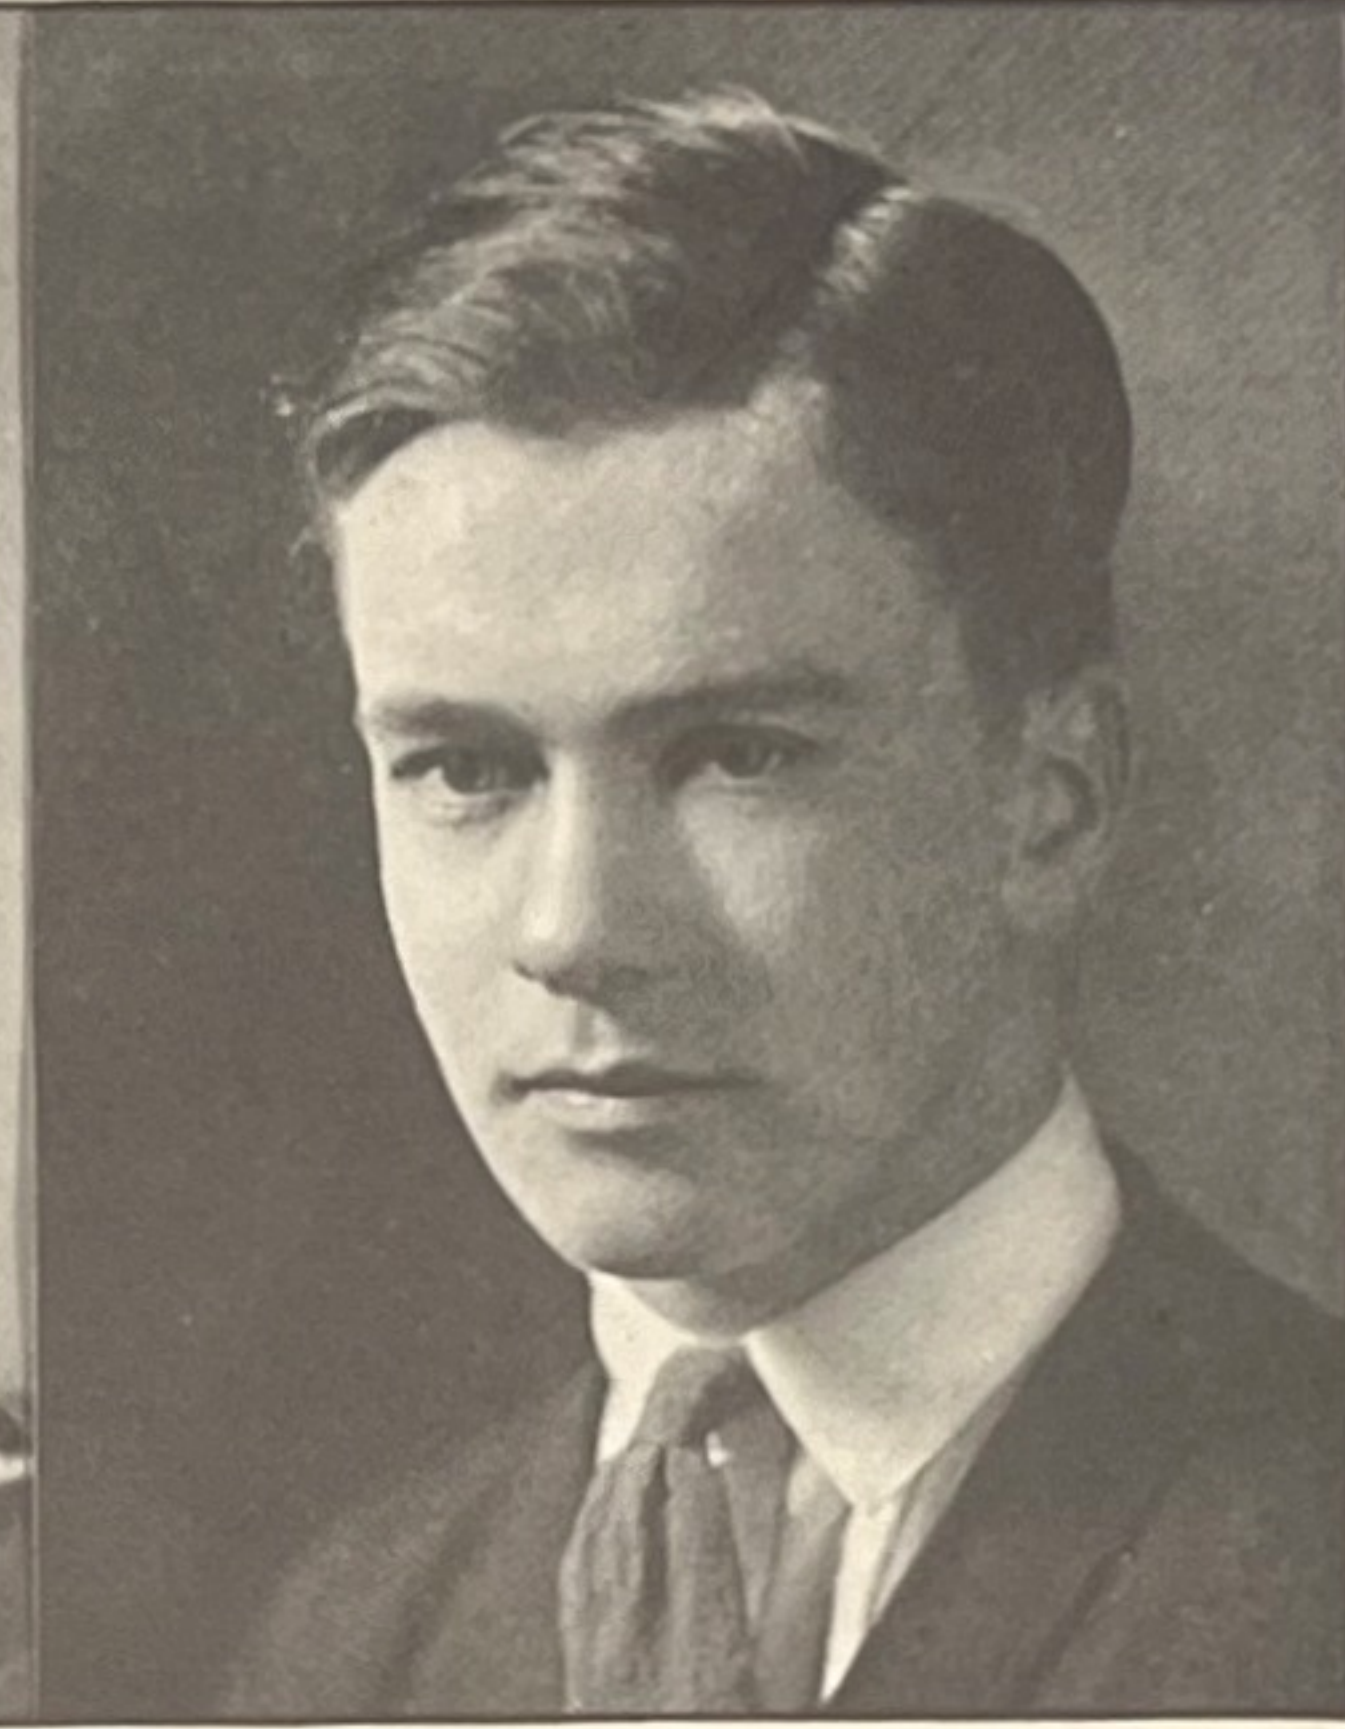

Estella and her sister, Helen, have gained fame at Western as being that institution's only set of twins. This is Estella, but if we met her in the hall we wouldn't be sure but what she were Helen. To be specific, they are as alike as two peas.

HELEN HUMPHREY

Glee Club '24, '25; Honor Roll '25.

When Helen and her sister Estella first came to Western, we thought we were seeing double, but we have become used to this state of affairs. Helen has distinguished herself along many lines, especially in her studies, for her name has often appeared on the honor roll.

ROBERT HUMPHREY

Track '24 ("W"), '25 ("W"); "W" Club '24, '25.

Twice in the last two years the name of Bob Humphrey has come to the notice of the student body as having won points for Western in the track meets, but few of us realize how conscientiously, how tirelessly, and under what adverse conditions he has worked and sweated for over four months before the season. If anyone deserves the thanks of the school, it is Bob Humphrey.

GERTRUDE HUNTER

BEATRICE KEEGIN

HELEN KERR

CHARLES KNAEBEL

Orchestra '23, '24, '25; Dramatic Association '25; Glee Club '25.

Basketball '22; Baseball '22; Tennis '22.

Hockey '23, '24, '25 ("H.M."); Basketball '23, '24, '25 (Manager, "W"); Track '22; French Club '25; Debating Society '25; Dramatics '25; Minstrel Show '25; Girls' "W" Club '25.

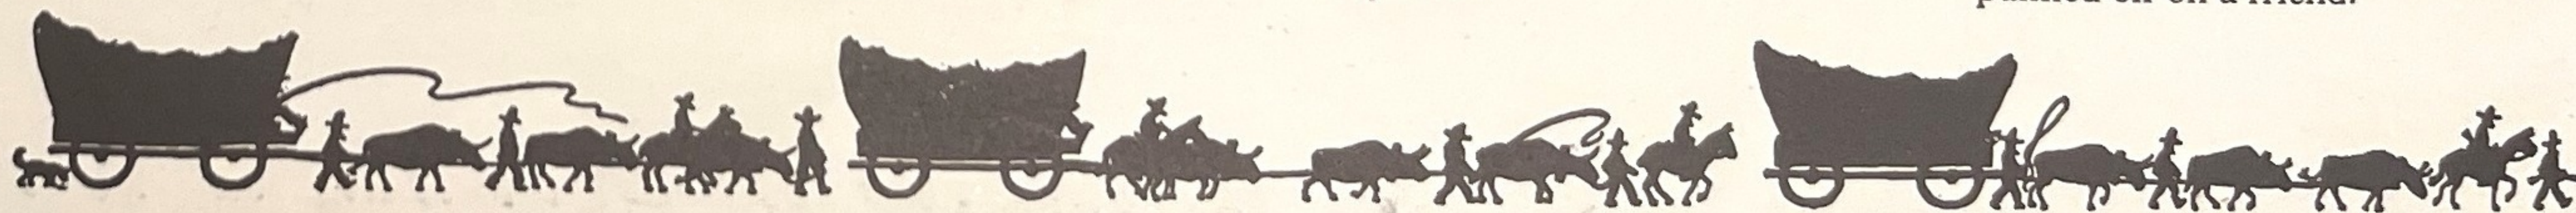

Honor Roll '22; Cadets '22; "Westerner" Staff '25.

Gertrude has been one of the main supports of the orchestra during her entire school career at Western. She is one of those bright young ladies who complete their four years' work in three. She has played her violin at many of the graduation exercises at Western.

Even though Western hates to lose her, we can't expect to keep one so clever and bright as "Bee" forever. She is the kind of girl made up of "everything nice." Her pep and unceasing energy are examples of her many charms, which this space is all too small to contain.

A real credit to Western is Helen. She's full of pep, stands well in her studies, and has achieved lasting renown in her four years at Western, especially in athletics, giggles, and dramatics. We defy everybody to find a better sport than Helen anywhere.

Charles, with his streak of droll humor, has labored long and faithfully as a member of the Westerner Staff. And here's a secret: If your write-up displeases you, the credit is due Chick Knaebel. The pleasure of writing his own epitaph was denied him, however, being palmed off on a friend.

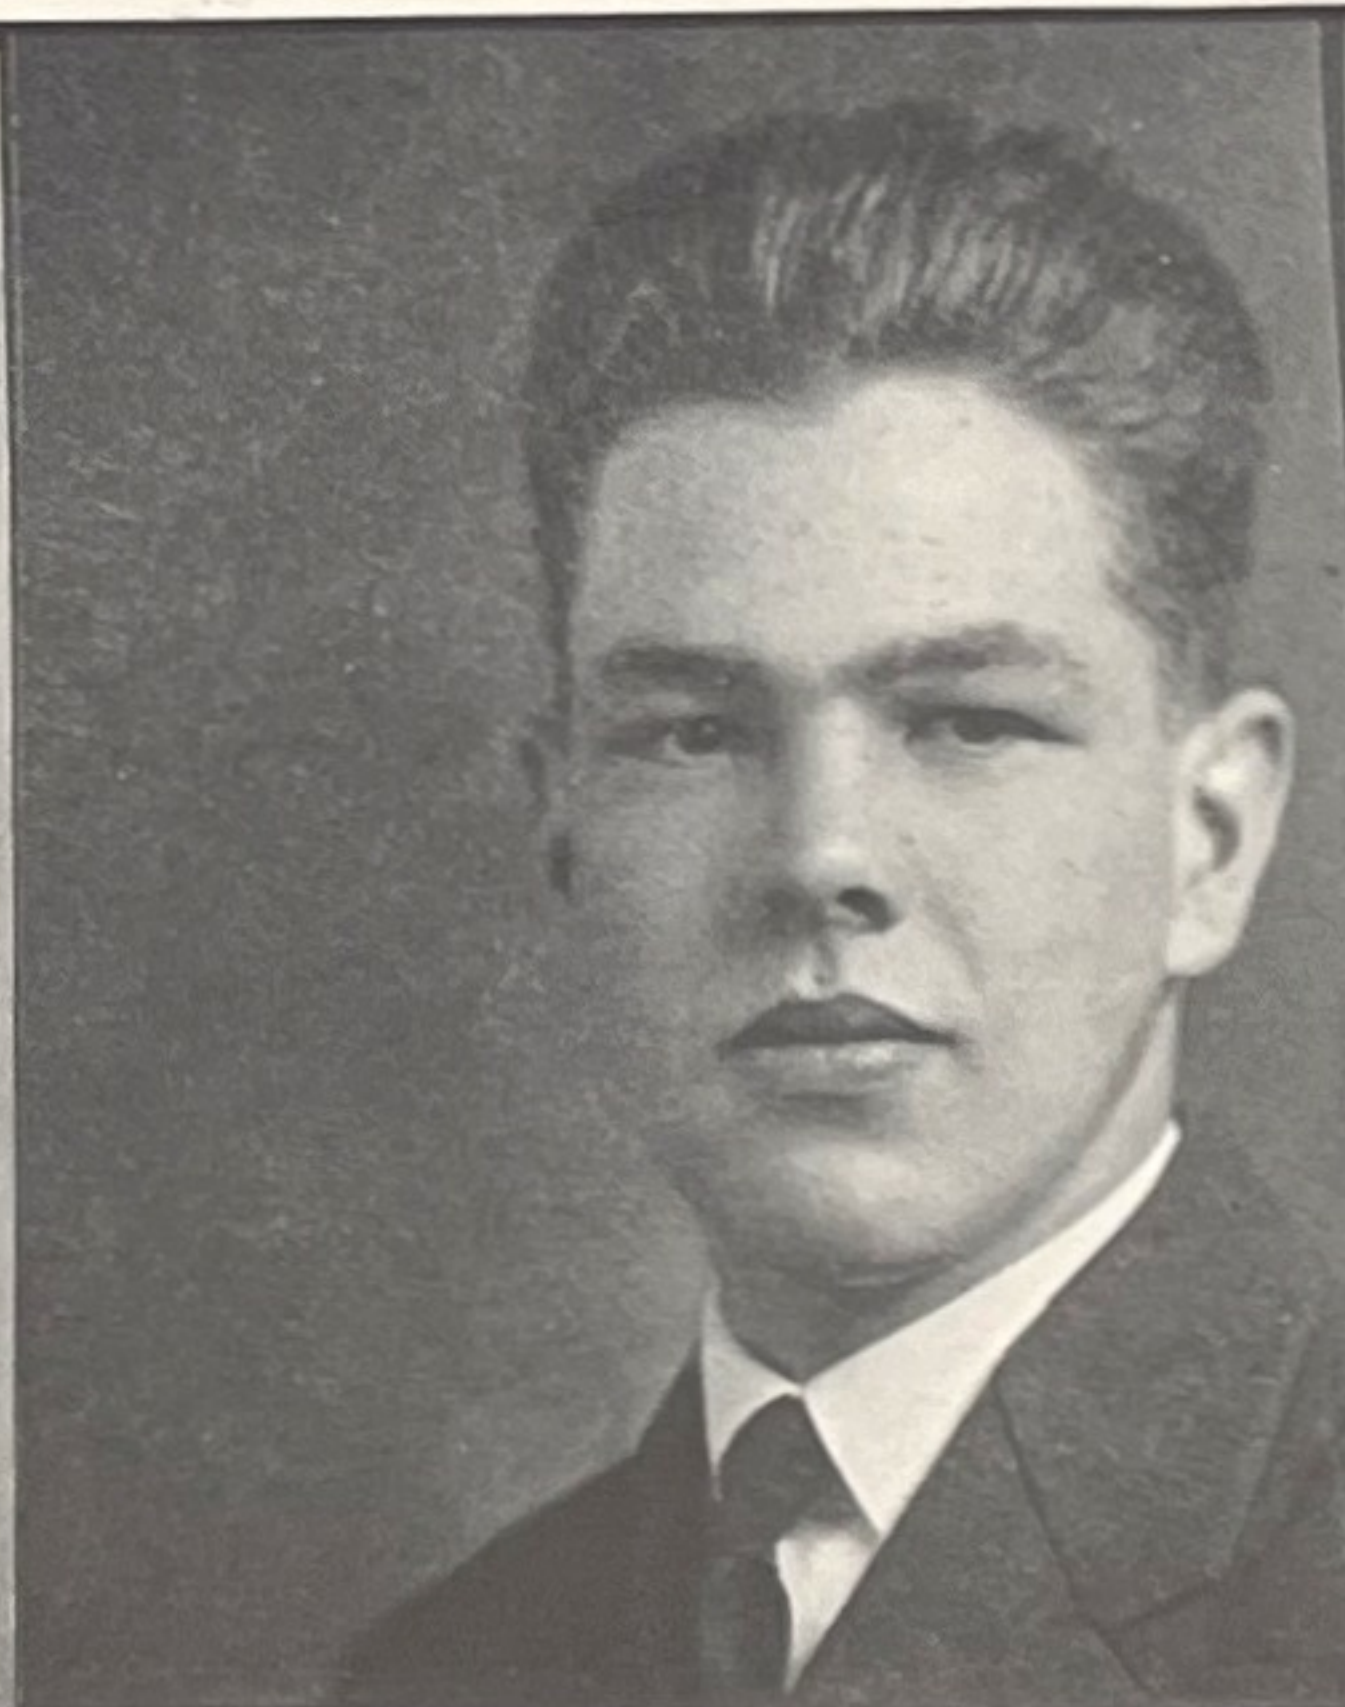

VIRGINIA LATTERNER

Honor Roll '22, '23; French Club '24; Hockey '22; Glee Club '24; Art Club '25; "Hop Along Revue" '22.

This is the tall and stately member of the firm of Love, Latterner, and Gerry. She can usually be found dashing around town in a frightfully good-looking coupe, or heading for the Columbia or the "Met" with Alice and Flip. "And how that girl can dance!"

SAMUEL R. LEVERING

Honor Roll '22, '23, '24, '25; "Western Breeze" Staff '25; "Westerner" Staff '25; Debating Society '24, '25; Dramatic Association '25 (Treasurer); Math Club '25; Glee Club '24, '25; "Patricia" '25; Lightweight Basketball '24, '25; Tennis '25.

It seems a pity that such a reservoir of mental energy should be doomed to expend itself upon the cultivation of apples. At any rate we confidently expect a world-rocking revolution in the apple industry in the near future. We find in Sam a good fellow, a hard worker, and a lasting friend.

MILLARD LEWIS

Cadets '22, '23, '24, '25 (Captain); Tennis Team '24 ("W"), '25; Cheer Leader '24, '25; Dramatic Association '22, '23, '24, '25; "Hop Along Revue" '24; Minstrel Show '22, '23.

Millard is one of these strong, dynamic characters whose lot it is to dictate, not to be dictated to. As a cadet captain he has proved a complete success in every respect. Millard has not entered every activity on the program, but instead has so concentrated on a few that he has been outstanding in each one

Spanish Club '23, '24, '25 (President); German Club '23, '24, '25 (Vice-President); French Club '23, '24, '25; Glee Club '23, '24, '25 (Librarian); "Trial By Jury" '24; Student Committee '24, '25; Honor Roll '22, '23, '24, '25; Fencing Club '25.

Rae has been one of the most conscientious and hard-working members of her class, as well as one of the sweetest. She is always ready to help others and do her own part as well. For efficient and enthusiastic work for Western, we nominate Rae Lewis for first place.

ALICE LOVE

Baseball '21; Art Club '24, '25; French Club '24, '25; Glee Club '24, '25; "Patricia" '25; Student Committee '25.

Alice came to us a Freshman, but was called away the next year; however, she came back (they always do). Alice is originality and pep personified, with a wonderful disposition and love of study thrown in. One has to admit that Alice certainly enjoys life.

MARY KATHERINE LUTZ

Dramatic Association '25 (Secretary); Minstrel Show '25; Debating Society '25 (Vice-President); Hockey, '23, '24 (H.M.), '25; Basketball '23, '25 (Manager "W"); Baseball '22; Track '23; Tennis '23; "Westerner" Staff '25; Honor Roll '25; Girls "W" Club '25.

Mary Kay has the happy faculty of always being on hand at interesting moments. This may account for her joyous presence in the Senior Den, the hockey field, the Minstrel Show, the Debating Society, the Peck Memorial Gym, the Dramatic Association, and the "Westerner" staff.

RUTH MacARTHUR

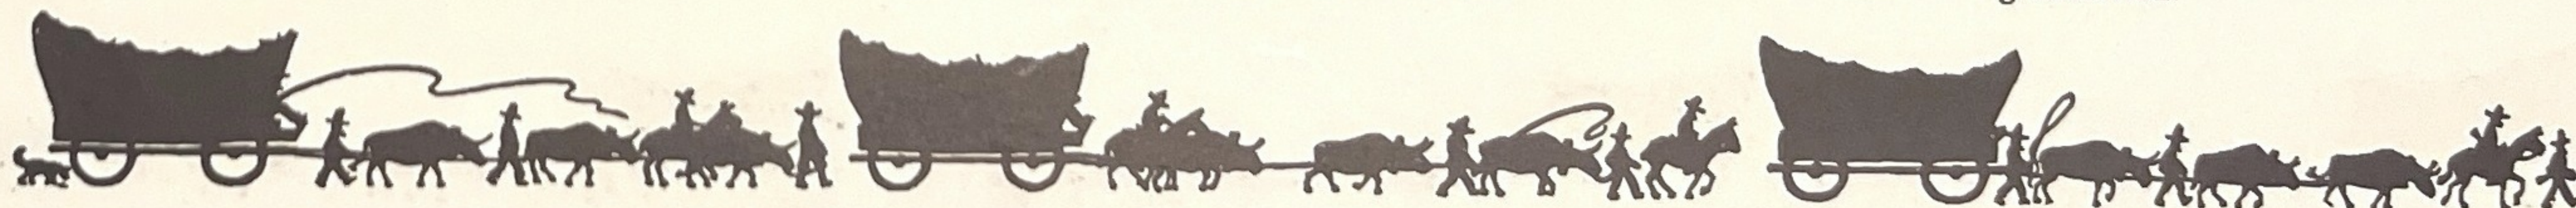

Orchestra '22, '23, '24, '25; Glee Club '23, '24, '25; Art Club '24; "Trial by Jury" '24; "Patricia" '25.

We are not impressed with Ruth so much by her size as by her personality and character. She has augmented the orchestra with her violin for four years, in quality as well as quantity. Ruth is planning to prepare for a schoolmarmship at Normal School.

ROBERT MAPES

Cadets '22; Lightweight Basketball ("L. W. W.") '23, '24; Tennis '24.

A member of "The Sons of the American Congress" reported at Western two years ago, after a brilliant Michigan career. Before he graduated he had won a lightweight "W" in basketball, and has also made his name in tennis. He considered studies a bore—but he graduated.

FRANCES MARSHALL

"Westerner" Staff '25.*

If you want a first-rate newspaper report on an important meeting, a game, a fire, or a murder, just page Frances. Her literary abilities are unsurpassed, and she often tries her hand at playwriting, poetry, and oratorical contests. But in spite of this, she finds time to wander down to Annapolis and V. M. I. occasionally.

JOSEPHINE MARSHALL

Glee Club '24; Pianists' Club '24.

Our pretty comes from Ten Ten Tennessee, but doesn't claim much knowledge of her native state. Ever since the debut of her first teeth, she has been on the go, visiting such distant lands as Hawaii and Michigan. She is most easily recognized by her curls and happy, carefree manner.

ADELE MARTELL

Honor Roll '23, '24, '25; Dramatic Association '24, '25; French Club '25; Friendship Club '23; Baseball '23; Tennis '23; Hockey '25; Basketball '24; "Breeze" Staff '25.

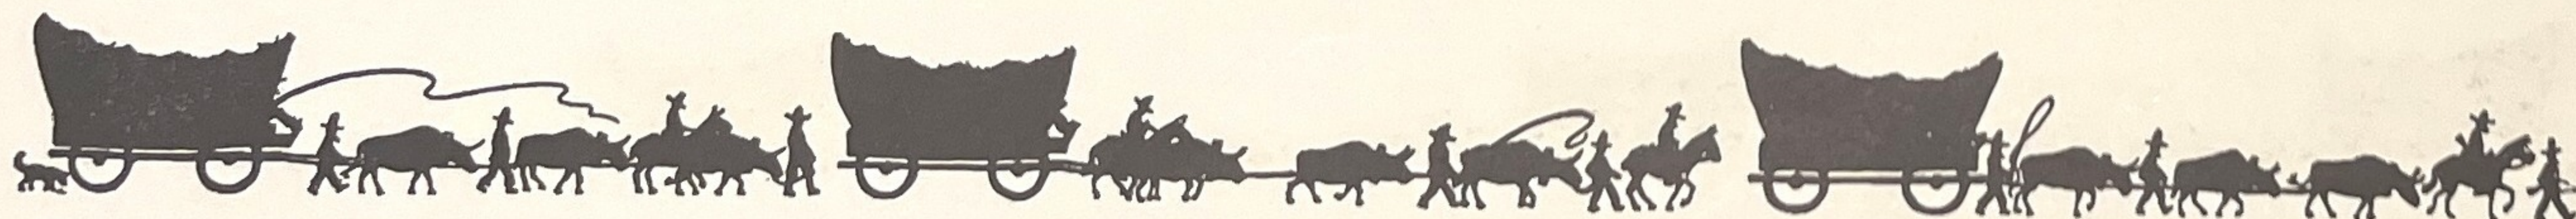

Of course everyone knows and likes our little Boston friend, the attractive young lady who spends most of her time in room 117 or with the teacher who teaches there. She is so studious that she has completed her high school course in three years. She intends to become a school teacher herself.

ROSEMARY MARTIN

Basketball '22; Track '22; Minstrel Show '22; Orchestra '24, '25; Glee Club '24; Tennis '24.

Due entirely to her own flawless character and likeableness, we are enabled to say that Rosemary is utterly devoid of "enemical" acquaintances. She made a reputation for herself when she played for the Minstrel Show and "W" Club tea. Her greatest ambition is to be a kindergarten teacher, that is to say, if no "specially important" event prevents it.

HELEN MASON

MARGARET McALLISTER

BESSIE McINTYRE

MARGARET McMINIMY

Honor Roll '23, '24; Rifle Club '24, '25.

Although everybody probably knows Helen, we doubt if they know what a wonderful score she can make with the rifle. She is also very studious, making the Honor Roll for two years. She came to us in her second year from Junior High School.

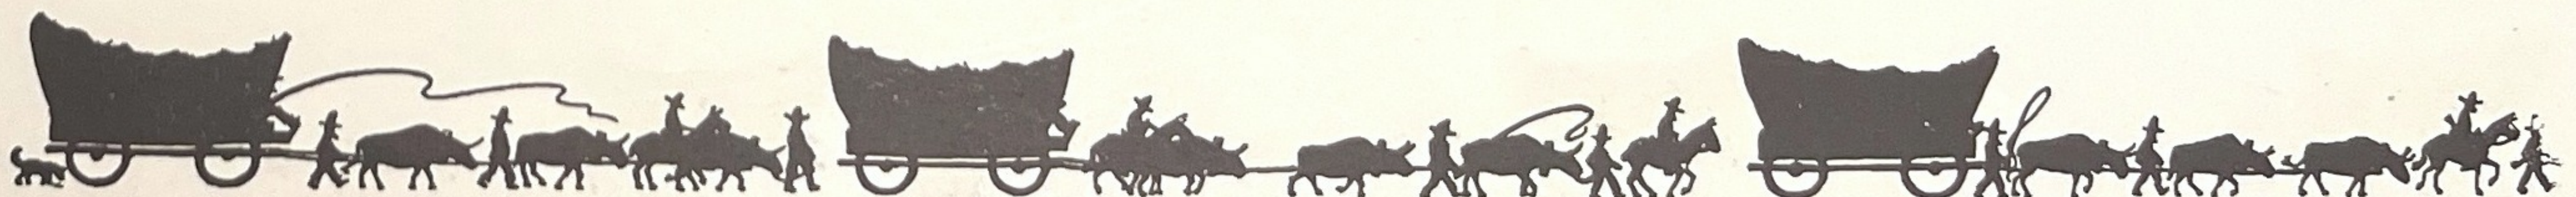

It's a shame that these pictures can't be done in colors, for Margaret has the kind of eyes and coloring that make women wail and strong men weep for joy. Does she prefer golf champs or Kaydets—that is the burning question. But we know one thing: they prefer her, and with good reason.

Honor Roll '25.

We nominate Bessie to the Hall of Fame because she alone of Miss Houghton's first-hour English class has tamed the new violently orange bus line into submission (it has never succeeded in making her tardy); because she consistently makes the Honor Roll; and because she possesses the original soap advertisement complexion.

Hockey '23, '24; Basketball '25; Honor Roll '25; Minstrel Show '25; Glee Club '25; "Western Breeze" Staff '25; French Club '25.

The name of Margaret McMinimy is unusually familiar throughout the school, due to her extraordinary versatility in athletics, class work, and organizations, in all of which she has excelled. We compliment Idaho on having produced such a fine girl.

MARGARET MERRILL

Hockey '23; Basketball '23; Dramatic Association '25; Honor Roll '25; "Western" Staff '25.

There is one thing you can't do in this school, and that is tease Margaret. Oh, no! Not a bit! Do you see a little white goat with a black eye running around? Yes? That's hers. The trouble is she's very serious minded, but one has to be to take Wellesley entrance exams. If this is a fault, it is the worst that the most severe critic could find in her.

GERTRUDE MICHELSON

Basketball '22, '23; Baseball '22 (Honorary "W"); French Club '22, '23; German Club '24, '25; Spanish Club '24, '25; Glee Club '25.

It is usually said that the ones who get ahead are the ones who study. Gertrude must be an exception to the rule, for she seldom investigates the interior of her text-books, yet she always knows what she is talking about in class. Her career as a linguist has been exceptional, perhaps in preparation for man-killing tours in Europe.

ELIZABETH MILES

Hockey '25; Basketball '25; Dramatic Association '25.

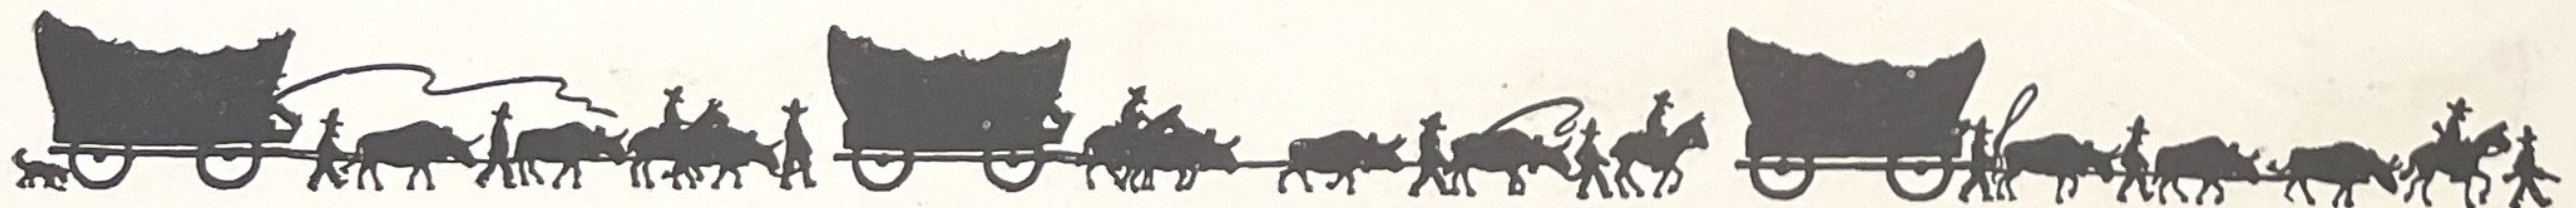

Libby seems to have a penchant for Westerns. She came from "Western" in Baltimore, and fortunately decided to finish her last year with us. We are sorry we could not have had her longer, but it didn't take long to find out her weaknesses—tennis, and a desire to be a Chinese missionary.

BARBARA MILLER

Honor Roll '22, '23, '24, '25; Glee Club '24, '25; Fencing '24; Dramatic Association '24, '25; French Club '24, '25 (President); "Trial by Jury" '24; "Patricia" '25; Cantata '24, '25.

Barbara's interest in French seems to extend even to the following out of Napoleon's famous remark relative to the best way to keep an army going. We're not insinuating that Barbara manages En Avant so well by judicious distribution of her delicious food, but just ask her friends about her fudge.

RUTH MILLER

Student Committee '25; Glee Club '23, '24 (Secretary), '25 (President); Girls' "W" Club '23, '24, '25 (Vice-President); Basketball '22, '23 ("W"), '24 ("W"), '25; Baseball '22, '23; Hockey '23, '24 ("W"), '25; Track '24; Tennis '22, '23, '24, '25; "Patricia" '25; "Trial by Jury" '24.

Ruth has been outstanding in athletics throughout her career at Western, besides being quite a song-bird, and the mainstay of the Girls' Glee Club. She is best known in basketball for her uneconomical wearing out of the basket net.

LULA MITCHELL

Lula is a Georgian southerner, and, of course, she is maintaining the reputation of the South for being the home of pretty girls. Besides making a fine artist's model, she is quite an artist, and we hope and expect to hear of her in the future as one of the country's finest in this profession.

VIRGINIA MITCHELL

Basketball '22; Baseball '22; Tennis '22; Vaudeville Show '22; Honor Roll '22, '23; Pianists' Club '23, '24; Glee Club '23, '24, '25; Dramatic Association '23, '24, '25; Art Club '25; French Club '25; "Patricia" '25; Minstrel Show '25.

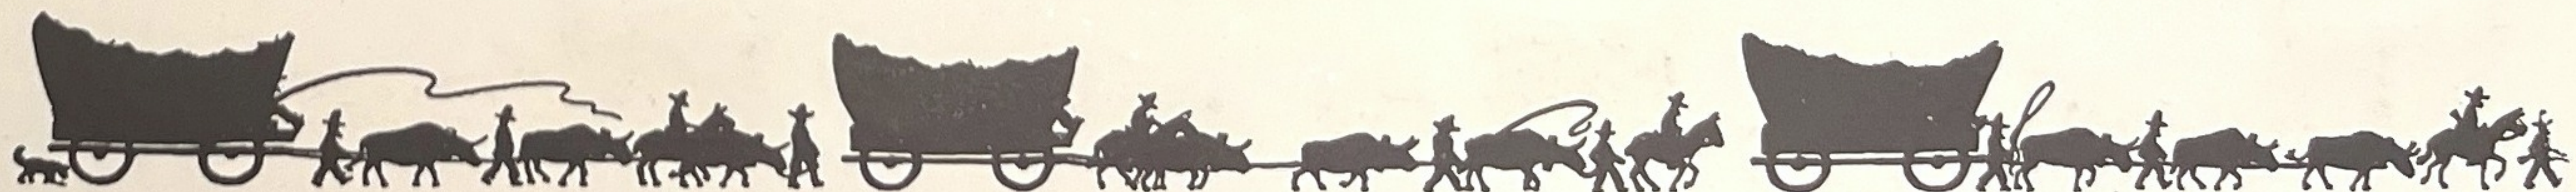

Once upon a time a little girl with long black curls and a short, sweet line came to Western. Now a little bigger girl with short, black curls and a long, long line is leaving, and four or five varieties of assorted organizations are wondering what they are going to do without Virginia.

ELIZABETH MOODY

"Oh! Johnnie" '24; Dramatic Association '25.

'Oh, my de-ah!' accompanied by a sidewise glance from a pair of sparkling, coquettish—but why try to describe them—everybody knows Betty, of the dancing brown eyes and cheery chatter. Her main activity has been dramatics. Last year she appeared as the leading lady in "Oh! Johnnie."

JOHN MORENO

Cadets '25 (Sergeant Major); Orchestra '25; Glee Club '25; Lightweight Football Team '25; "Patricia" '25; Cantata '25.

"This is station 31 M transmitting." This Jack says many times a day, for he is a licensed operator. He came to Western this year from St. John's Military Academy, Wisconsin, and immediately entered the Cadets, where he won the position of Sergeant Major.

STUART NEW MYER

Spanish Club '24, '25 (Secretary-Treasurer); Glee Club '23, '24, '25 (Treasurer); "Trial by Jury" '24; "Patricia" '25; Dramatic Association '23, '24, '25 (Vice-President); Hop Along Revue '22; Minstrel Show '24; Basketball '22, '23; Hockey '23, '24, '25; Baseball '22, '23; "Western Breeze" Staff '25.

"Stew" may usually be seen rushing somewhere—rushing into 101, rushing out of the Assembly Hall attired in a beautifully out-of-date costume. But with all her rushing, she always has time enough for those who are fortunate to be her friends.

BERNARD NORDLINGER

Cadets '23; Debating Society '22, '23; Dramatic Association '23, '24, '25 (Vice-President); "Hop Along" '23; Spring Play '23; Minstrel Show '24; "Oh! Johnnie" '24; Lightweight Basketball '24, '25; "Western Breeze" Staff '25; "Westerner" Staff '25; Honor Roll '22, '23, '24, '25.

One name which we feel assured will go ringing down the halls of Fame, not only because he went to Western, but also because of individual superiority, is that of Beanie Nordlinger. He has used his husky body to good advantage in the muscular activities, besides being very active cerebrally.

Cadets '22, '23, '24, '25; Glee Club '24, '25; Lightweight Football '24 ("L. W. W."); Minstrel Show '22; "Trial by Jury" '24; "Patricia" '25.

Tyler Page, alias Reginald Montgomery (in "Patricia"), and one of the best singers in the Glee Club, has often appeared on the stage of our far-renowned Assembly Hall, as well as on the gridiron and dance hall floor. He is one of those happy individuals who see with approval only the brighter side of life.

MARTHA PERRILL

Orchestra '24, '25; Honor Roll '24, '25; Glee Club '25; Hockey '25; Basketball '25; Minstrel Show '25.

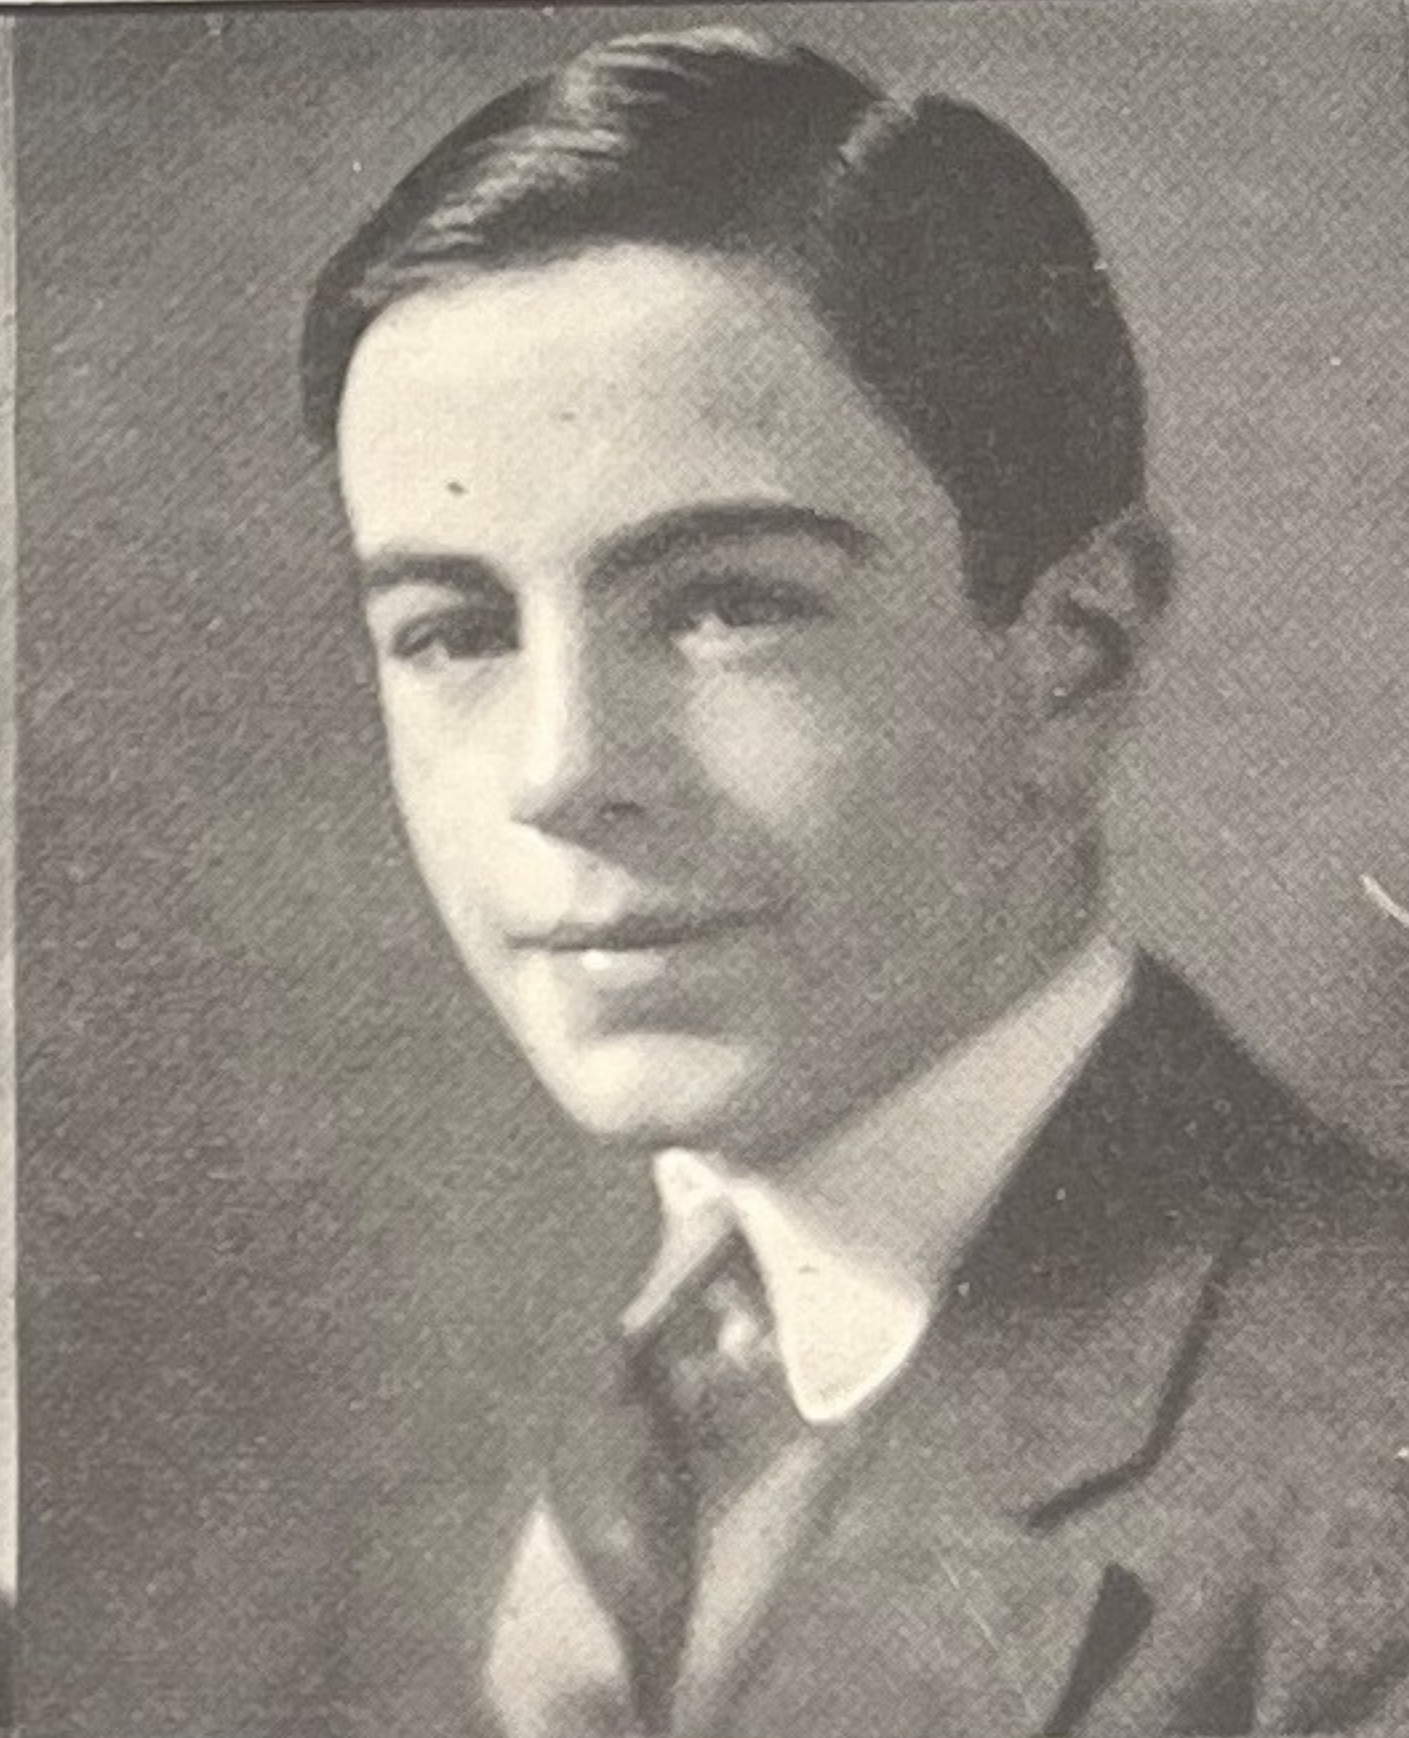

Martha is an example of the type of intelligence seldom seen, which is able to cope, and cope successfully, with four years of Math without the usual fuss and complaint of the Math student. Yet she hasn't let her school work hamper her resolve to do a "good turn daily," for she has kept up her high record in the Girl Scouts along with that of her studies.

MARY PHELAN

Fencing Club '24, '25 (President); Art Club '23, '24 (Treasurer), '25; Glee Club '23; Student Committee '25; "Westerner" Staff '25.

We all have our pet hobbies, and Mary's is fencing, in which she greatly excels. Her one ambition in life is to go to the Corcoran Art School and become a world-renowned artist. In the near future we shall doubtless hear her name spoken at the same time with those of Mike Angello and Da Vinci.

WILLIAM PHELAN

"Western Breeze" Staff '25; Math Club '25; "Westerner" Staff '25; Honor Roll '25; Tennis '25 (Manager).

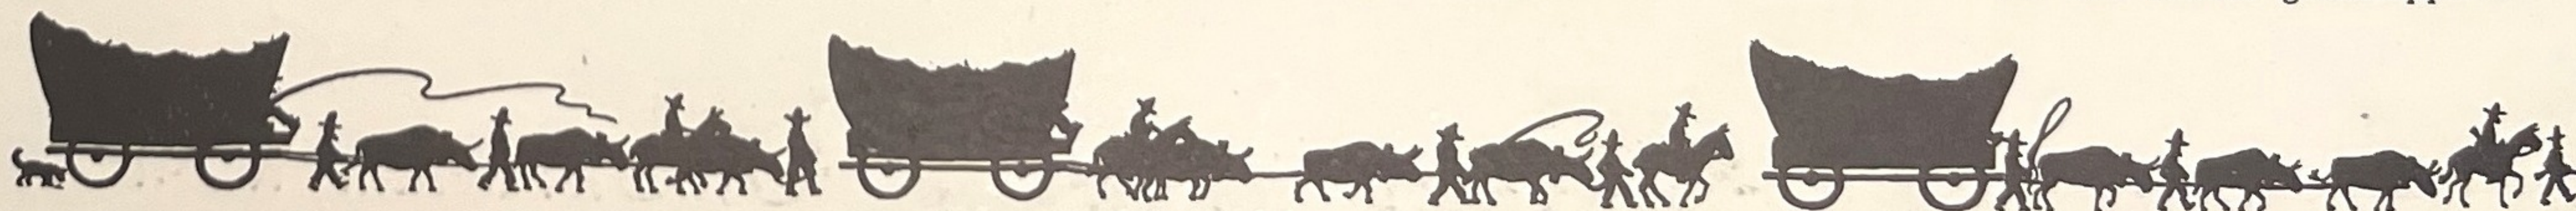

Quiet and unassuming, Bill has successfully demonstrated that hard and willing work, a kindly character, and a winning smile must always have their way. These attributes, coupled with a faculty for surmounting mental puzzles and obstacles, will carry him far in his chosen subject of engineering.

MOLLY POLACOFF

Dramatic Association '25; Debating Society '25; Basketball '25; Honor Roll '24, '25.

One of the reasons why we want to go to Heaven is to have the opportunity to see Molly carry on an animated conversation with Virgil and Cicero. We'll warrant that they will have to work hard to uphold their reputation for a knowledge of their own language. And how she can dissect grasshoppers!

MARGARET REES

*Dramatic Association '24, '25;
French Club '24, '25; Glee
Club '23; Rifle Club '23, '24;
Fencing '24.*

Margaret's black eyes and flashing smile are familiar to all Westerners, and are sure to be greatly missed next year. Among the many ambitions of this very energetic young lady is a desire to be an Aileen Riffin and Helen Wills rolled into one.

HARRIET RHODES

*Basketball '22; Glee Club '23, '24,
'25; Art Club '23, '24, '25
(Secretary).*

And here's the other one of the Heavenly Twins! Like Sarah, she's always smiling; like Sarah, she takes (or is exposed to) Virgil; like Sarah, she took the fatal step this year and bobbed her hair. But unlike Sarah, she isn't an admirer of Harriet. And that's one of the reasons why we like her so.

DENTON RITER

Is there a femme with eyes so dim
Who never to herself thus said:
"Who is that boy? I must meet him"

As Riter strideth calm and staid;
Who asks the question, stand or fall,
Not satisfied till answer found
That Denton Riter 'tis, who all
Her heartstrings thus has made resound?

LILIAN RIXEY

*Basketball '23, '24 ("W"), '25
(Captain); Baseball '23 ("W")
(Captain); Tennis '23 ("W"),
'24; Hockey '24 ("W"); Track
'24; "W" Club '23 (Treasurer),
'24 (President), '25; Student
Committee '25; "Western Breeze"
Staff '25; Debating Society '25;
Spanish Club (Vice President)
'24; Minstrel Show '25.*

Yes, this is the one they call
"Cootie"—oh, I don't know—
'cause she's so little, I guess.
There's hardly a sport she has not taken part in, and she's a leader in all of them. Athletic editor of the Breeze, too, and quite as cute as she looks.

CHARLES HAGEAGE

FLORENCE SEWARD

WARREN SHOEMAKER

THOMAS SIMPSON

Football '21, '22 ("W"), '23 ("W"), '24 ("W"); Track '22, '24; Baseball '23 ("W"), '24 ("W"); Minstrel Show '23; "W" Club '22, '23, '24 (Secretary).

To Charlie Hazzajazza belongs the credit of many a successful end run on the part of the Western team, and many a laurel-bringing sprint in the track meets. It is a shame that the school should have been deprived of his talents so quickly, due to his rapid progress, but nevertheless he deserves our best thanks.

Baseball '23; Tennis '23, '24, '25; Hockey '24, '25; Basketball '24; French Club '25; Dramatic Association '25; Glee Club '25; Art Club '25; Mandolin Club '25.

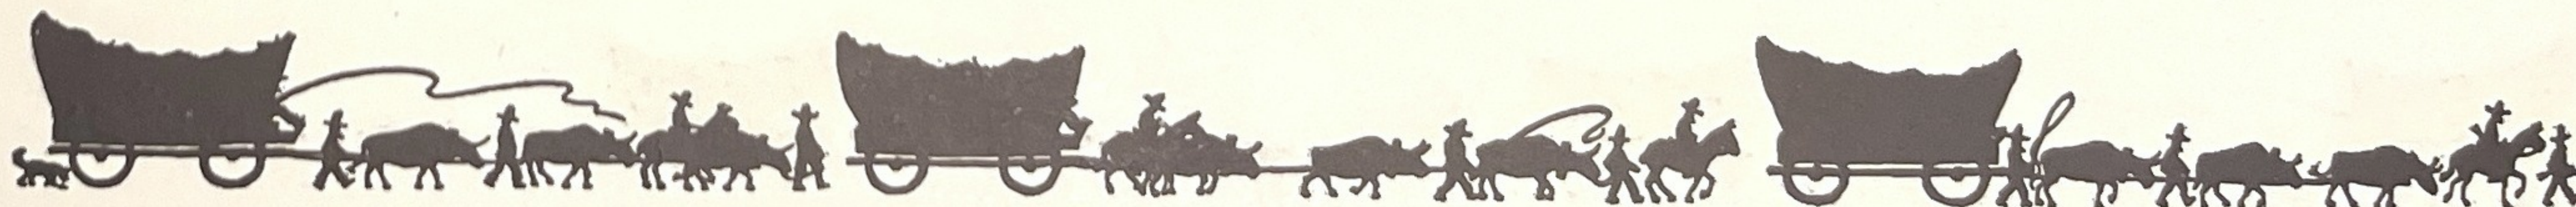

Gaze ye, O admiring public, upon the skinned rabbit of Western, leaving our briar-patch forever. Often she enlivened the Dramatic Association with "Little Orphan Annie," "Bluebeard," and "The Camel's Shape." Once she thrilled her tennis audience with her brilliant play. But now, no more! She has hopped out of our lives forever.

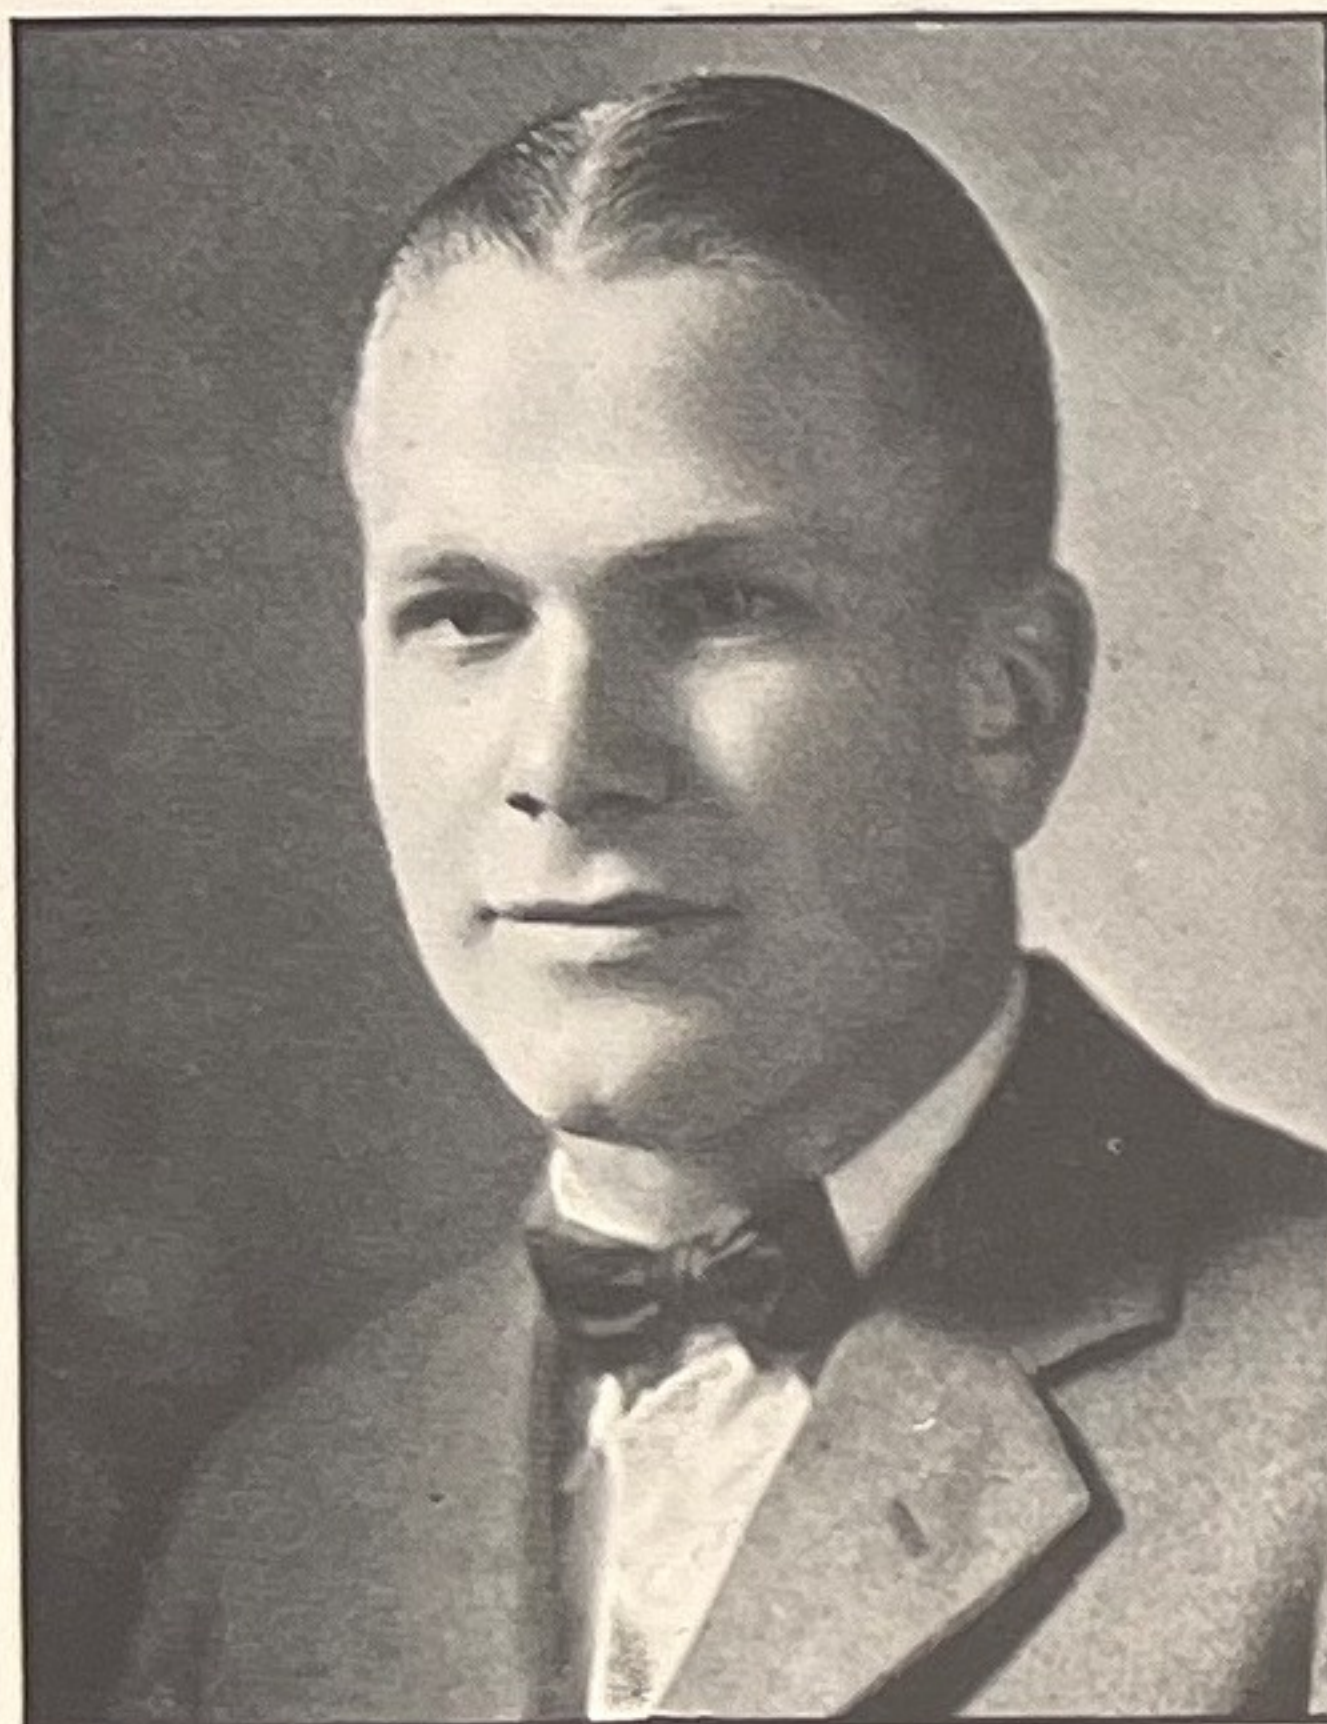

"Patricia" '25.

Putts seems to have made a hit with quite a number of girls at Western. There surely must be some new method that he is using, or probably it's just his winning way. Tech High School claims the first three years of his school career.

Cadets '22, '23, '24; Dramatic Association '23.

"Dicky" is one of the best-known fellows in school. He is quite a Shiek and is very popular with the ladies. Besides this, he is a loyal supporter of Western, having served three years in the Cadets, where he reached the rank of sergeant.

KENNETH SMOOT

Cadets '22; Art Club '22, '23; Glee Club '23, '24, '25; German Club '23 (President), '24 (President), '25; Student Committee '23, '24, '25; "Westerner" Staff '25; "Queen's Enemies" '25.

After a long and deliberate survey, we have arrived at the conclusion that Kenney should meet with our toleration, for he is really much more to be admired than the average person. He is imbuing himself with the knowledge necessary to become an M. D., in which vocation we predict howling success for him.

MARIE STANDLEY

Glee Club '25; Debating Society '25; Minstrel Show '25; "Patricia" '25.

Marie is a very sunny girl from the very sunny state of California. She went to San Diego High School for two years, until, hearing of Western, she came east to complete her high school education. No more need be said in favor of her cranial coherence. Except for her trip to Annapolis and a few shrieks a day, she is a very quiet little girl.

EMILIE D. STEELE

Hockey '23 ("W"), '24; Girls' "W" Club '23, '24, '25; Glee Club '23, '24.

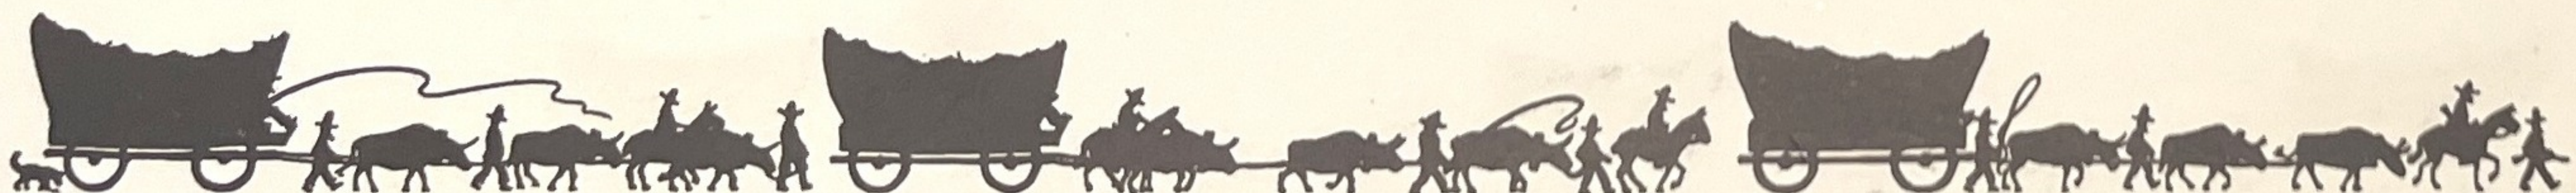

"Sail Navy down the field," so sings our Emilie, who spends most of her time dashing down to Annapolis to vamp the middies and ensigns. She is original, not having bobbed her golden hair as yet. Emilie has found time to play a wonderful game of hockey, winning her "W" in her sophomore year.

JUDITH STEELE

Dramatic Association '24, '25; Glee Club '24, '25; Minstrel Show '25; "Patricia" '25.

Judith, known to most of her friends as Judy, hails from Alabama. When she arrived at Western, two years ago, she entered right into everything and made herself at home. Glee Club and Dramatics have been her specialties. "Smile and the world smiles with you" is the motto which Judy follows.

AVRIL STEWART

Dramatic Association '24, '25 (President); "Winter's Tale" '23; Shakespearean Pageant '23; Minstrel Show '25; Art Club '23; Spanish Club '23; Honor Roll '22, '24, '25; Debating Society '25; "Westerner" Staff '25; Student Committee '25; Basketball '24, '25; Hockey '25; Girls' "W" Club '25.

Now that Abbie is making her (four-letter word meaning departure), where can be found so able a Dramatics president, so formidable a basketball guard, or so good a (three-letter word meaning companion)? Abbie is also a good (five-letter word meaning game).

HENRY STEWART

Cadets '22, '23, '24; Track '24.

Henry is that handsome boy with the curly, black hair, who comes from Falls Church. Henry wore the little blue uniform and played soldier for three years; but alas! he deserted the Cadets for the fourth year of Mathematics. He is accepted by all of good judgment as a fine fellow and one of the lads.

SHALER STIDHAM

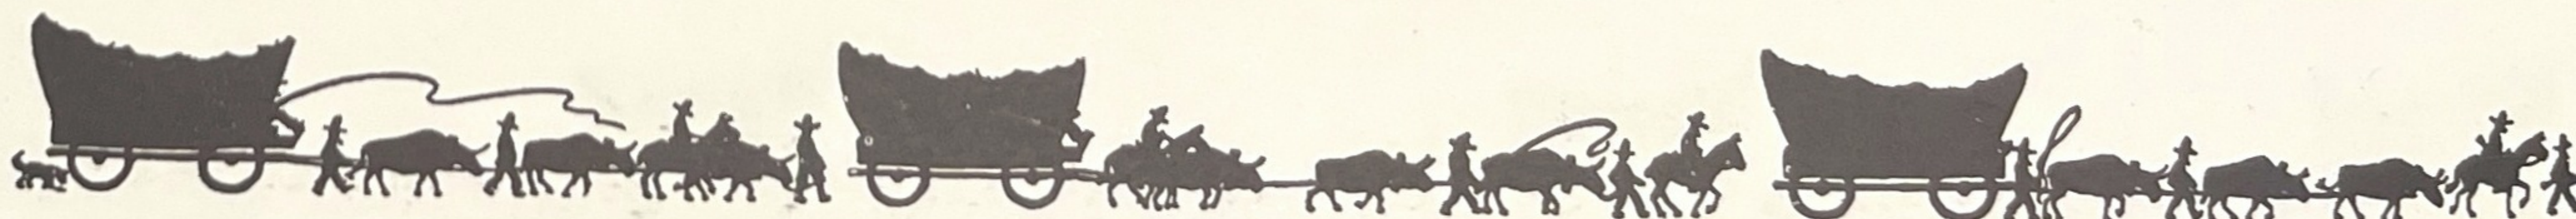

Debating Society '23, '24, '25; Dramatic Association '23, '24, '25 (Treasurer); "A Winter's Tale" '23; Shakespearean Pageant '23; Swimming '24; Lightweight Basketball '24; Cheer Leader '25; Baseball '23 (Assistant Manager); Football '24 (Assistant Manager); French Club '25.

This flaxen-haired Apollo has made his mark in almost every type of activity. He has found exercise for his lungs in debating and the leading of cheers, for his brain in the French Club, and for his body in various forms of athletics. He has proved himself a dandy good fellow to all who know him.

JAMES SULLIVAN

Cadets '22, '23; Lightweight Football '24.

Due to a certain testudinatan tendency, it is rather difficult to get very close to Jimmy, but those who have done so have a mighty fine opinion of him. He is a hard worker and a brainy thinker. He is a good sport and in all ways a good fellow. Whether or not he traces his ancestry back to John L. we cannot say, but he sometimes shows a tenacity that would lead us to think so.

NAN A. SURFACE

FRANCES SYMONDS

MIRIAM TALBOTT

INEZ TILLOTSON

Dramatic Association '24; Hockey '24 ("H"); Art Club '24 (President); Fencing Club '24, '25.

Glee Club '23, '24, '25; French Club '23, '24, '25; "Mikado" '23; "Trial by Jury" '24; Spanish Club '25; Dramatic Association '25.

Dramatic Association '24, '25.

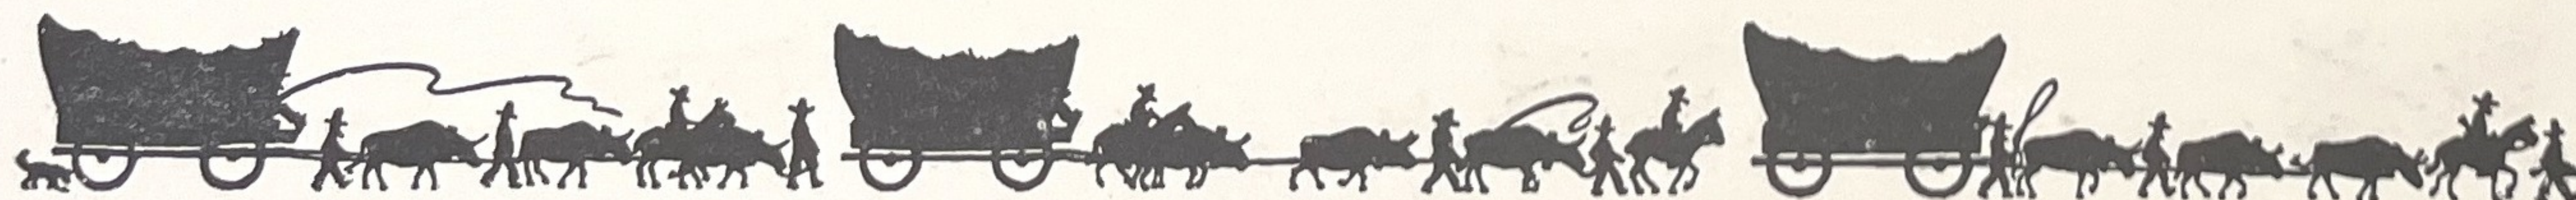

Pianists' Club '25; Glee Club '24, '25; Mandolin Club '25; Orchestra '24, '25.

When Nan pulls the bell at the Golden Gate, and presents to St. Peter her credentials, she will have a long list: Troop Captain of the Girl Scouts, star fencer and "W" girl, president of the Art Club, diligent student, and a true Westerner. Verily the gates of pearl will be opened wide with a hearty welcome.

Frances was the little girl with the golden curls, but she has tucked them up now. Her special feat seems to be making the Honor Roll, since her name has graced that worthy sheet several times. She also has a voice and frequently helps the Glee Club sing.

When the Cathedral School lost Miriam in her sophomore year, Western gained a good sport. Though she has been with us only two years her sweet personality has won for her the admiration of all who know her. Her favorite hobby is driving through town in her car.

Although she is quiet and demure, Inez has distinguished herself exceedingly at Western through her musical accomplishments. The orchestra wouldn't be the same without her. We hear she intends to teach music in the near future. If that's so, there'll be a lot of us taking it up.

ORLANDO TROXEL

Cadets '21, '22, '23; War Game Team '22, '23; Lightweight Football '23 ("L. L. W.")

Whether it be Cadets, lightweight football or social functions, Tricky has always been in the fore, particularly in the social line. But he will have to stop this gay life when he gets to West Point, for which he is going to prep at Shadman's next year.

FRANCES TWITCHELL

Glee Club '25; Honor Roll '24, '25; Rifle Team '24, '25.

One of Nature's phenomena—a Virgil fiend who always knows her lesson. Yet somehow she is always in the Glee Club, and every Saturday finds her at Central with the shooting squad. We have it on good authority that although aforesaid Virgil holds first place in her heart, a little corner is especially reserved for "Buddy."

ADA VOLKMAN

Pianists' Club '25.

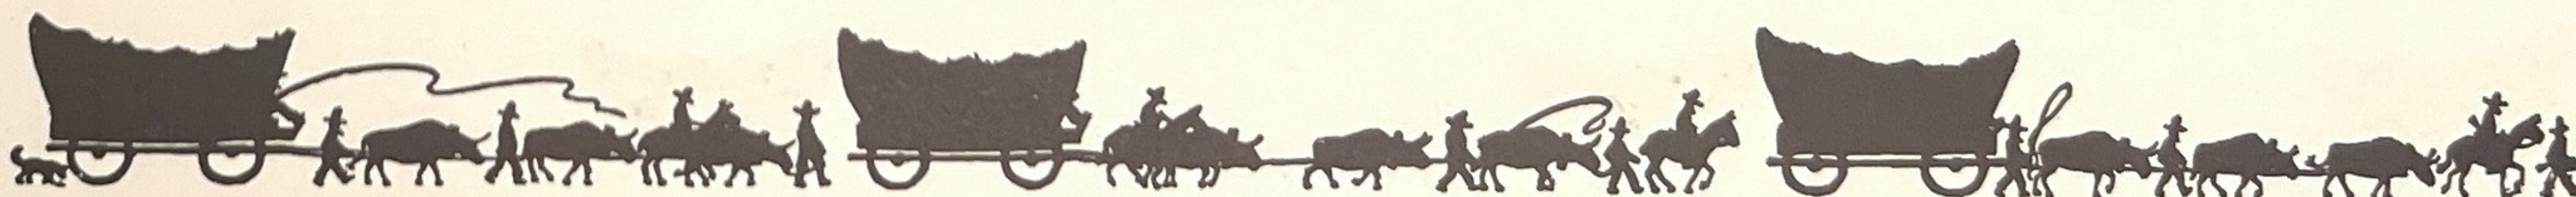

Ada has a charming personality, which has endeared her to all who know her. She is also studious enough and bright enough to have finished her course in three and a half years. She derives much pleasure from music, and her talent in this field is demonstrated by her mastery of the piano. We hope and believe that she will make a success in music.

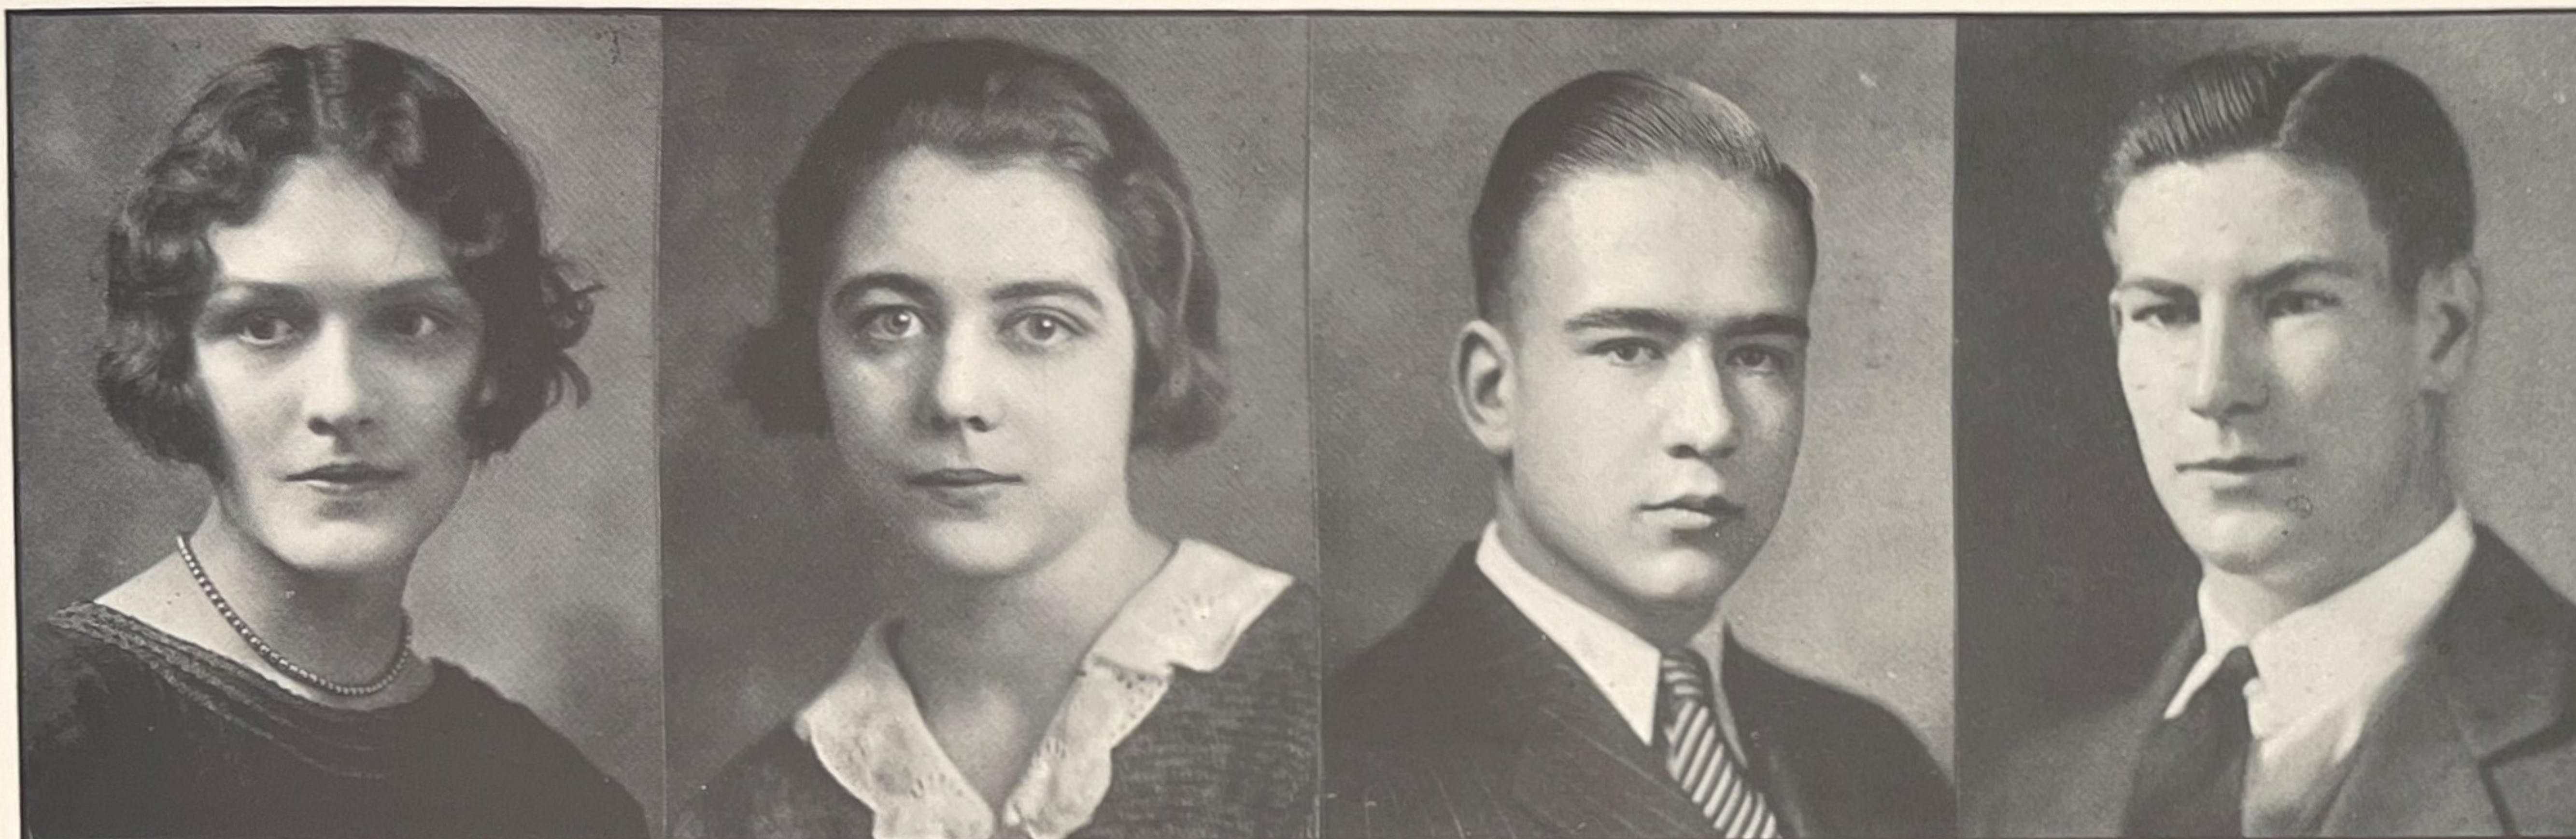

STOCKTON VOORHEES

Basketball '22, '23, '25; Baseball '23 (Numerals); Art Club '24; Debating Society '24; Dramatic Association '24, '25; Glee Club '24, '25; Hockey '25; Tennis '25; "Western Breeze" Staff '25.

"Oh, my little Ackazasphe, thou must not cast thine eyes at the Holy Companion of the Gods." So spake the queen and so say we.

This poor overwrought soul has been struggling against odds all her life on account of the masculine sound of her front name. She is always afraid to hear those three little words—"It's a boy!"

MARTHA WALDE

FRANCES WALDRON

GEORGE WALES

CHESTER WARD

Martha is a shining example of the futility of this mundane sphere. Why should she spend all her time on the third floor drawing other people's pictures when she is such a picture herself? However, we entertain a secret hope that some day this will appear: "Miss Walde Chosen Typical American Beauty by Famous Artists."

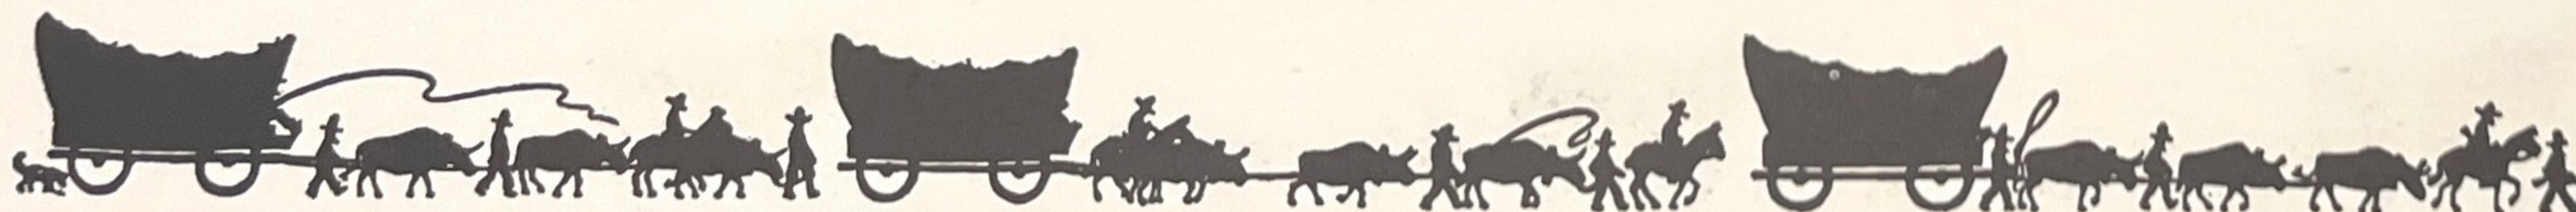

Glee Club '24, '25; Math Club '24, '25; Honor Roll '25; Basketball '24, '25.

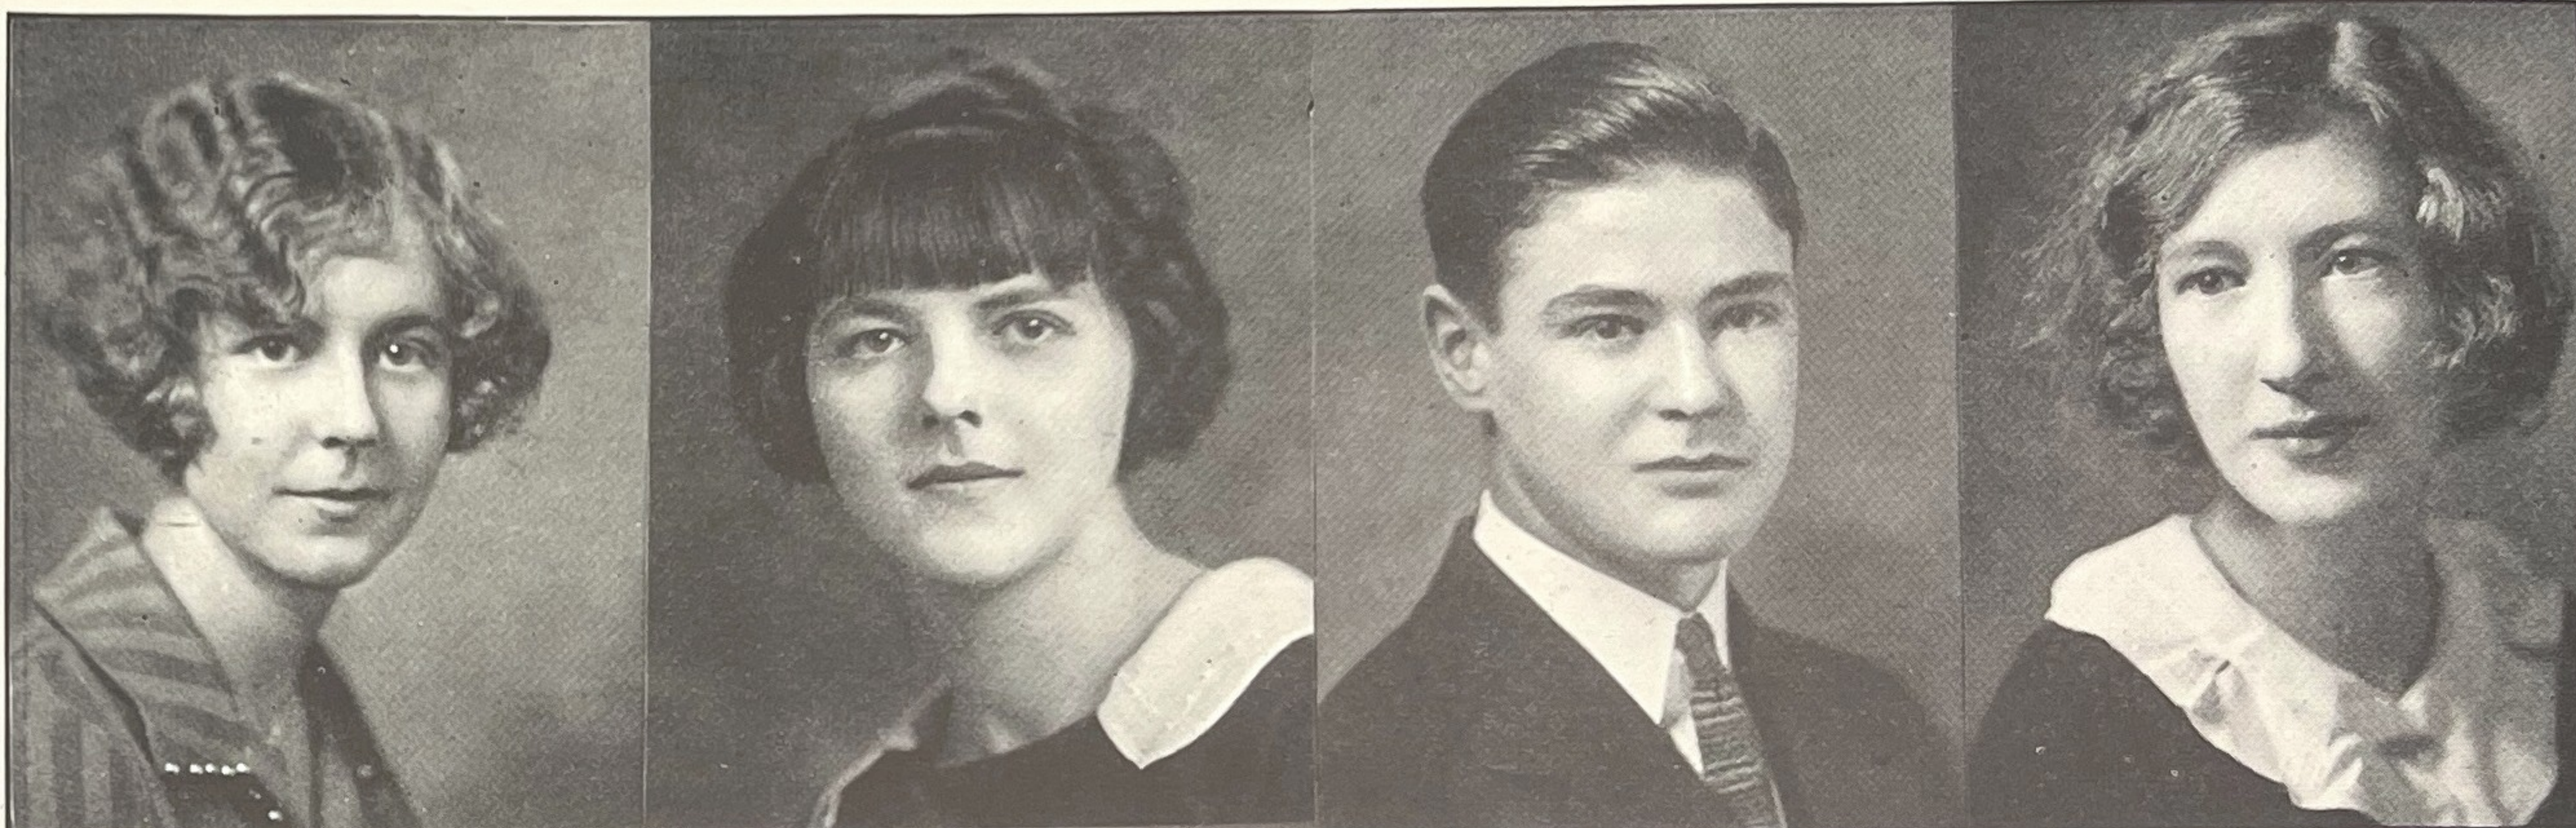

Frances is the girl with the eyelashes, the Byronic bob, and the sweet smile. (Hackneyed as that work "sweet" is, it does describe the smile in question.) For the rest, she's graduating in three and a half years, and making "Es" right and left. And she's very nice.

Cadets '23; Glee Club '23; Lightweight Football '24 ("LWW"); Math Club '25; Honor Roll '24, '25.

George is one of those dashing young midshipmen—to-be—and if his present marks and the fact that he had the highest general average among the cadet privates, during the year he was in, mean anything, he will lead his class at Annapolis. Unfortunately his activities have been curtailed due to the fact that he is a three-and-a-half year man.

Chester has been one of the high-lights of Western for a considerable period, dating from his debut as a football star. An especially astute individual might ascertain after a brief conversation with Chester that he is not among the set of General Sherman's greatest admirers, while for the same reason he is as polished and cultivated a gentleman as anyone obtainable.

VIVIAN WARD

VELDA WATKINS

FLETCHER WATSON

JEAN WATSON

*Rifle Team '23, '24; Hockey '23;
Glee Club '23; "Western Breeze"
Staff '25.*

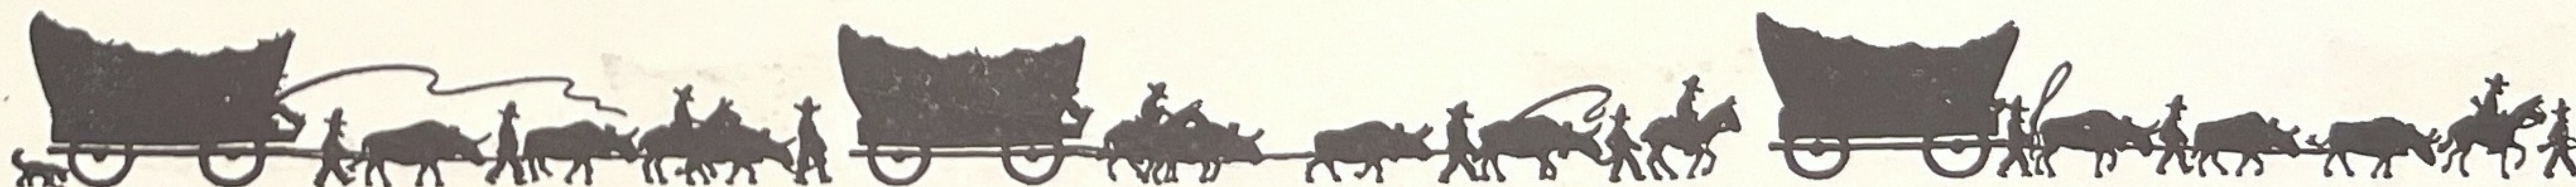

No more will we see that curly, blonde head bobbing through the halls; no more will those baby-blue eyes, sparkling with fun, throw numberless and nameless cadets into throes, trances, and fits of alternate dejection and sublimity. Vivian is leaving us! Surely no other object will ever be found so worthy of the admiration lavished on her by our diminutive army.

Alexandria High is responsible for Velda's training up to last year, but we feel that not that worthy school so much as Velda herself has made her what she is. She is interested in athletics, but the great distance of school from her home, together with her all too brief sojourn at Western, have curtailed her activity.

The only boy in captivity who can speak Spanish with a southern accent and get "Excellent." If everyone took as long as Fletcher to answer the roll call the class would certainly never get anywhere. He comes from Virginia, which probably accounts for his contagious southern drawl.

*Track '24; Dramatic Association
'25; Glee Club '24, '25; Debating Society '25; Basketball '25; "Patricia" '25.*

Jean is an enthusiastic participant not only in athletics, but in many other school activities. She is a cheerful, conscientious worker and just the kind of girl to have for one's best friend. She is such a good student that she has completed the course at Western in three years.

MARIAN WHALEY

Glee Club '25.

Marian, our dark-haired, blue-eyed friend from far-off Texas, is another of those girls who have won our hearts. She always has a word and a captivating smile for all (the boys not excluded). We have only had her with us for one year.

MARIAN WHEELER

Baseball '23 ("W"); Basketball '24 (H. M.), '25 ("W"); "W" Club '23, '24, '25.

This is one of Western's most famous female phenomena. In the realm of girls' athletics she is what Evvy Burke was among the boys. Her work behind the stick as backstop to the indomitable Rixey has been especially noteworthy, while her successful method of basket-tossing spells the Waterloo of all opponents.

GLADYS WISEMAN

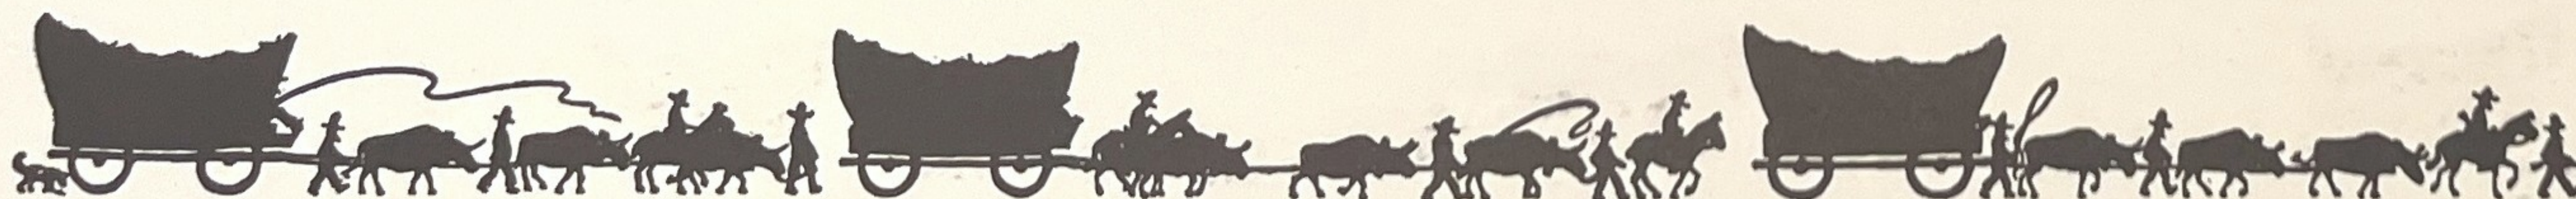

Hockey '25 (Manager); Basketball '25.

Gladys, in spite of her dreamy brown eyes and serious air, is always full of fun, and can usually be found among a group of amused friends. However, she can be very studious, as her wonderful marks in Math and Latin have proved. Her plans for the future are uncertain, but we know she will succeed in whatever she undertakes.

WILLIAM WOODWARD

Bill came to us in his senior year from New Rochelle High School. He has not had much time to show us how fast he can run, although he was on the track team at New Rochelle for three years. We feel sure Nurmi will have a new rival soon.

Organizations

A black and white cartoon illustration depicting a horse-drawn wagon labeled "WESTERN" filled with students from various organizations. A student stands on top of the wagon, holding a hat labeled "STUDENT COMMITTEE". Other students are seated or standing inside the wagon, each holding a hat with a different organization's name: "ATHLETIC CLUB", "FARMER", "P.E.", "FRAT. CLUB", "GOLF CLUB", "GERMAN CLUB", "RADIO CLUB", "ARTS CLUB", and "DANCE CLUB". One student is running alongside the wagon, also holding a hat labeled "ATHLETIC". The scene is set in a desert landscape with mountains in the background. The artist's signature "C. dev. Werneke" is visible in the bottom right corner.

Student Committee

According to the chairman of the first Student Committee of Western, "the first successful step ever advanced at Western toward student cooperation was taken on January 2, 1922, when Dr. Newton called the representatives of all school activities into the office to discuss the formation of a Student Committee." This committee is representative of all phases of school life, as its members include presidents of all recognized school organizations, the officers of the Senior Class, the captains of all major athletic teams, major and captains of Cadets, editors-in-chief of The Breeze and Westerner, managers of the girls' hockey and basketball teams, and duly elected representatives of the Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman classes. These last were provided for only last year in order to insure representation for the three lower classes from whose ranks the officers eligible for membership are rarely, if ever, drawn.

The committee organized in the fall of this school year with David Auld chairman and Sue Birnie secretary. Meetings were held on Tuesdays at the close of school in Dr. Newton's office and various matters of school business were discussed.

The campaign for a school ring, which was very efficiently and successfully conducted, ranks among the most important accomplishments of the year. A permanent ring for Western was selected by a committee composed of officers of the Senior Class, David Auld, president of the Student Committee, and Sue Birnie, chairman of the entire group.

Art Club

The Western Art Club came into existence in 1921, and it has been growing "bigger and better" ever since. The object of the club is to promote the appreciation of art in every field, and each meeting has been in some way instructive as well as entertaining.

This year, for the first time, the club meetings have been held at the homes of members. Such meetings, which have taken place every other Wednesday, were made most interesting by talks given on the lives and works of painters and sculptors.

Many new members were admitted to the club during the year, after having submitted suitable drawings which were passed on by a committee of judges appointed for that purpose. Initiation day will long be remembered by the old as well as the new members.

Capable officers have superintended the work of the Art Club this year. Those elected for the first semester were: Nan Surface, president; Alice Graham, vice-president; Verna Darr, secretary; and Mary Phelan, treasurer. Those for the second semester were: Alice Love, president; Sarah Brown, vice-president; Harriet Rhodes, secretary; and Verna Darr, treasurer.

Since many of the members have attended classes in the afternoon school, it has been difficult for the club to visit many art exhibits; but small groups have faithfully attended and enjoyed them. In spite of the difficulty of arranging a convenient time, the annual spring trip to Walter's Gallery in Baltimore was made.

In January, a very successful dance was given by the club at Alice Love's home.

El Circulo Castellano

It was through the efforts of Mr. Devitt, a former teacher at Western, that the Spanish Club was first organized in 1921 to help Spanish students become more familiar with conversational Spanish and with things connected with Spain. In 1925 the club was reorganized under a new name.

Membership was at first limited to those who had had at least one year of Spanish; but later any interested and deserving person, taking at that time only his first year of Spanish, was also admitted upon application.

The officers elected for this year were: Rae Lewis, president; Frances Symonds, vice-president; and Stuart New Myer, secretary-treasurer. Miss Brewer and Mrs. Cade are the faculty advisers and have faithfully attended all the meetings.

Much has been accomplished by the club this year. Programs of varied interest have been presented at the meetings of the club, held on every third Friday, at the homes of the members. Short plays have been given; persons of prominence in Washington have addressed the club in Spanish; Spanish music has been rendered; and paintings and authors of Spain have been studied and discussed, with the exhibition also of some examples of their art. The club has also studied such large and interesting states as Mexico, Brazil, Peru, Argentina, and Chile, and their leading cities.

During the Christmas holidays a delightful dance was given by the club.

Debating Society

In order to further interest and proficiency in debating, the members of Western High School's Debating Society of nineteen hundred and twenty-five have worked hard and diligently throughout the year. The policy this year has been to take in underclassmen, train them in the elements of debating, give them as much training and practice in debating as possible, and finally turn out a finished debator who will be able to uphold the standards set by this year's society and by those which have preceded it.

Under a new amendment to the constitution the president for the following year was elected last June. Sue Birnie, having been elected by the society for 1924, called the first meeting on October 10, for the election of the other officers. At this meeting George Gibbs was elected vice-president; Alice Graham, secretary, and Jack Whitwell, Treasurer.

This year, for the first time in a number of years, the Debating Society has had pins. A small gold gavel mounted on a red and white scroll is the emblem of the present society. In addition a small gold "D" is given for having taken part in a public debate.

The second semester, Miss Birnie was unanimously re-elected. Mary K. Lutz was chosen vice-president; Duncan Clark, secretary; and Alice Graham, treasurer. A challenge was sent to Emerson Institute, but the debate did not materialize. In closing, the Society wishes to thank Miss Rice, faculty adviser, for her help and advice.

Dramatic Association

Early in October, the Western High School Dramatic Association began its work of general organization. Avril Stewart was elected as president, Bernard Nordlinger as vice-president, Virginia Brant as secretary, and Shaler Stidham as treasurer.

Several tryouts were held for the admission of both boys and girls, and as more responded than could possibly be admitted, the cream of the school's actors and actresses was secured. The great number of candidates prevented many deserving ones from admission, as the full membership quota is sixty.

Under the leadership of the senior members, groups were chosen, and throughout the year many successful plays were presented by them.

In February new officers were elected. Avril Stewart was again honored with the presidency, while Stuart New Myer, Mary Katherine Lutz, and Samuel Levering were selected to fill the positions of vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively.

Weekly programs were held in the Assembly Hall with Miss Margaret Merrill, the faculty adviser and critic. Later Miss Merrill, taking a year's leave of absence, left her position to Miss Houghton, who very ably filled it.

On Saturday, May 9, the association presented "Too Much Bobbie," "Miss Civilization," and "The Queen's Enemies." These were among the last presentations in the old hall.

En Avant

Applying its motto, "Forward," En Avant was the first club to reorganize this year. Three weeks after the opening of school, definite work of the year was begun under the able guidance of the officers: Barbara Miller, president; Bennett Durand, vice-president; Cornelia Busick, secretary; and Wade Safford, treasurer. This same staff was retained through both semesters with the exception of the vice-president, who resigned. His position was filled by James Bradley.

Charming bi-weekly meetings were held at the homes of individual members under the direction of Madame Bimont, founder and "Patron Saint" of En Avant. Each reunion consisted of the presentation of a program including skits, poems, short plays and songs, and the discussion of some famous French personage, work of art, or city, followed by refreshments and informal games tout etant en francais. The success and interest of each program was largely due to the untiring efforts of Frances Fort, who strove always to afford a variety of amusement and instruction.

The actual work accomplished during 1925 was remarkable. In the fall, a group of the most active members took part in the "Soiree Francaise" given by Madame Bimont for the French war orphans. The enthusiasm aroused by the success of this debut served as an inspiration for the later activities. At Christmas, the annual bit toward charity was contributed in the form of toys and clothing for an unfortunate family of nine children. The next event of importance was the presentation of a souvenir book to Madame Jusserand, containing personal sentiments of the members of En Avant.

Fencing Club

In the latter part of 1923, Mary Elizabeth Brigham and Mary Phelan organized a small group of girls to take fencing lessons. Professor Lanzilli was their instructor.

At the beginning of the new school year the club was reorganized as a school organization and Miss Myers became its faculty adviser. Although many members of the Fencing Club were graduated in the class of 1924, a class was again formed with many new members. In the hope that fencing would become one of the permanent activities of Western High School, a class of Freshmen and Sophomores was formed. All the classes were given the insignia, crossed foils with a saber in the center on a background of red.

A competitive contest was staged on April 23 in the Professor's Studio in which participated the four best fencers: Allee Flanagan, Josephine Stevens, Nan Surface, and Lucille Weber, the last two tied for first place, and were both awarded their "W"s. Mary Phelan won her "W" because of two years' successful management of the team as well as for her excellent fencing. Since the contest was so close, it was felt that Allee Flanagan and Josephine Stevens deserved some recognition and therefore were presented with their "F"s.

The first outside match in which the Western High School team took part was an exhibition with George Washington University. Next year more matches may be arranged, as the schools and colleges are just beginning to realize the many benefits derived from the ancient sport of fencing.

Glee Clubs

The Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs have made a fine record this year. To promote general interest in music is the aim of the clubs, the membership of which has been larger than in any previous year. A roll-call of sixty-six members shows a decided interest on the part of the student body in the activities of the clubs, and as the requirements—a reasonably good voice and interest in music—have been met, Western is realizing the value of her Glee Clubs.

Under the direction of the faculty adviser, Miss Lucy G. Lynch, the organizations successfully presented the operetta "Patricia" on three nights. Besides the usual Wednesday meetings, this performance occasioned daily rehearsals.

The officers for both semesters were Ruth Miller and Theodore Hall, presidents; vice-presidents, Cornelia Busick and Kenneth Smoot; secretaries, Lois Hedrick and Tyler Page; treasurers, Stuart New Myer and Barrett Fuchs; and librarians, Rae Lewis and George Hageage. The treasury of the clubs, through the dues, twenty-five cents a year, and the admissions from "Patricia," was overflowing at the end of the term and the clubs decided to give an advertisement to the Year Book, besides loaning the remainder to Dr. Newton to be used in any way he desires. Next year this fund will probably be used to decorate the music room in the new building, which will make the music courses much more interesting.

Gluck Auf

In September, 1924, Gluck Auf, the German club of Western, inaugurated its second year, which has been very successful. Kenneth Smoot was elected president, Rae Lewis vice-president, and Wade Safford secretary-treasurer. The first meeting took the form of a birthday party, with all the customary pomp and ceremony, including a birthday cake with one large candle. During the first semester, German cities were the subjects of the various meetings. Pictures were exhibited and interesting reports were given. At one of the meetings, Miss Rose Stutz gave an interesting account of her stay in Vienna. Another of the meetings was made particularly delightful by the rendition of a musical program from works of German composers.

Wade Safford was chosen president of Gluck Auf for the second semester with Benjamin Dyer as vice-president and Bennet Durand as secretary-treasurer. All of the meetings of the year were held at the homes of members. Many German songs were learned and sung, and German games were played. German was at all times spoken at the meetings. As this is only the second year of the existence of a German club after an interval of several years, the administrations are to be particularly commended for keeping alive the spirit of the new enterprise.

Mandolin Club

On September 12, 1924, the Banjo and Mandolin Club was reestablished at Western High School. An organization created mainly for the amusement of its members and the benefits derived from personal contact between students, the Banjo-Mandolin Club elected no officers and carried on no extensive programs. All Westerners who owned and were able to play any stringed instrument were offered the opportunity to join.

Every Friday after 12:30 the banjoists would be heard in the Assembly Hall practicing with unabating fervor, any musical composition that happened to appeal to them. Every student at Western can tell how enjoyable these impromptu programs were.

Miss Lynch kindly consented to supervise and instruct the banjoists. In the "Alabama Minstrels" the Mandolin Club showed how much it had profited by its practice and instruction.

Mathematics Club

The youngest of the Western club family, was established December 11, 1924, with the assistance of Miss Thompson's pupils, and later others joined. It is the only club of its kind in the Washington high schools, except the Engineers Club at McKinley. Many people thought Math too prosaic a subject for interest, but the membership, now over thirty, has disproved this. Anyone having completed four semesters of Math and elected a fifth is eligible for membership. The object of the club is to stimulate interest in Math.

The officers for the first semester under whom the club was organized were: Arthur Kimball, president; Helen Goodner, vice-president; Elizabeth Zalesky, secretary-treasurer; and Duncan Clark, sergeant-at-arms. Second semester officers were: Helen Goodner, president; Philip Herrick, vice-president; Frank Weitzel, secretary-treasurer; and Winton Elliott, sergeant-at-arms.

Business meetings were held Tuesdays in the small Physics Lab. Under the direction of Miss Thompson, the able faculty adviser, the slide rule and its use in the solution of triangles and proportions were studied. Simple trigonometry was taken up for those who would need it in College Entrance exams, and the lives of great mathematicians were also studied. At the monthly social meetings much entertainment was obtained from mathematical puzzles, games, etc.

E. May, O. Beerbower, J. Bogley, F. Doyle, V. Evans, F. Green, A. Huffman, B. Hughes, G. Hunter, K. Leedom, R. MacArthur, R. Moore, J. Moreno, M. Pendleton, M. Perrill, P. Porcallo, A. Randall, W. Stanley, J. Steele, R. Facker, J. Westbrook, E. Hulburt, I. Tillotson, F. Westbrook, G. Wimsatt.

The Western High School Orchestra

Early in 1920, Mrs. Byram, at present musical director of Eastern High School, organized the Western orchestra, which has flourished ever since.

In order to become a member of this organization, one must be proficient in playing some musical instrument. The orchestra now numbers twenty-two members. The officers are as follows: Miss Lynch, director; Earl May, president; and Eleanor Hulburt, vice-president.

On Tuesdays, at twelve-thirty, the orchestra may be heard holding its weekly practice in the Assembly Hall. Despite the difficulties resulting from the building activities during the past year, it has striven to reach the high standard set by orchestras of the past.

Five members will be lost to the orchestra next year because of graduation. However, new material will be available from the incoming class, well qualified to carry on the orchestral efforts of the school. This year the orchestra has labored incessantly and accomplished much. It has furnished music for all school functions, including assemblies and the February Commencement, and played for the presentation of the annual inter-high Cantata, April 25.

This organization deserves much credit for the splendid service it renders the school. We may well be proud of it. The officers and members wish to take this opportunity to extend to the future organizations their best wishes for a successful year; also to thank Miss Lynch for her untiring efforts in making the orchestra what it is today.

Pianists' Club

The Pianists' Club, organized to give pianists further training and a chance to play before each other, was formed in 1922 through the efforts of Arline Gilbert. The only requirement for membership has been that each member must be able to play the piano and contribute to the programs.

The meetings were held bi-monthly, on Thursdays, in the Assembly Hall. During the year the lives and works of Liszt and Chopin were studied with especial care, and the following is one of the many delightful programs: Fourth Invention (Bach), Verna Evans; Minuet Waltz (Chopin), Celia Boley; To Spring (Grieg), Violet Myers; Prelude in G Minor (Rachmaninoff), Inez Tillotson; March of the Dwarfs (Greig), Catherine Smith; French Suite in G Major (Bach), Eleanor Hulbert; Butterfly Etude, Opus 25 (Chopin), Eleanor Hulbert.

Since the club is informal, only one officer, a president, was elected. Eleanor Hulbert held that office this year. Miss Lynch, the faculty adviser, has untiringly given encouragement and cooperation to the members in their excellent work. The club does not have a slogan, but the quotation from Job which says, "The price of musical wisdom is above rubies," would be very fitting for an organization of its kind. There were fourteen members this year, four of whom—Verna Evans, Celia Boley, Ada Volkman, and Inez Tillotson—will be lost by their graduation in June, 1925.

*Front row—J. Bane, E. Forman, Miss Stutz, W. Woodville (President), R. Ballard, M. Pheland.

Studio Club

Early last fall the Studio Club was organized by afternoon pupils who were unable to attend the meetings of the Art Club. Before being admitted, candidates must have a grade of "Excellent" in all art classes, besides possessing talent to a high degree. Any art student at Western is thus qualified for admission if the membership quota of twelve is not already filled.

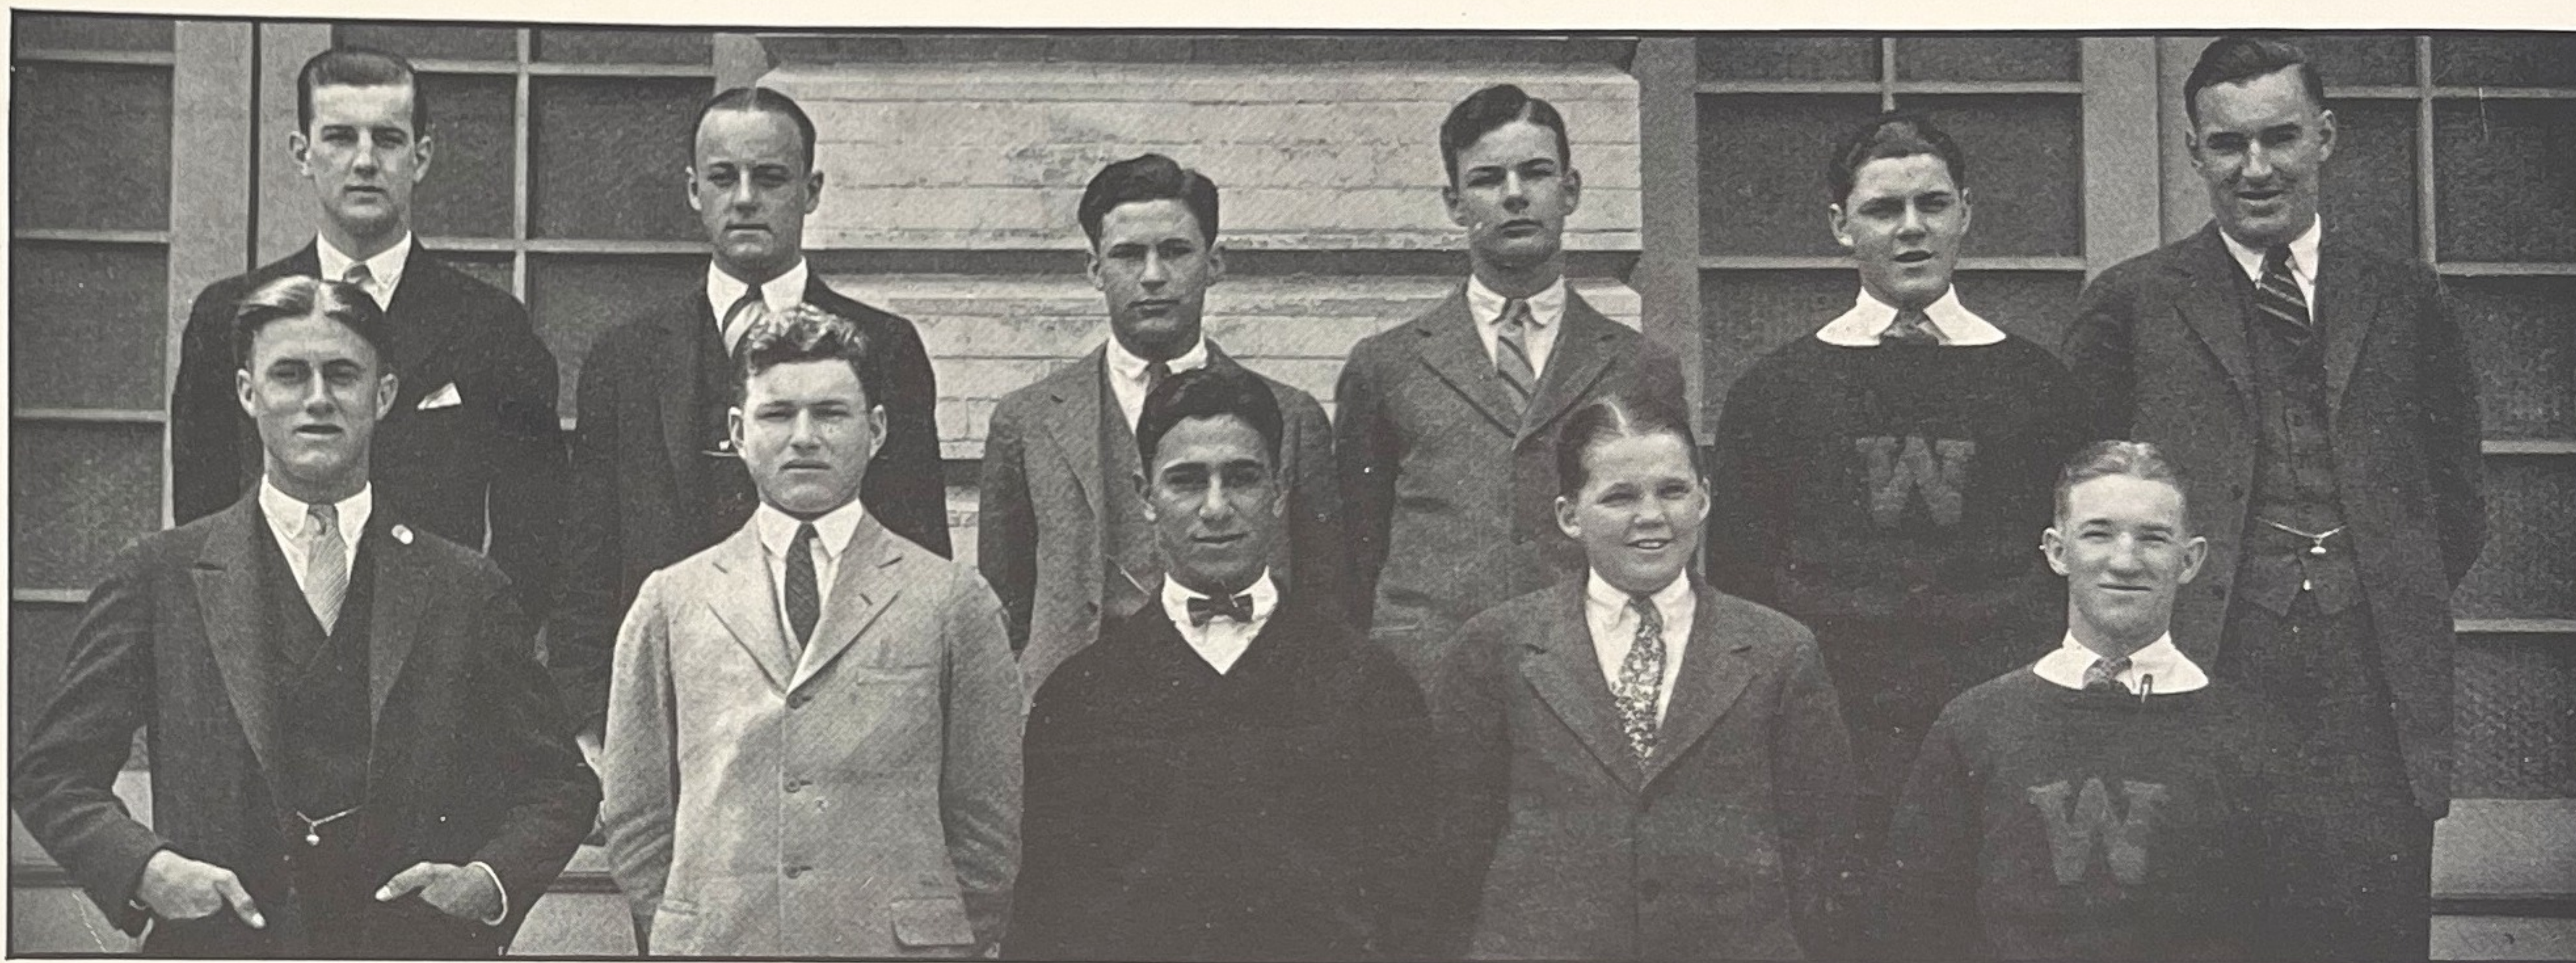

At the weekly meetings, which were held at the homes of the various members, subjects of interest to art students, particularly sketch work, were studied.

At the first election of officers, William Woodville was installed as president, which station he occupied throughout the entire year. Because of a lack of real work for the usual secretary-treasurer and vice-president, none were elected and Mr. Woodville successfully executed the other duties which therefore devolved upon him.

The society made two trips to the local art galleries in order to become more familiar with much discussed exhibits and in this way have really accomplished a great deal.

Miss Foster, Miss Gardner and Miss Rose Stutz, faculty advisers, have done much to further the rapid advance of the Studio Club and each member of this organization deeply appreciates their efforts.

*Back row—Dulin, McDiarmid, Hearn, Batson, Heagy, Mr. Ahern (faculty adviser).

The Boys' "W" Club

Last September the Boys' "W" Club organized for the year 1924-1925. Fendall Alexander was chosen president, Chester Ward vice-president, and Henry Gichner treasurer. Any wearer of a "W" can become a member of the club, but membership is not compulsory.

The first move of the club was toward the enforcement and enlargement of the non-smoking rule. An assembly of all boys was held at which the "Deputies" were authorized to handle all boys caught smoking inside the limits determined by the "W" Club. This greatly reduced the number of cigarettes sold at Baker's.

In February it was decided by our "Deps" that all "Rookies" should wear green ribbons at least six inches long and one inch wide. Rebellious Frosh were frequently publicly chastised on the front lawn, much to the amusement of dignified upper classmen.

The second semester officers were: Ray Garber, president; Albert Heagy, vice-president; James Mitchell, secretary; and George Hageage, sergeant-at-arms.

The members received their letters in the following way:

S. Birnie, E. Barr, B. Booth, E. Bowers, C. Candee, D. Cook, K. Casey, C. Carmichael, L. DuBose, B. Fries, B. Garber, A. Graham, M. Greeley, H. Kerr, M. K. Lutz, L. Linquist, H. McCoughtry, R. Miller, E. Miles, M. O'Daniel, L. Rixey, J. Robinson, H. Sheckells, E. Steele, A. Stewart, J. Turnbull, M. Wheeler, E. Wilson, M. Zeigler, E. Zalesky.

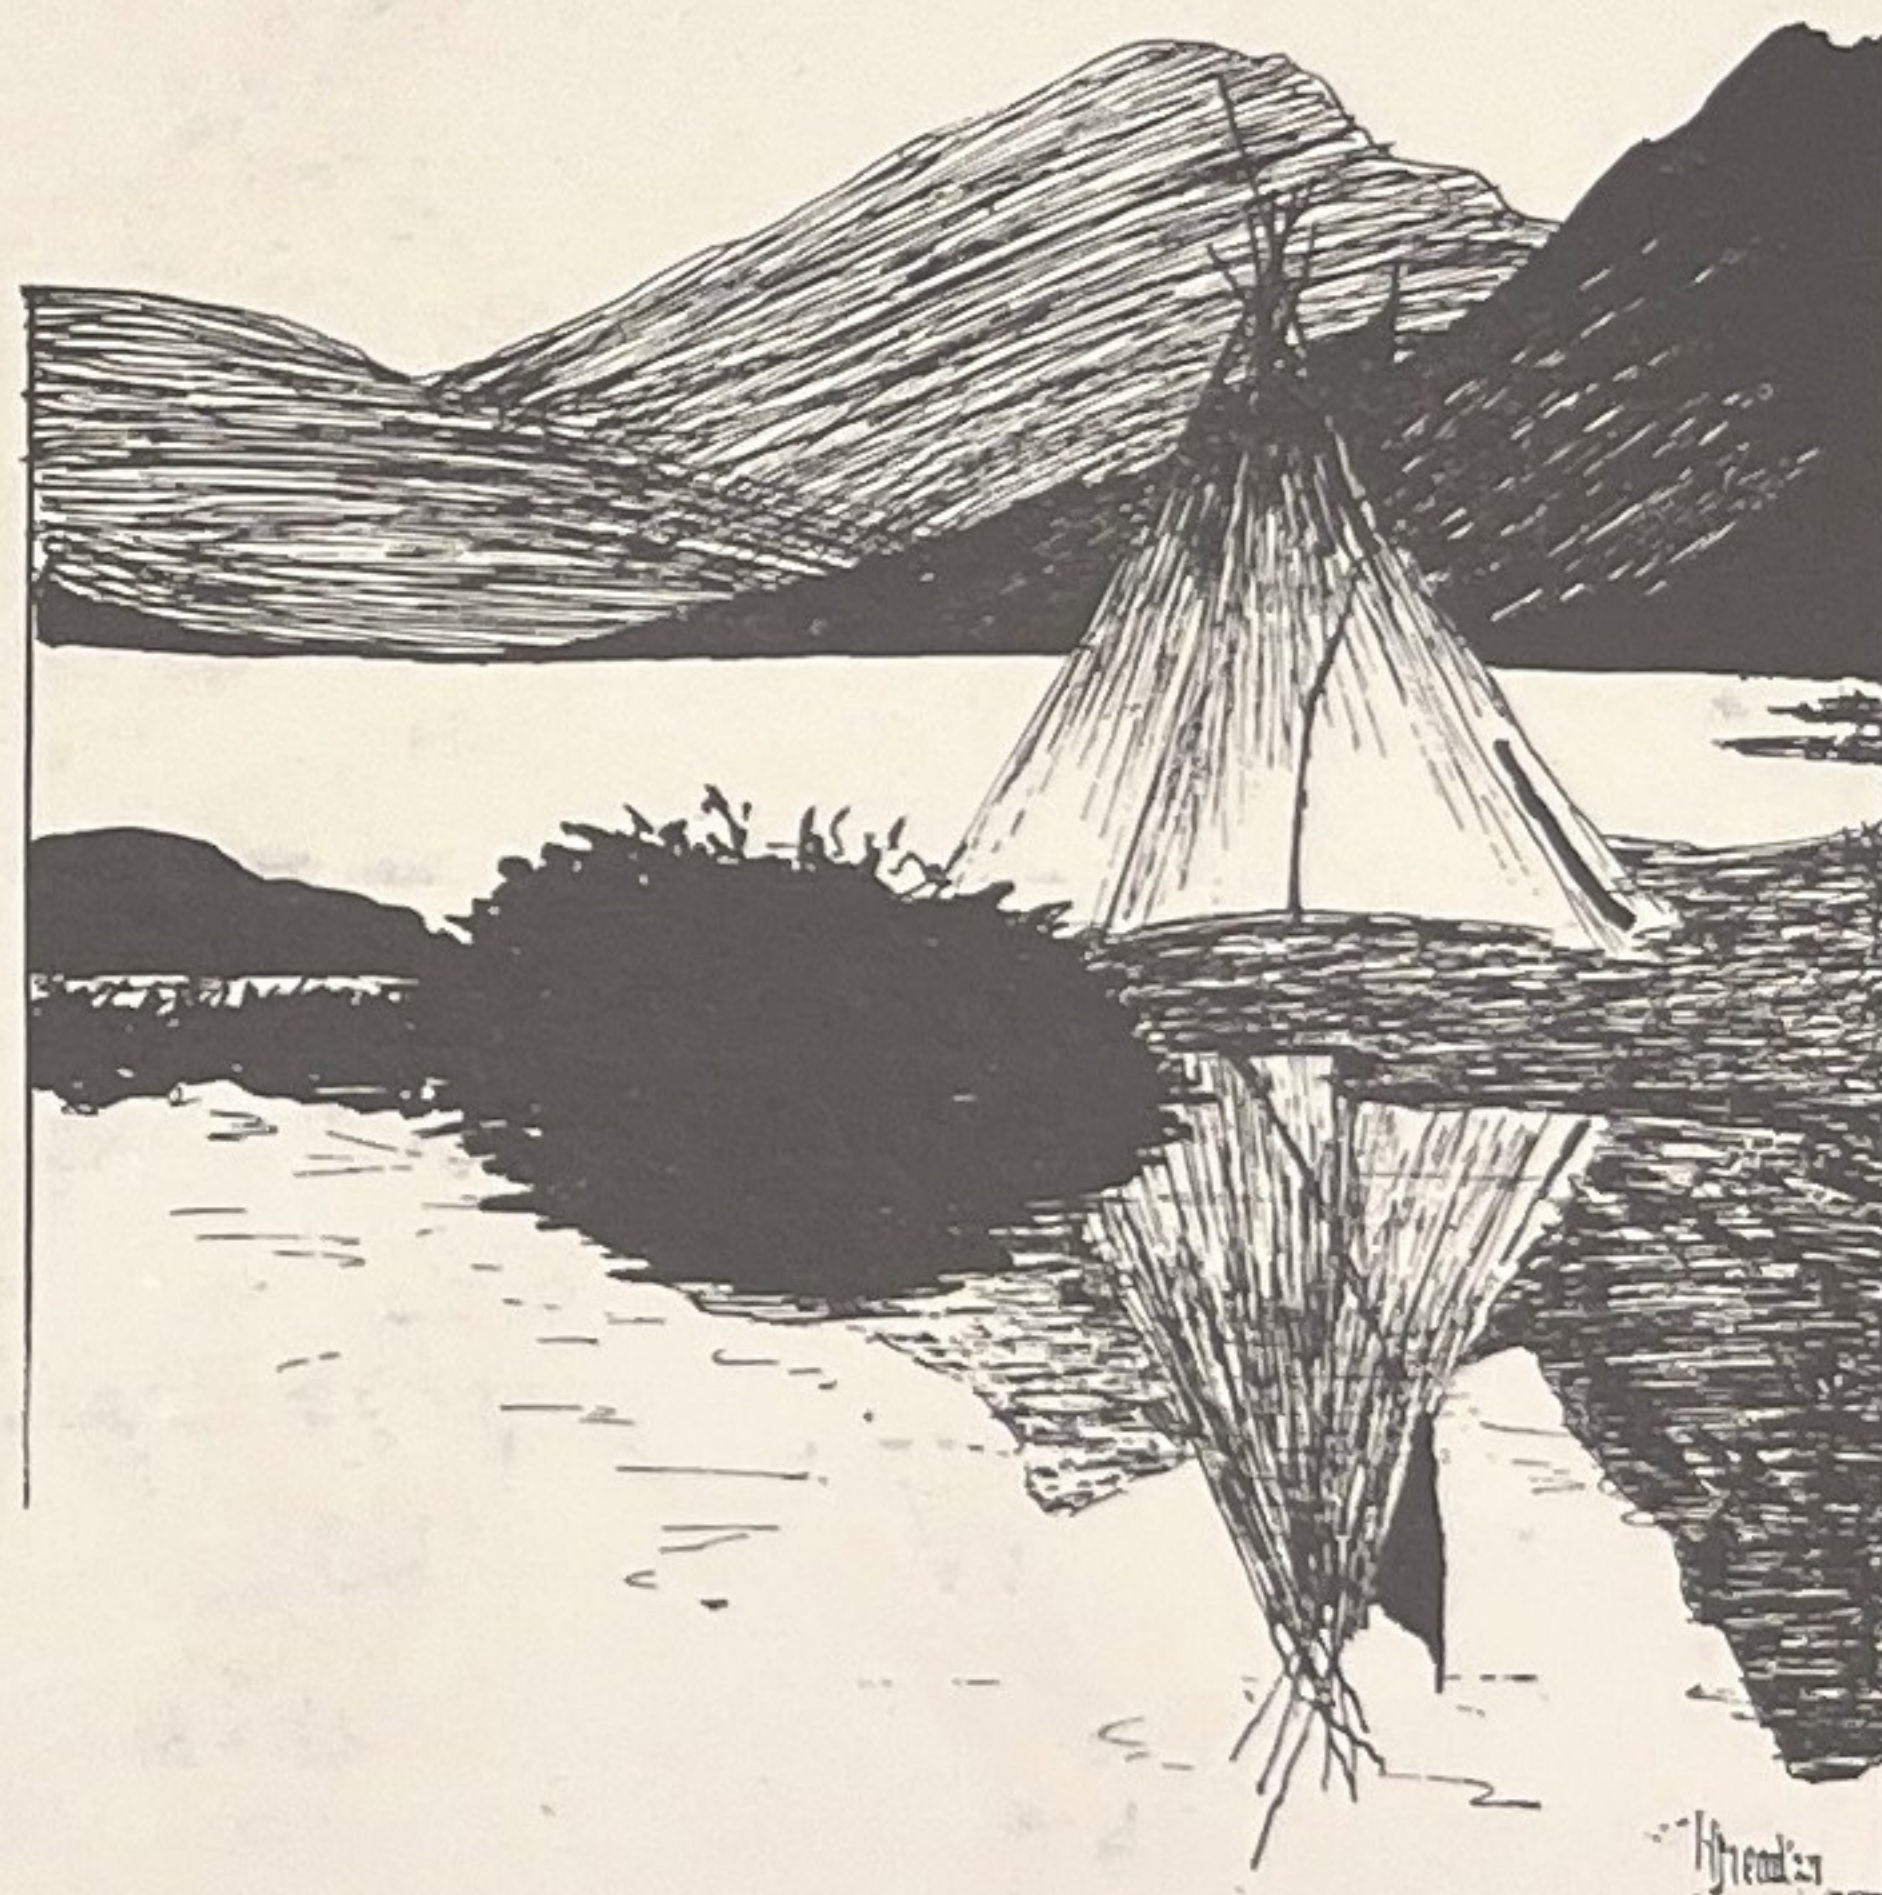

Girls' "W" Club

The Girls' "W" Club was first organized in 1921 under the leadership of Helen Newman. Its purpose is to cooperate with the faculty in furthering school spirit and good sportsmanship at Western; and to be eligible for membership one must, as the name implies, have received a "W."

Early in October, the club was reorganized for this year with twenty names listed on the roll-book. Although Commencement will deprive the organization of ten members, the basket ball and hockey seasons will more than replenish the loss. Officers chosen last October were: Lilian Rixey, president; Ruth Miller, vice-president; Elizabeth Wilson, secretary; and Alice Graham, treasurer. Miss Meyers was again the faculty adviser, and the meetings were held every other Tuesday in her office.

The "W" Club's activities have been many and varied. Inspired by the example of their honored president, the members seized paint and brushes and attacked the dingy lunchroom tables with vigor and determination. The result was miraculous. The once dark and gloomy room was transformed into a second "Child's." The tables, railing, and trash baskets were glistening white. The next step was to don red rubber aprons, creating a true Western atmosphere, and step behind the counter to satisfy the demands of a starving school. The sale of five hundred Western armbands during the football season was the club's next accomplishment.

Dramatics

E. de V. Werneke

Review of Dramatics

1924 - 1925

No more will Western's actors tread the stage of the old Assembly Hall. No more will pupils be gathered there for every celebration. The hall is no longer. When school opens next fall the returning pupils will find that section of the building occupied by offices and a music room. Future gatherings will be held in the beautiful new auditorium, now nearly completed, which will be far superior to the old in every way except one. There will be no memories to make it dear to the hearts of the students.

If an attempt were made to enumerate all of the performances given since the hall was built one might go on forever. The first appearance of the class of '25 on this stage was in an Irish jig. That was way back in the days when scenery was permitted, in the "Hop Along Revue" of '21. The following spring "The Rivals" was presented.

After the vaudeville of '22 a terrible sentence was passed. A curtain and scenery could no longer be used, by order of the fire department. But did this lower the spirits of the actors? It did not, for in the spring when "A Winter's Tale" was given, circular fire-proofed curtains were put up and have been used ever since.

In the fall of '23 the boys presented a very successful Minstrel Show. It was shortly after this that something happened which threatened to end dramatics until the new hall was available. The construction work necessitated closing off over half of the auditorium. Vain protests were made, and all plans for a spring play were given up.

When school opened last fall it was realized that there was little chance of using the new hall for some time. Everyone determined to make the best of the situation. Consequently a group of girls got busy and on the afternoon of December 19 presented "The Alabama Mammies' Refined Minstrel Show," filling the hall to its capacity for three performances.

This was only the beginning, for during the year three evening programs have been given with undoubted success. The Glee Clubs gave a delightful musical comedy, "Patricia." In the early part of May the Dramatic Association and the Public Speaking classes each presented a program of one-act plays.

Rehearsing in opposition to the hammering and other construction noises took much perseverance. But Western spirit cannot be downed and the directors and actors went on undaunted. Almost up to the very day on which alterations were begun the stage was in use. Thus ends the history of our little old Assembly Hall, which has been the scene of many of our greatest trials, yet greatest pleasures.

Alabama Mammies' Refined Minstrels

"Honey, I'se in Town." So said the Alabama Mammies on the eve of a most entertaining presentation of one of their meetings, on December 19, 1924. If you see those words again you will know the Mammies have returned, and if wise, you will not miss the show, for their ability has already been proved.

Their last appearance was on the memorable occasion when "The Sons and Daughters of I Will Arise," "The Daughters of Pharoah," "The Over the River Burial Society," "The Faith, Hope, and Charity Association," and "The Women's Baptist Temperance Union" held their annual meeting.

As the meeting opened the Mammies filed in singing a solemn dirge, "The One-Way Ride," and Deacon Johnson (Betsy Booth) called the gathering to order. Sister Glum (Mary K. Lutz) read the minutes of the last meeting. Then began the regular program.

Many and harmonious were the songs sung by this assemblage. Sis Callie Flucus ("Cootie" Rixey), in particular, demonstrated her vocal ability. "Swing Low Sweet Chari-u-ut," led by Sister Sophronia Saphiro Washington (Anne Gleaves), was both enjoyable and heartrending; while Sister Snowball's songs brought down the house.

Little Liza (Elizabeth Gorman) not only sang but entertained with her dances, three other children joining her in one (H. Kerr, F. Seward, L. DuBose). The music was furnished by the "Runners Up" who also gave several delightful orchestral selections, and "Brother" Hall held the audience spellbound with his bewitching melodies on the steel guitar.

To the same doleful tune to which they had entered, the sisters filed out with bowed heads, Sister Glum bringing up the rear, and the meeting was "abandoned."

"Patricia"

The presentation of the musical comedy, "Patricia," by the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs on April 3 and 4, was undoubtedly a great success; in fact, a third performance was given on April 8 to meet the demand for seats.

The comedy opens with the gathering of the guests for a picnic given by Reggie Montgomery, who soon arrives and presents his friend Miss Incognito, or Patricia, a charming girl and quite the most popular member of the party. No one knows who she is until the very end of the play when Mrs. Montgomery, whose arrival has been intentionally delayed by Reggie, appears and identifies her as the cook. Her erstwhile friends now shun her contemptuously, and for consolation she accepts the marriage proposal of the farmer on whose grounds they are picnicing.

All of the parts were well taken. Lois Hedrick made a charming Patricia, and the proposals of her four admirers were most touching, to the audience at least. Sallie Best, as one of the guests, added much to the life of the play, and Ruth Miller and Ellen Featherstone also took their parts remarkably well. The cast was well selected, both from the point of view of dramatic ability and musical talent.

Much credit for the success of this presentation is due the coaches of the performance: to Miss Lynch, who worked hard for many weeks to perfect the choruses and other songs; to Miss Dessez and Miss Bass, who helped with the directing; to Miss Myers, who arranged the gypsy dances; and to Mrs. Campbell, who plainly proved her ability as a scenery artist by producing a most effective setting in spite of the absence of scenery and curtain.

A Trio of Plays

On the evening of May 9 the Dramatic Association, under the direction of Miss Houghton, presented with great success three one-act plays, including both tragedy and comedy.

The first of the group, "The Queen's Enemies," is set in Egypt and is full of interest and suspense, which was well upheld by the actors. The costumes and lighting effects added much to the performance.

"Too Much Bobbie" kept the audience in a continuous state of mirth. It is a comedy based upon the loss of a little dog, Bobbie. Many comic situations arise due to the disappearance of a neighbor's son of the same name. All the parts were well taken.

The last play, "Miss Civilization," was also a comedy but an entirely different kind. It is about three burglars who are discovered in a robbery by a young lady of the house. By clever conversation she holds them until the police arrive.

Public Speaking Plays

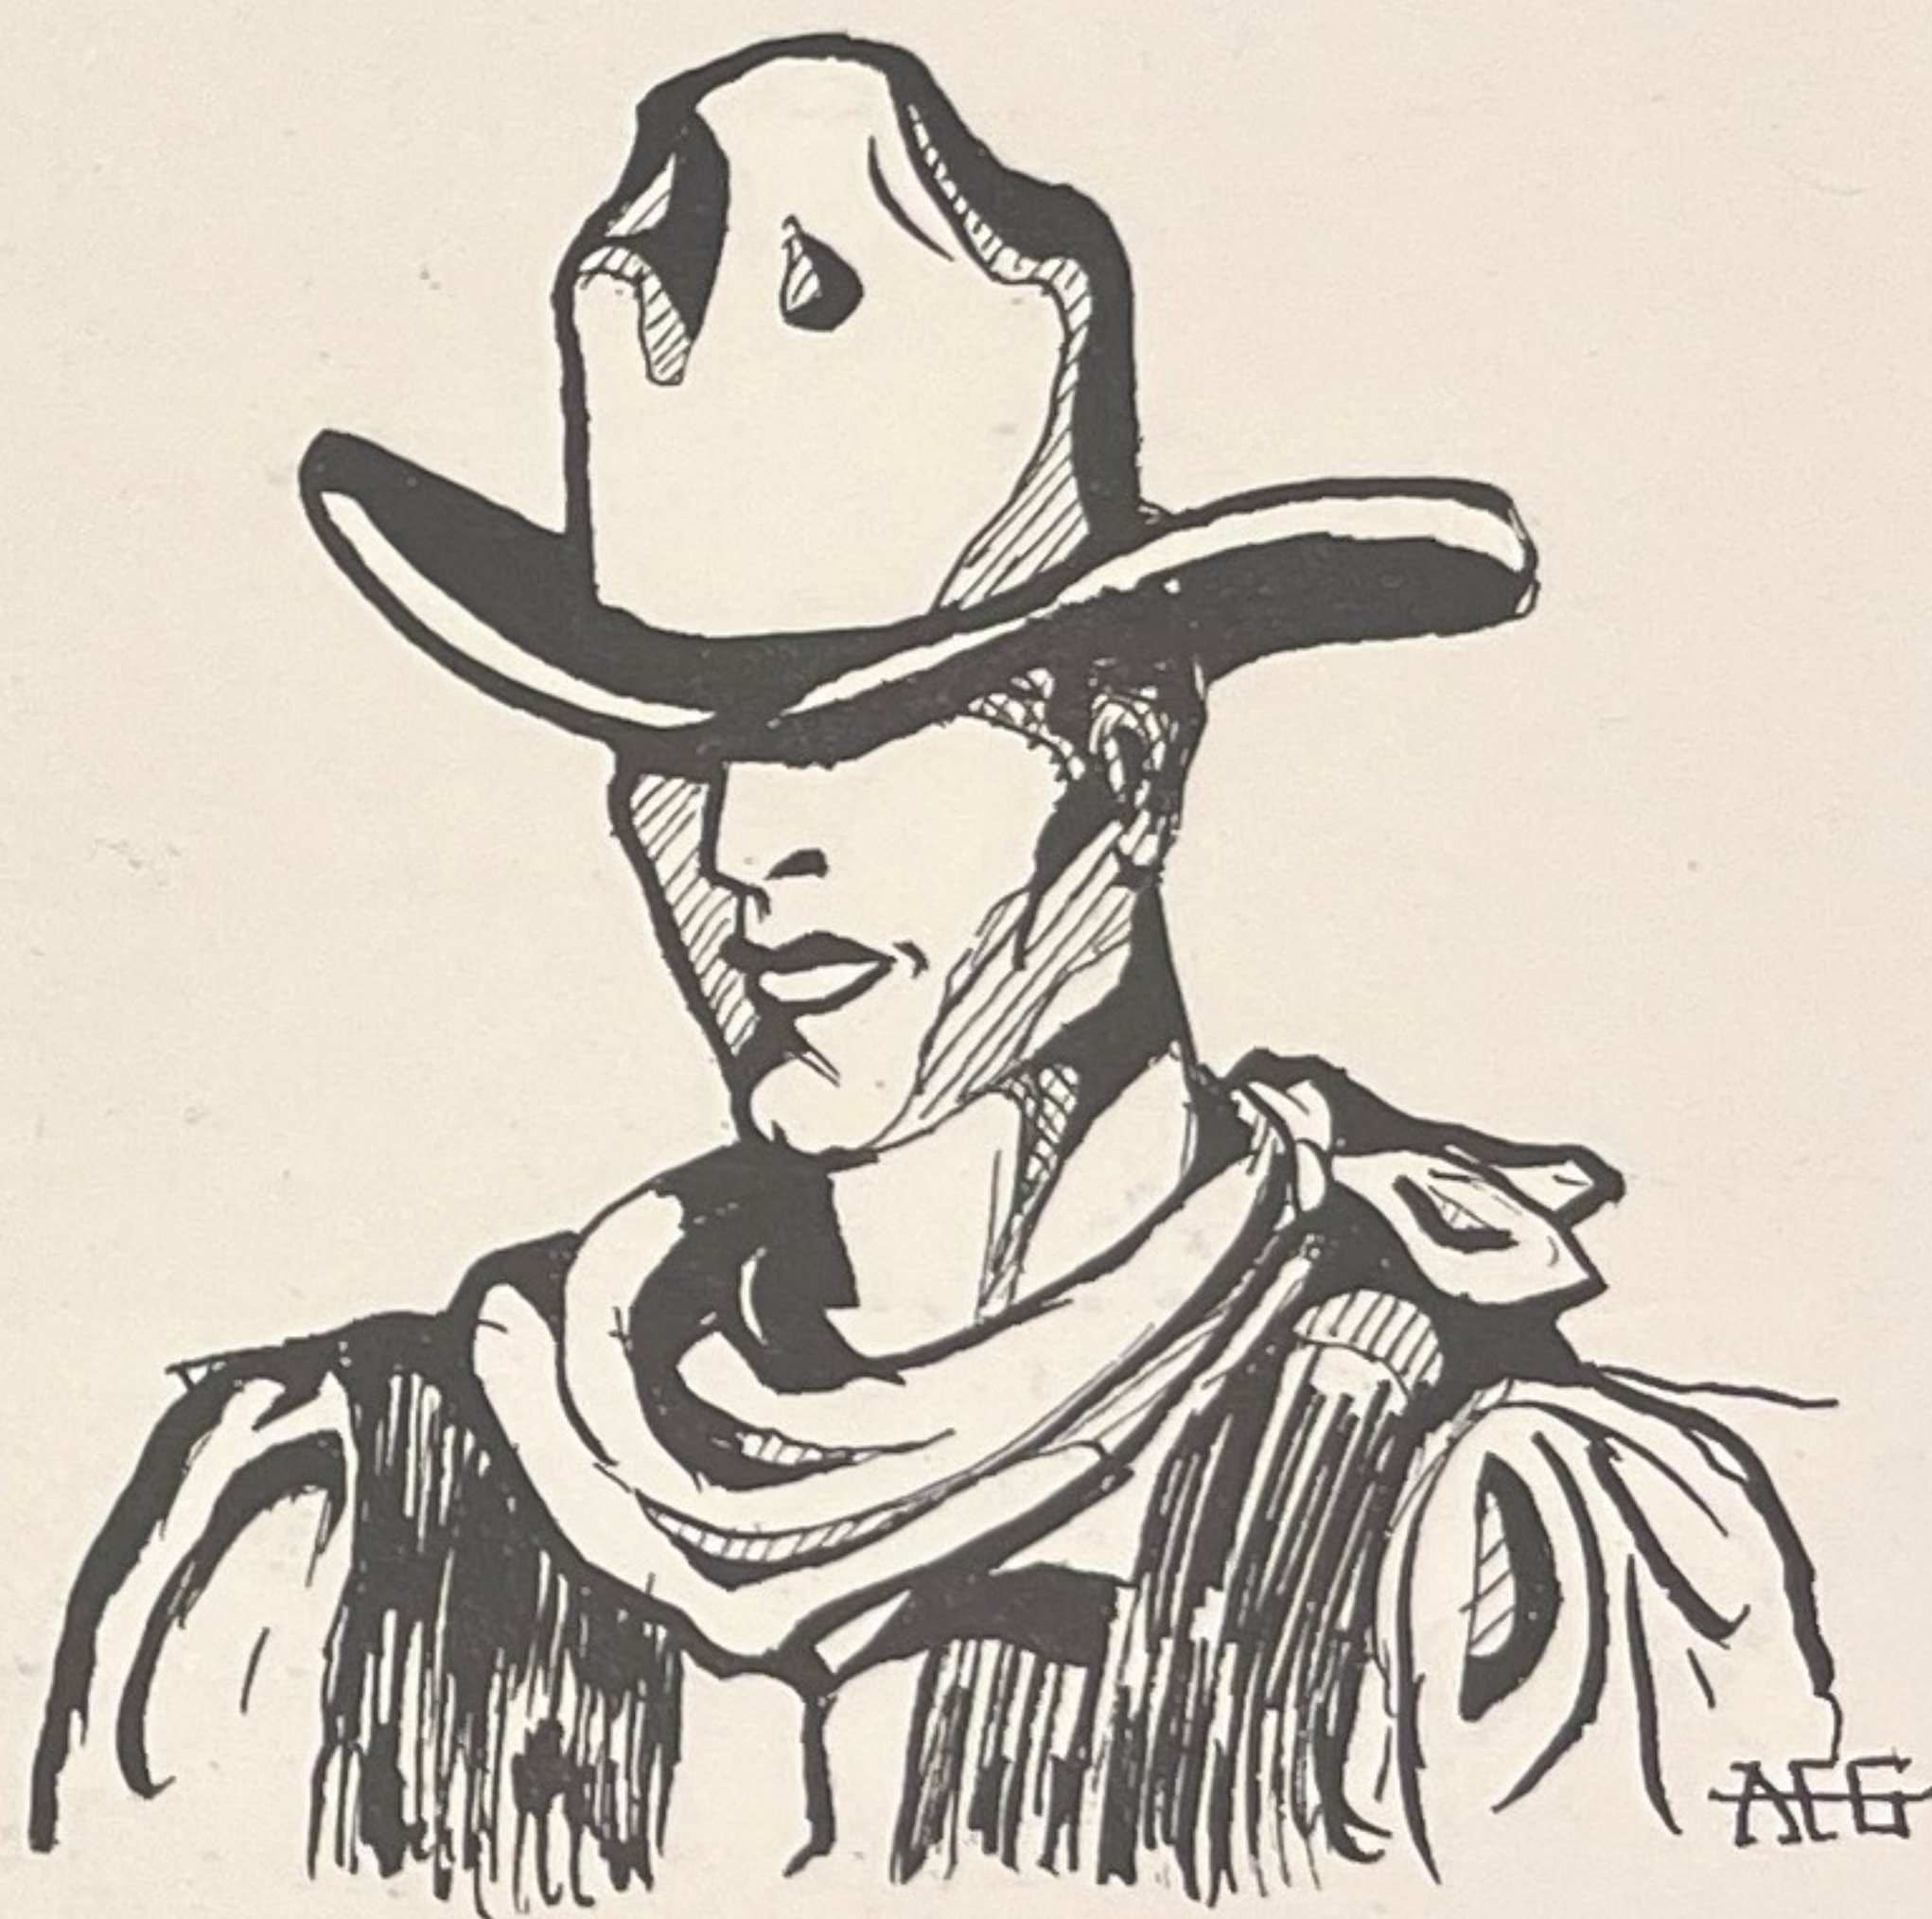

The last performance to be given on the old Western stage was the vaudeville presented by the two public-speaking classes. Miss Gardner coached these plays, adapting them as she saw best. The program consisted of two plays and several song and dance numbers.

"Waiting for the Bus" was changed from an English setting to one with which Westerners are more familiar. The main character, an Irish policeman, was played with undoubted success by Mr. Moore. All of the other parts were also very well cast.

The other play was the first scene of "Make Believe." This is a fairy play, and the costumes and settings were most pleasing.

The song and dance numbers, which were arranged by Elizabeth Gorman, were a decided hit. Much talent, musical and otherwise, was shown by those who took part in these acts.

The Western Breeze

The history of The Western Breeze, the bi-weekly publication of Western High School, is almost as remarkable, and certainly as interesting, as the growth of the school itself. The Breeze in its present form is a comparatively recent innovation, but it is, after all, but the outgrowth of various previous productions.

In the early years of the school, students who were interested in a Western publication organized a staff and produced a magazine "devoted to the interests of Western High School, its pupils and alumni," which was called "The Western." The work was conducted through the medium of the English classes and the members of the staff were chosen by the English teachers. The paper was made up almost entirely of stories and poems, but some space was devoted to school news and editorials; and the whole effect was very interesting.

The magazine continued in very much the same form until the fall of 1919. Then it was decided to make it more of a news organ with a different purpose and name. Accordingly, the English classes were asked to submit names for such a publication and a vote was taken on those handed in. The result was The Western Breeze, but it was somewhat different from the Breeze as we know it. Superficially it resembled a magazine more than a paper, even though it consisted of only four pages; but its content was news and such departments as the Breeze has now.

The school year of 1920-21 saw the four-page sheet develop into an eight-page magazine with more departments, a larger staff, and supported in part by advertisements. (The previous publications were supported entirely by the subscriptions.)

In 1921 the paper was again produced by the Journalism class (which had been in charge the previous year), and this time it was issued in the present form—a regulation size, four-page newspaper with seven columns. It was brought out thus for two years, and after a lapse of one year (1923-1924) was re-established with staff members drawn for the most part from the Senior Class, and thus it has been published throughout the year as the news digest of the school.

The Battalion of 1924-1925

The Third Battalion in the past five years has carved its name in Cadet history. In 1924-25, because of handicaps due to the weather and numerous changes in staff personnel and because of a fourth company, the real ability of the men and officers was tested.

The first drill of the battalion was held on February 15, from which time the men and officers worked heart and soul to develop a winning combination. As the day of the Battalion Competitive drew near, the Third Battalion was several drill days behind others in the Brigade, which necessitated the holding of battalion drills on both days of the week. The splendid spirit shown by the men was equaled only by that of the officers. Here it may be added that the Battalion Drill, while dependent upon the men, is in reality an officers' drill.

On May 6, the Third Battalion won the Battalion Competition for the second consecutive time, by virtue of which Western retains permanently the Craigie Cup. During this year the battalion officers have striven toward this goal and have endeavored to uphold the standards set by previous commanders, a task in itself. To future officers, the Staff of 1925 wills the honor of Western and of the Third Battalion.

Commanding 3rd Batt., 3rd Regt.

It has been the aim of the officers of the Third Battalion, since its formation in 1921, to perfect each unit of the Western Cadet Corps in order to bring the greatest possible glory to the school.

Early in the fall of 1921 Company K became a permanent fixture at Western, completing her first battalion. To Major Maurice Hoffman was given the responsibility of this organization. Immediately upon receiving his command he began the seemingly impossible task of drilling his men, hampered by the ever-increasing number of automobiles which seemed to have a particular fancy for Thirty-fifth Street. However, through the earnest efforts of the Major, the Third Battalion registered its first victory on May 6, 1922.

History of the

The next Cadet year found Western still strongly fortified with "H" "K" and "L," which formed the Third Battalion of the Third Regiment. This year, under the leadership of Major Edwards, the battalion did not place first, but performed creditably in the Competitive.

At the age of three years, the three standby companies once more formed a winning battalion, this year led by Major Robert Burton. At the beginning of this Cadet year the men worked hard to prevent another hostile battalion victory, with the result that the first of May again found the Third Battalion in possession of the flag and cup, and Major Burton richer and prouder by the acquisition of a gold medal, presented him by the judges in reward for the excellent exhibition given by the "Triumphant Third."

When Westerners returned to school in the fall of 1924, they brought with them enough young militarists to insure the formation of a fourth company which was designated as "M." This made the task of developing a winning battalion a more difficult one.

However, after numerous handicaps and setbacks, the men set out upon the task of forming a combination which would be able to carry off the flag for a second consecutive year. April 30 was the date set for the 1925 competition and the battalion was ready to go on the field, when rain caused the postponement of the drill. This same thing happened Monday, May 4.

May 6, however, dawned fair and clear and Western's battalion went on the field under Major Pearce Davis with a do-or-diespirit, carried off the honors for the second successive time and won the Craigie Cup permanently for Western.

Company H

When H Company was organized in October it appeared that the company contained top-notch material. After learning the "School of a Soldier and Squad," rifles were issued. These contributed greatly to the martial appearance of the company. Two non-commissioned officers left school, but their places were easily filled with competent men. Late in March, following the resignation of Manning Hoffman, captain of the company, and three sergeants, the men became disheartened. Never in the history of Western had company commanders been changed so late in the year. The men lost interest. Scarcely enough remained to form a four-squad company. Then the Western spirit flared forth with the return of Hoffman and the former sergeants to the ranks as privates, in order that H Company might have the regular six squads and bring the flag to Western. The company soon appreciated the spirit that prompted former commissioned and non-commissioned officers to drill as privates, and started to fight. By dint of hard work, great progress was made and June second told the result.

The "Extended Order" was executed with such vim and vigor that Company H had to be recognized as one of the chief contenders for the coveted flag. But June second is the supreme test. After that day one company stands first, but the men of H Company have accomplished the big thing at least—that of having the true Western spirit, the kind that enables men to drill no matter what their rank or the condition of the company.

Company L

Early in October, Company L of 1925 was formed under command of Captain David V. Auld, First Lieutenant Glen Herbert, and Second Lieutenant Arthur A. Kimball. An efficient non-commissioned personnel selected by them is as follows: First Sergeant John Henry and Sergeants G. Watson, F. Shields, M. Frazier, and J. Scofield; and Corporals A. Bird, F. Avery, W. Mitchell, R. Kirchmyer, E. Chace, and L. Stowell.

For the past four years Company L has made a record never equaled by any company in the brigade, having won first place once, fourth place once, and second place twice. The aim of every man this year is to better that record. Through the splendid co-operation between officers, non-coms, and privates, the company was rounded into shape with perfect ease. Therefore, when, on February 26, Company L, representing the Third Regiment, by virtue of having won the preliminary competitive, competed with Company C of Central and Company H of Technical, representing the First and Second Regiments respectively, to determine the guard of honor for General Rockenbach at the presentation of commissions, Company L was declared winner.

The War Game Team won the championship of the Third Regiment, by virtue of defeating the teams of Companies H and M at Western and the Staff Team at Eastern, but it lost out in the finals at the hands of Company H of Technical.

The spirit of competition has been kept up in the form of squad neatness and manual of arms competitiveness, thus keeping up the high morale of the company.

Platoon drills have been conducted by the platoon commanders under the supervision of the captain, thus placing the lieutenants on their own initiative to a greater extent than usual.

Company K

In the latter part of October, 1924, over 250 boys gathered on the front lawn. These were the Western Cadets for 1925, an undeveloped, untrained mass of recruits who were divided into four sections, under the command of a group of efficient commissioned and noncommissioned officers.

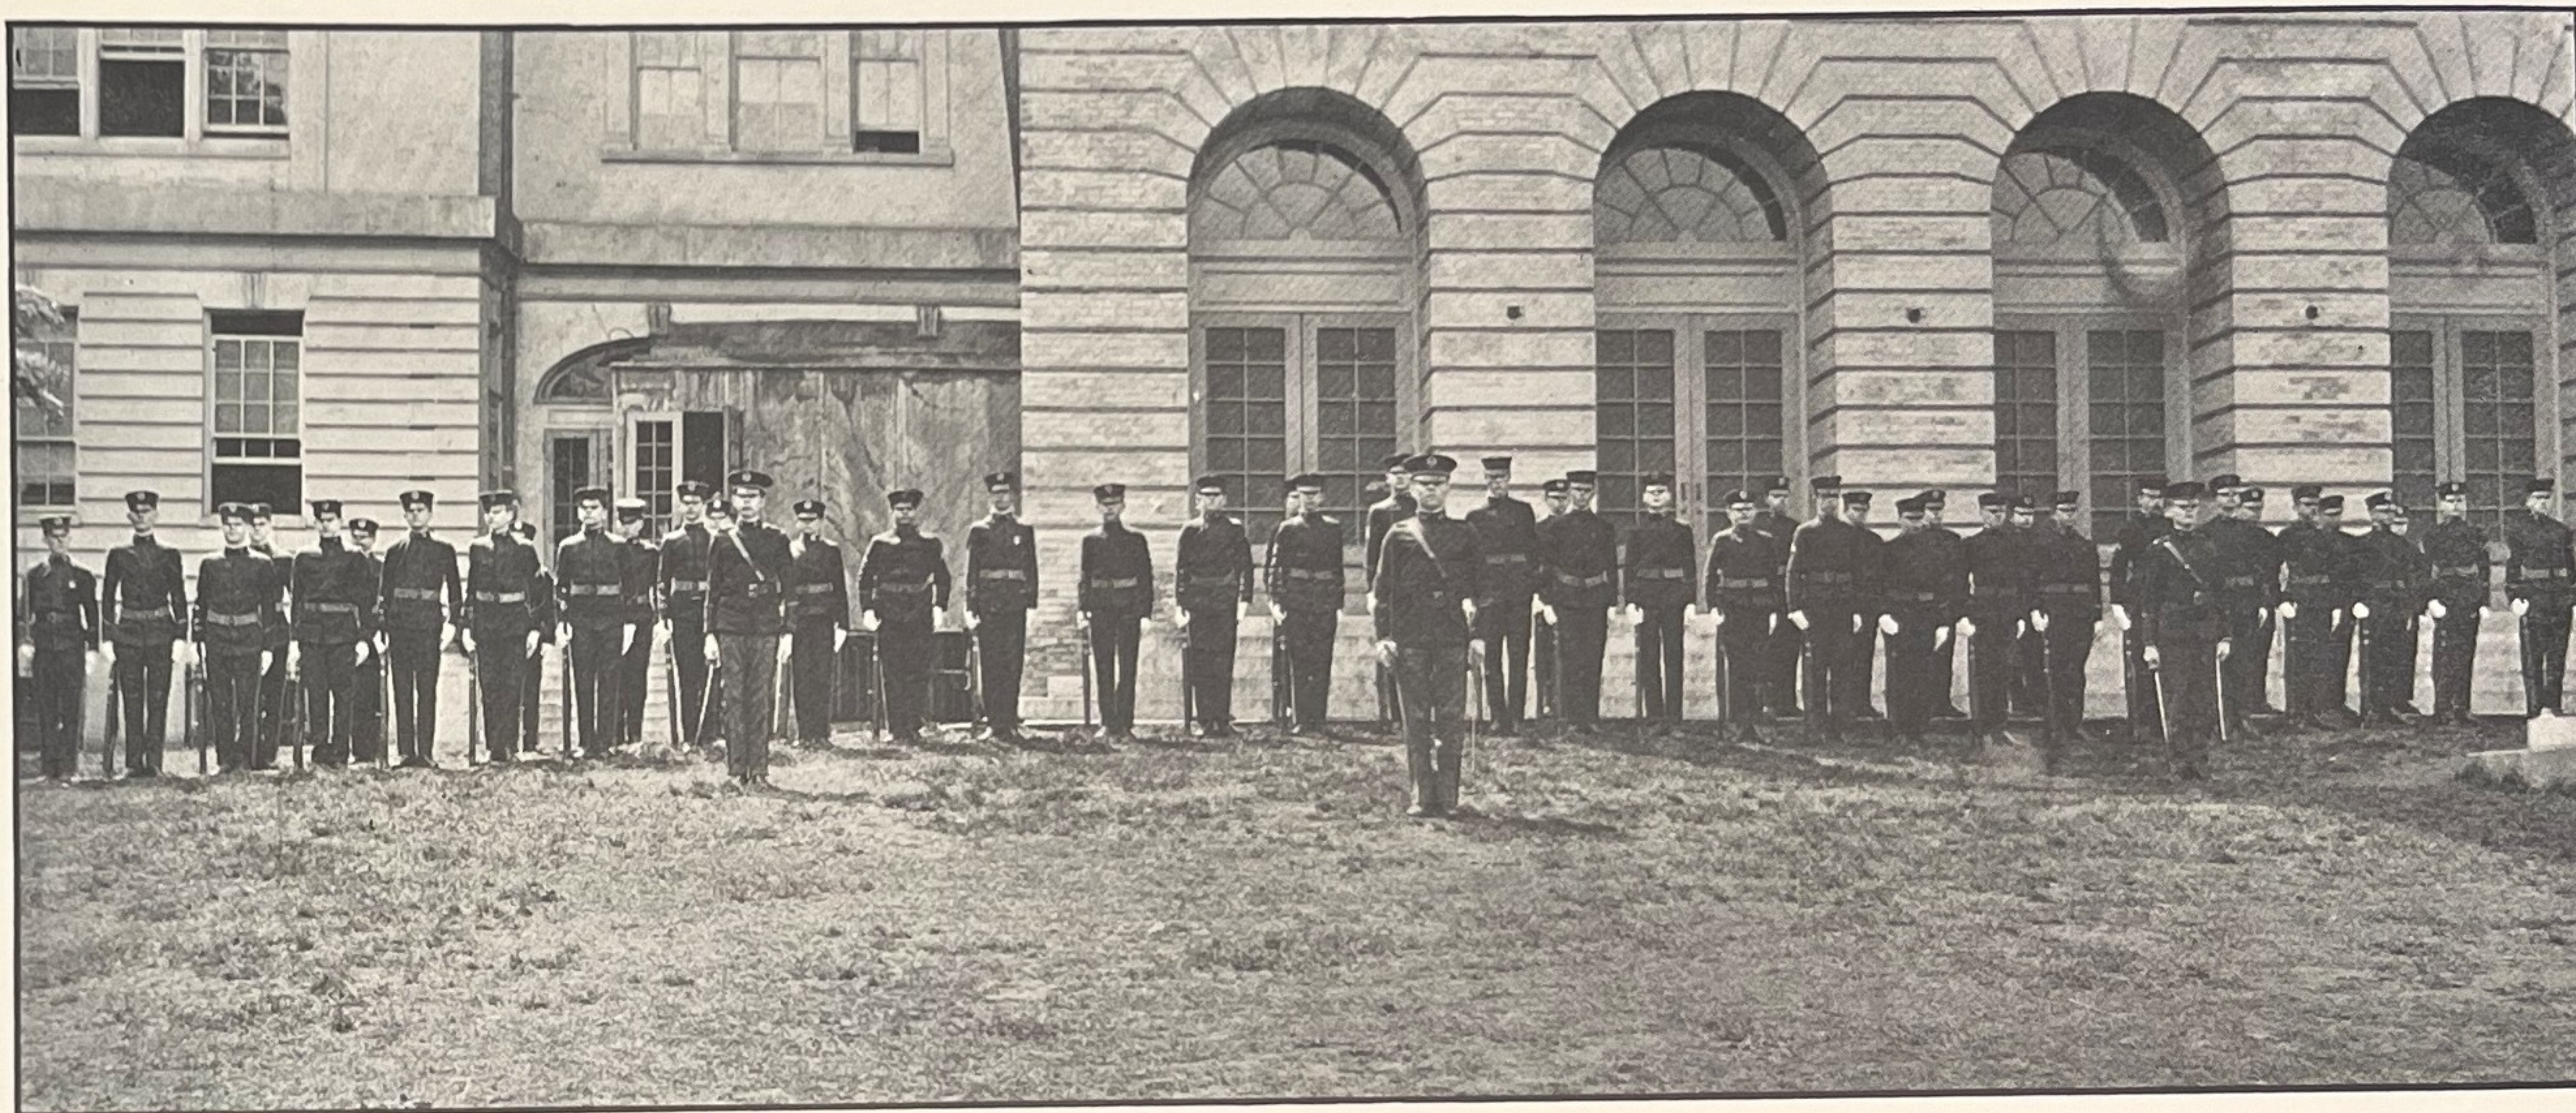

The fight of K-Company has been a stiff battle. Time after time they have come to school ready to drill, only to have it rain or snow. But they did not give up. They showed a spirit that wins Competitives. But, as has been said before, spirit alone never led to victory. It is rather perfection in all movements, in all the details, that finally wins.

Rifles were distributed about the first of December and no time was lost in learning the Manual of Arms. The winter months were long and tiresome for the men of the company, but with the coming of warm weather came also those hopes and ambitions which prompted the men to enlist in the Cadets. Visions of red ribbons appeared only to fade into nothingness when mistakes were made, and to reappear with greater vividness as these were overcome.

About the first part of May, extended order was taken up. The men progressed rapidly in this and also smoothed over the rough spots in their close order, in final preparation for the Competitive. K Company hopes to win—everybody does—but they hope more than ever before, both for the honor of Western and because K has never won before.

Company M

In September 1924, enlistments in the Cadet Corps made possible four companies, and the new unit was organized as "M." Unlike other Western divisions it had no glowing past, full of success and glory; no Competitives won or just missed by a fraction of a point. It had only the heritage of Western traditions—earnest endeavor and good sportsmanship.

Progress was slow at first. Each man must learn his place and every order must be executed accurately. Thoroughness and precision must become the motto of the company with the Competitive the goal. The war-game season brought out many enthusiastic candidates, from whom a team was chosen. Though gaining only one victory, the season was not unprofitable, for it taught the participants how wars may be fought.

Spirit in the company rose in February with the issue of rifles, which seemed to spur all members on to greater effort. In the Battalion Competitive on May 6, M Company did its quarter toward bringing the Craigie Cup to Western to stay, and on the following day helped the Third Regiment carry off the honors.

The company is well established at Western; the men are slow but sure; and have that spirit that brings red ribbons and flags back to their school.

Captain Millard Lewis,
Commanding M Company.

The Officers Club

President	Captain Auld
Vice-President	Major Davis

The Officers Club was organized in 1922, the year in which Western, for the first time, was represented by three companies. Incidentally, this year Company L won the competitive drill, and brought the flag to Western for the first time since 1907. The club has continued to function during the past year with fine cooperation and success, and with increased membership, resulting from the addition of a fourth company to the battalion.

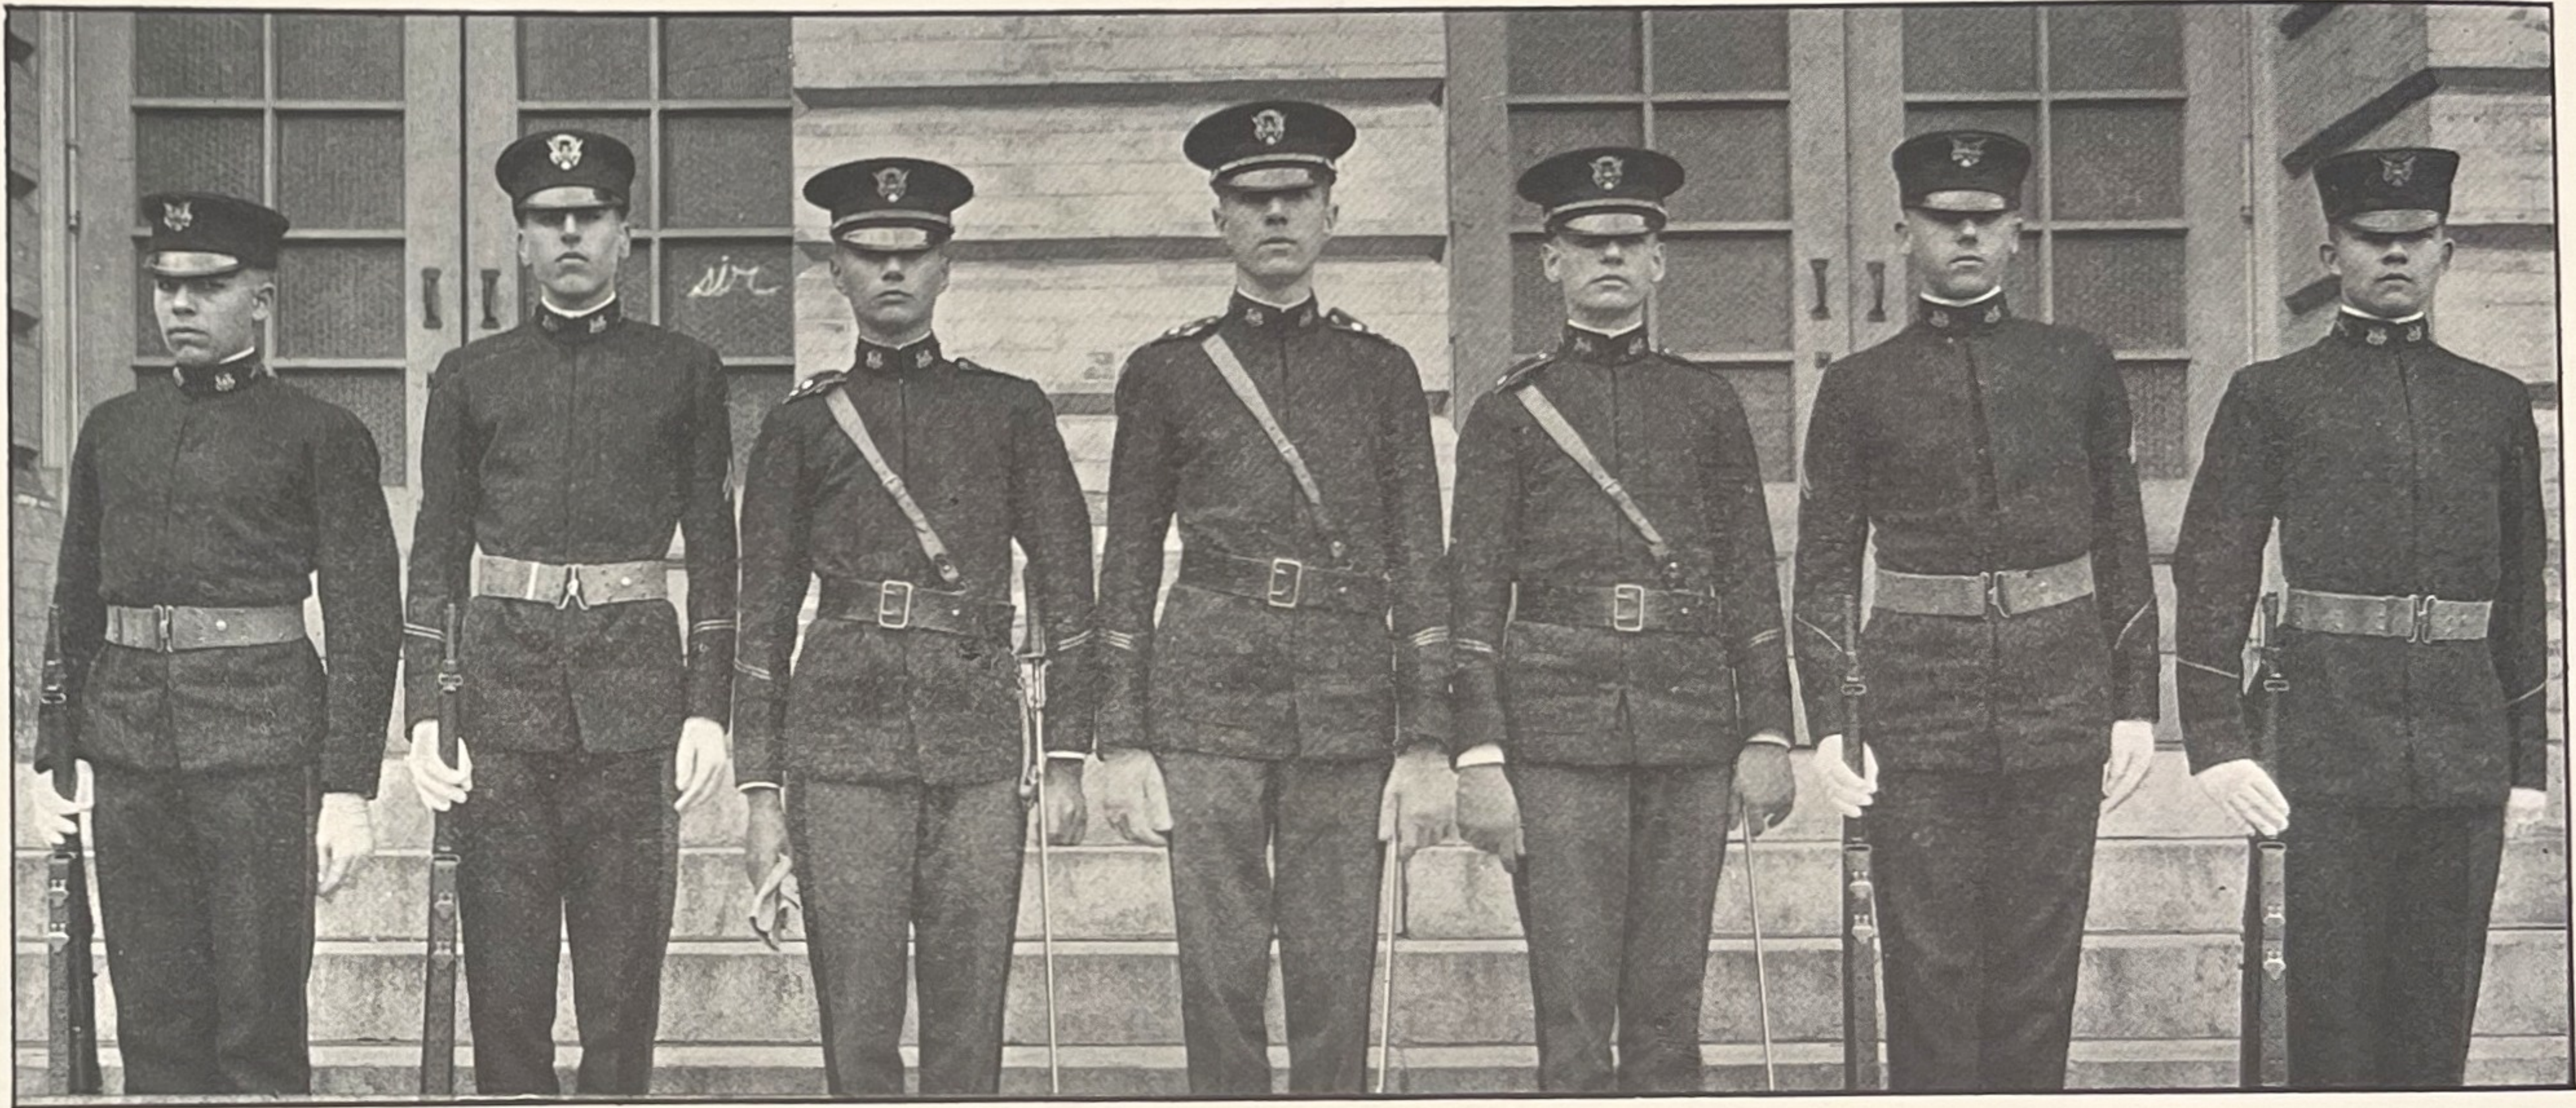

The first meeting of the club was held early in the fall, and the following officers were elected for the first semester: president, Captain Auld; vice-president, Major Gibbs; secretary-treasurer, Lieutenant Smoot; and sergeant-at-arms, Captain Hoffman.

The club was greatly benefited by the presence of Major Donovan, the instructor in charge of the Third Regiment, in whose headquarters the weekly meetings were held. Major Donovan took an active part at each meeting in the discussion of military matters, and from time to time gave the officers valuable advice on questions relating to drill.

The second semester began with the election of the following officers: president, Captain Auld; vice-president, Major Davis; secretary-treasurer, Lieutenant Smoot. A change was made in the personnel of the club in the early part of February when Pearce Davis succeeded to the "majority" following the resignation of Major Gibbs. Other changes were made in the latter part of March when two new officers were appointed to fill the vacancies occurring in the official ranks of Companies K and H.

The Officers Club this year gave three dances, all of which were financial and social successes. The first was given at Wardman Park Hotel on December 5, the second at the Cairo on February 13, and the third at the Washington Club on April 24.

The success which has rewarded the efforts of the Cadets this year has been in large measure the result of the cooperation among the officers. Since its organization in 1922, the goal of the Officers Club has been to raise the efficiency of all the companies of the Western battalion.

War Games

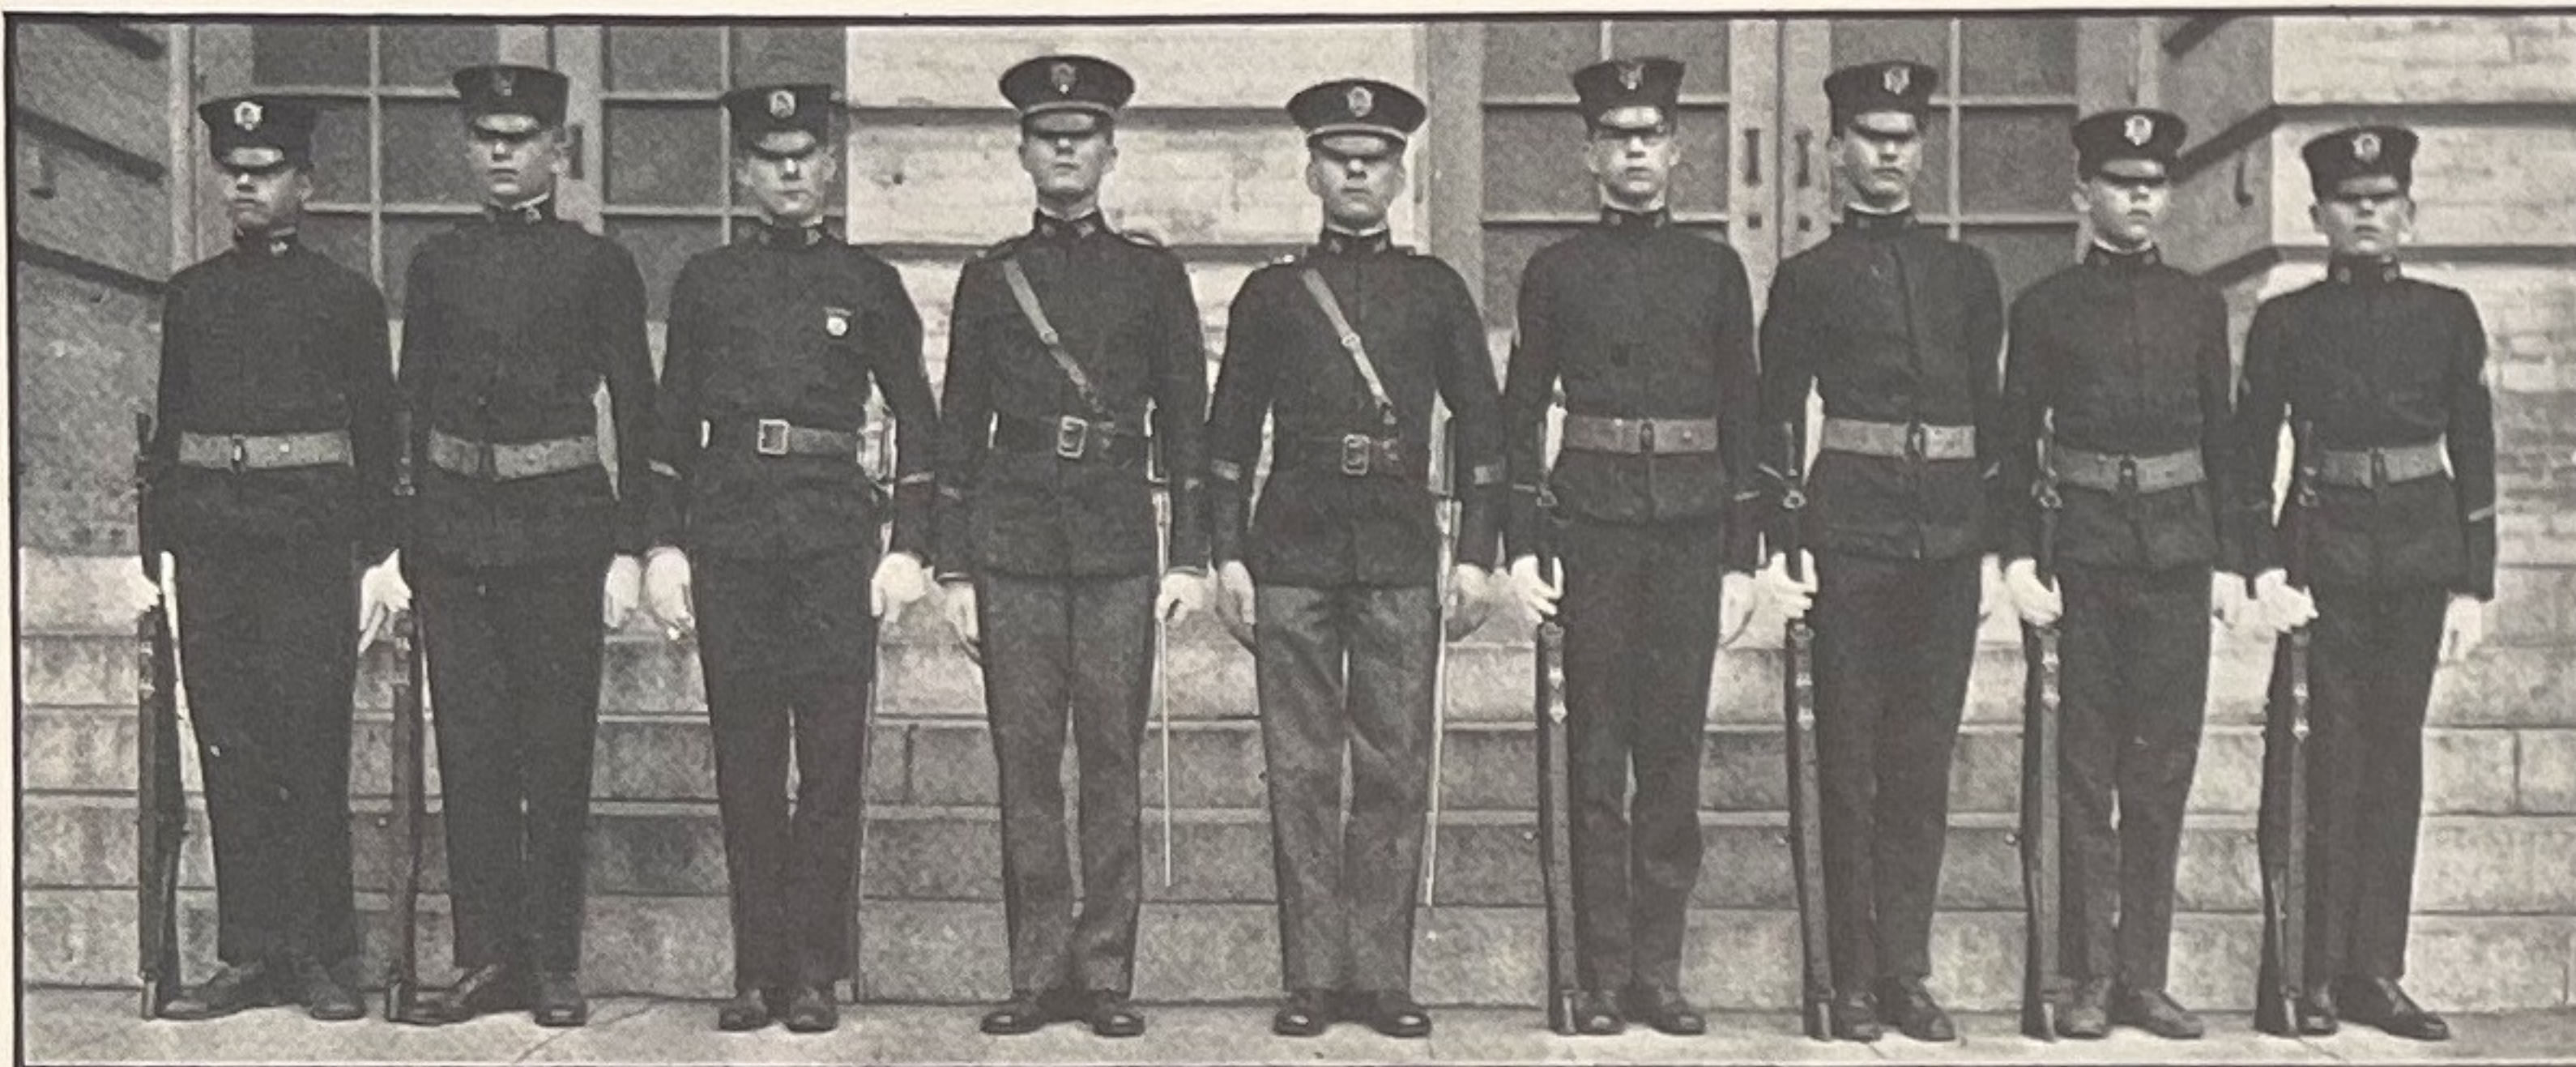

For the second time in two years, Western has won third place in the War Game Series of the Cadet Brigade. Last year it was won by Company K, under Captain Hoage, and this year by Company L, under Captain Auld.

The method of picking the winner was changed recently. Now all companies in each school compete and the winner of this small tournament meets representative teams of other schools in its regiment. The regimental winners then compete for the brigade championship.

At Western the season began with Company M's victory over H, under Captains Lewis and Hoffman respectively.

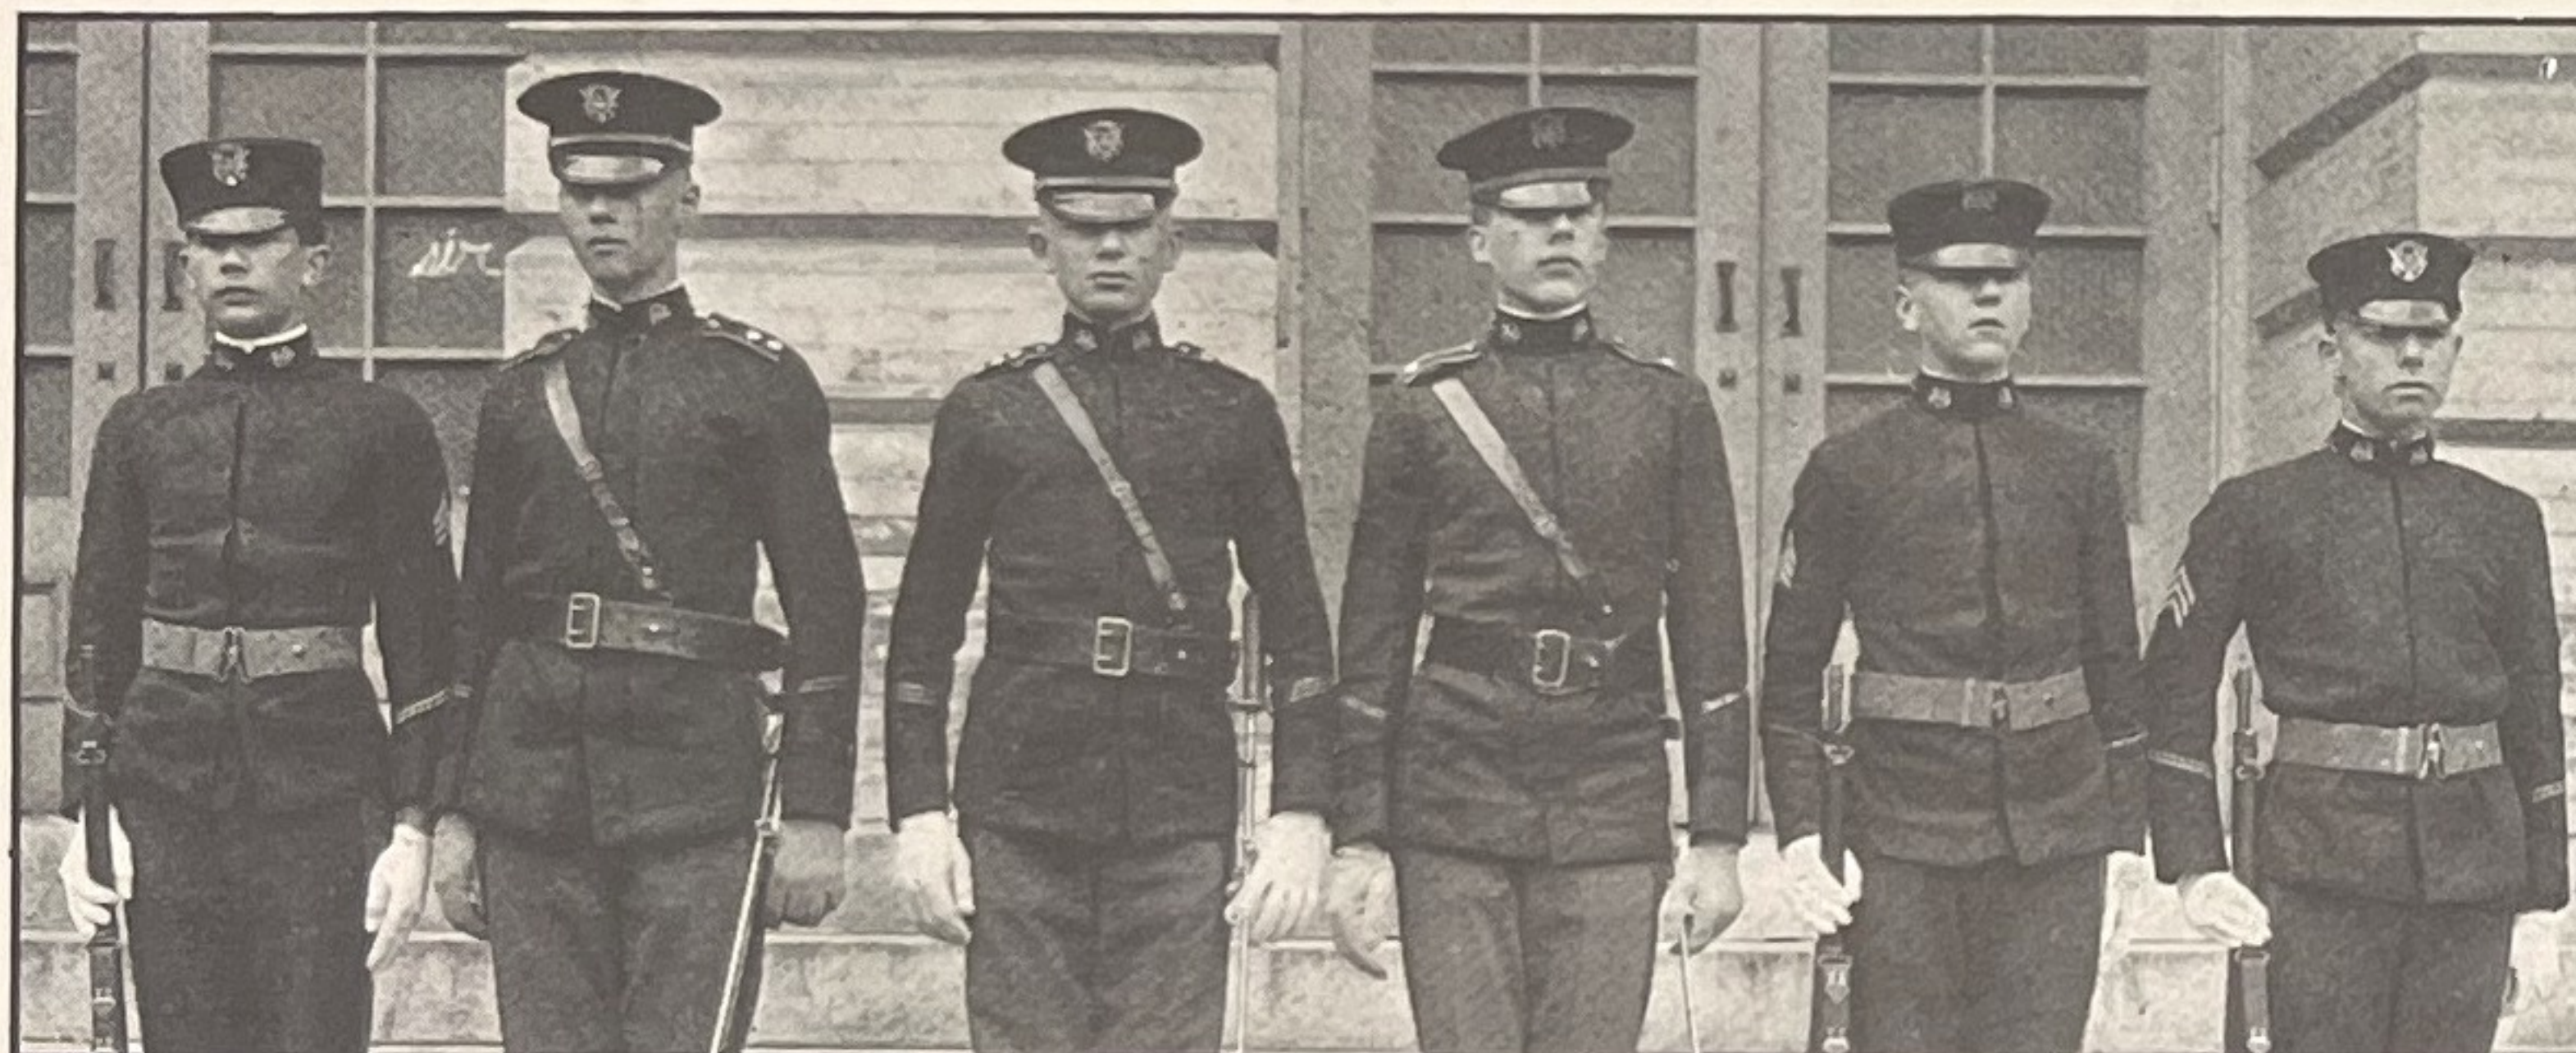

The second game was played between Companies K and L, with the latter the victor. In the meetings between Companies M and L to decide the Western representative, Company L was again fortunate. The next important step was the playing off of the regimental championship with the Field and Staff team of Eastern, which had been chosen as best at that school. For a third time Company L was winner and therefore the representative of the Third Regiment.

In the semi-finals, when met by Company H of Tech, the victors of the Second Regiment, Company L was defeated by a narrow margin and its upward course stopped for the year.

Entering the football season with eight veterans, Western was generally conceded to have a good chance for the championship, and lived up to this expectation by tying with Tech for the coveted honor. The candidates were called out early in September. As soon as school started, training began in earnest and progressed rapidly until good team play was developed. The West End boys showed a well-balanced team of experienced players, with a wonderful "never-say-die" spirit, inspired by their coach, Mr. Ahern, and Captain Lamar.

The lack of a suitable place for practice presented a difficulty early in the season, but was soon overcome through the courtesy of Friends School who loaned their field when not in use. Because of the scarcity of material, Mr. Ahern had a squad of less than two full teams. However, they seemed inspired by some unconquerable spirit and won games which appeared lost. Despite the loss by graduation last June, Tech's championship team, under the leadership of Captain Kessler, their only veteran, proved a strong rival when they battled Western to a seven-all draw. As each school won all other games in the high-school series, the title was held jointly by the two rivals.

Through the efforts of Mr. Ahern, a graduate of Manchester High School, a game was arranged with the New England champions on Thanksgiving Day. Twenty-five made the journey and were treated like the President himself. The game was played the afternoon of their arrival, and Western was overpowered by superior play to the tune of 13 to 0. Bozek, Manchester's stellar half, proved that he could play football.

The team, this year, owed its success to the able coaching of Mr. Ahern and the untiring efforts of Captain Lamar. Both showed the advantage of experience; Mr. Ahern had just completed his second year and knew the strength of his team, while Captain Lamar had played on Western's gridiron in previous seasons, and gave valuable help to the team.

Hall of Fame

Charley Hageage, star player, all-high half, and the best broken field runner during the season, equalled and even surpassed his reputation of last year.

Henry Lamar, captain and quarterback, instilled into his team an indomitable spirit which carried them successfully through the season.

George Hageage, captain elect of '25, played his first season as varsity regular and succeeded in gaining the coveted position of guard on the all-high team.

Albert Heagy, another member of last year's lightweight team, played a very heady and hard game.

Tom David was again with us this year and played the same hard and steady game which has characterized his playing in other years.

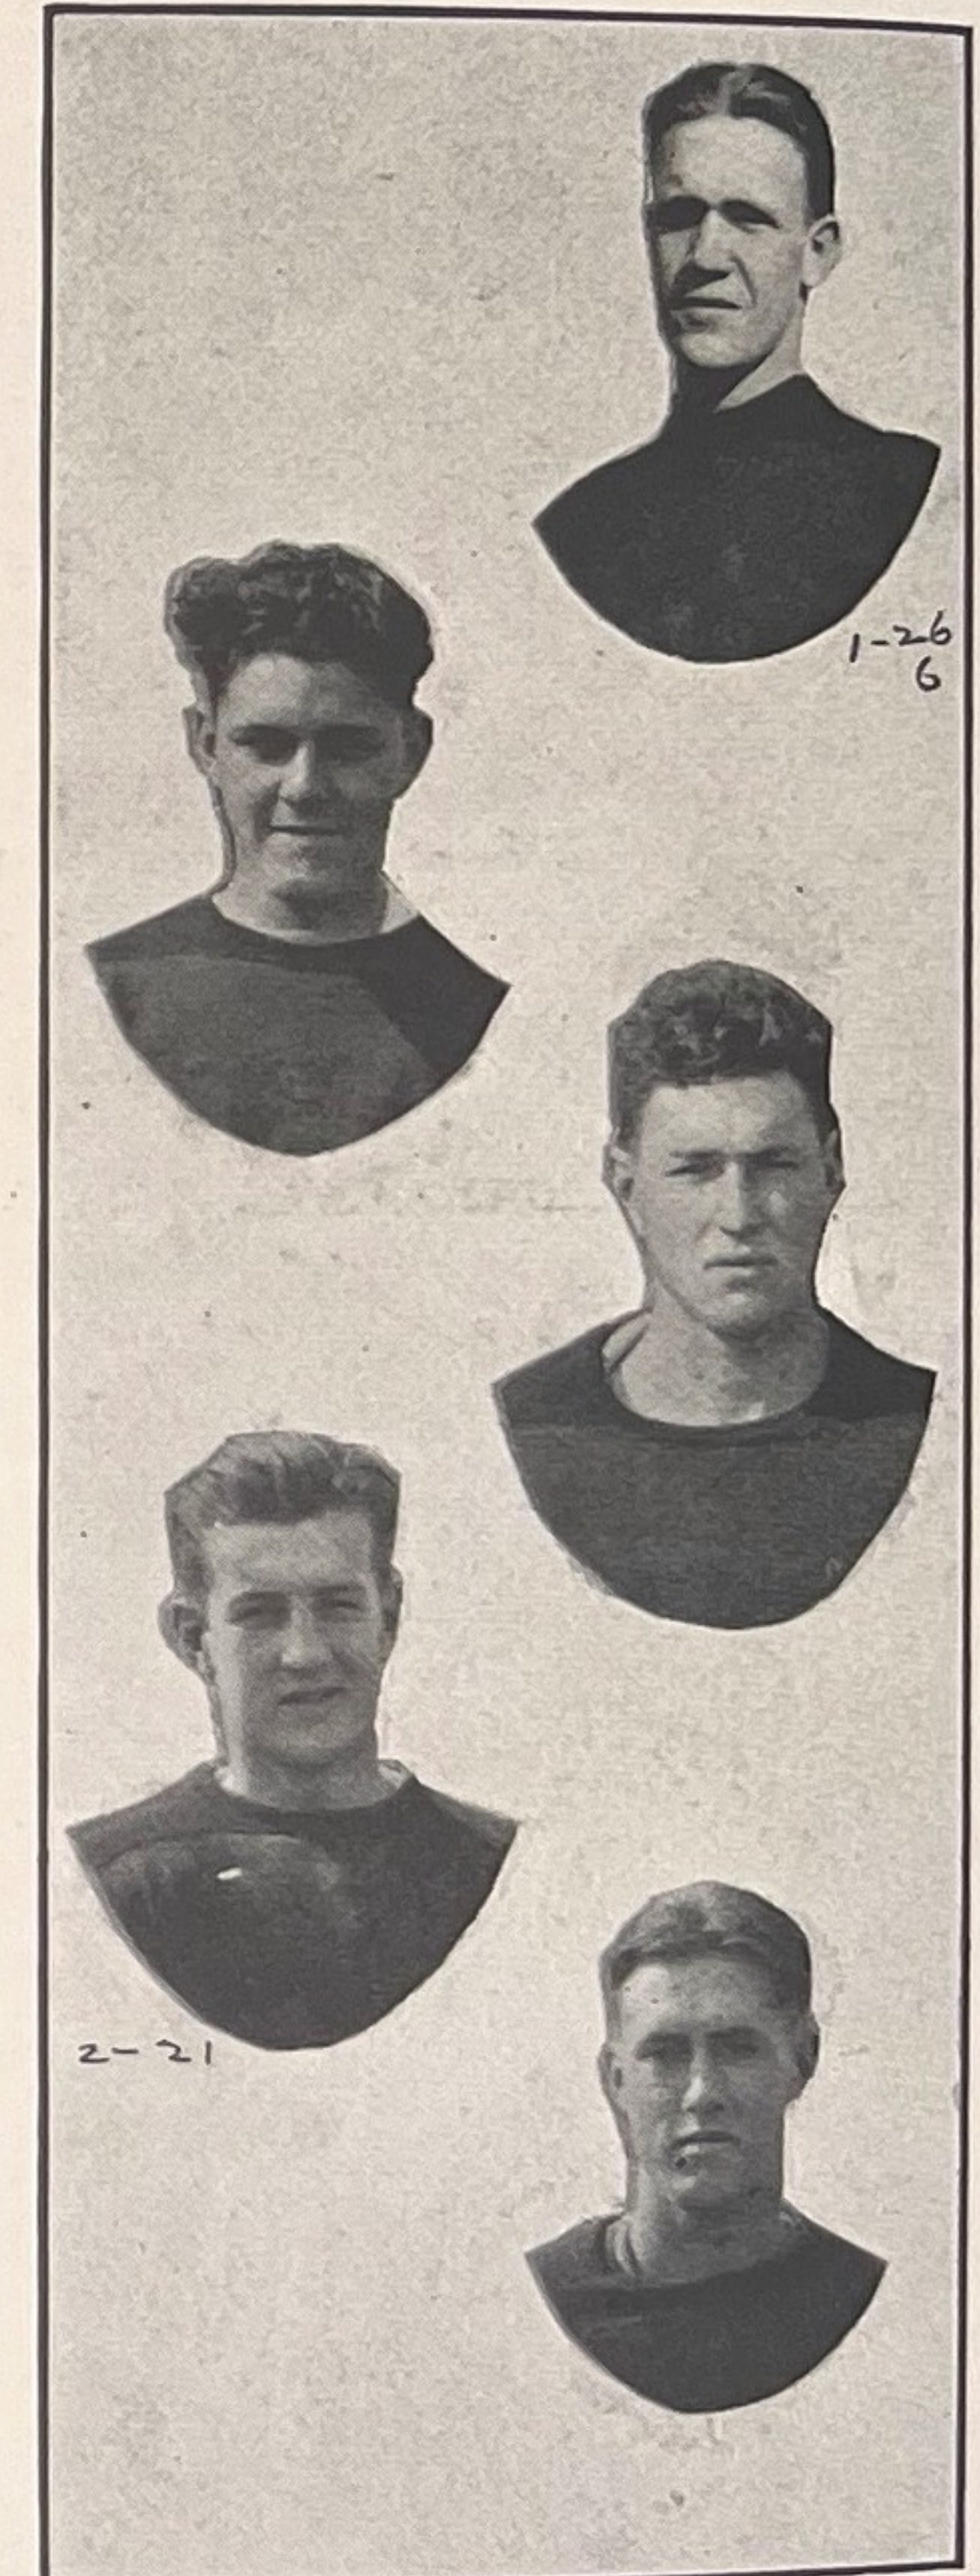

After several years of prepping, Henry Gichner played his first year on the varsity, where he demonstrated plenty of fight.

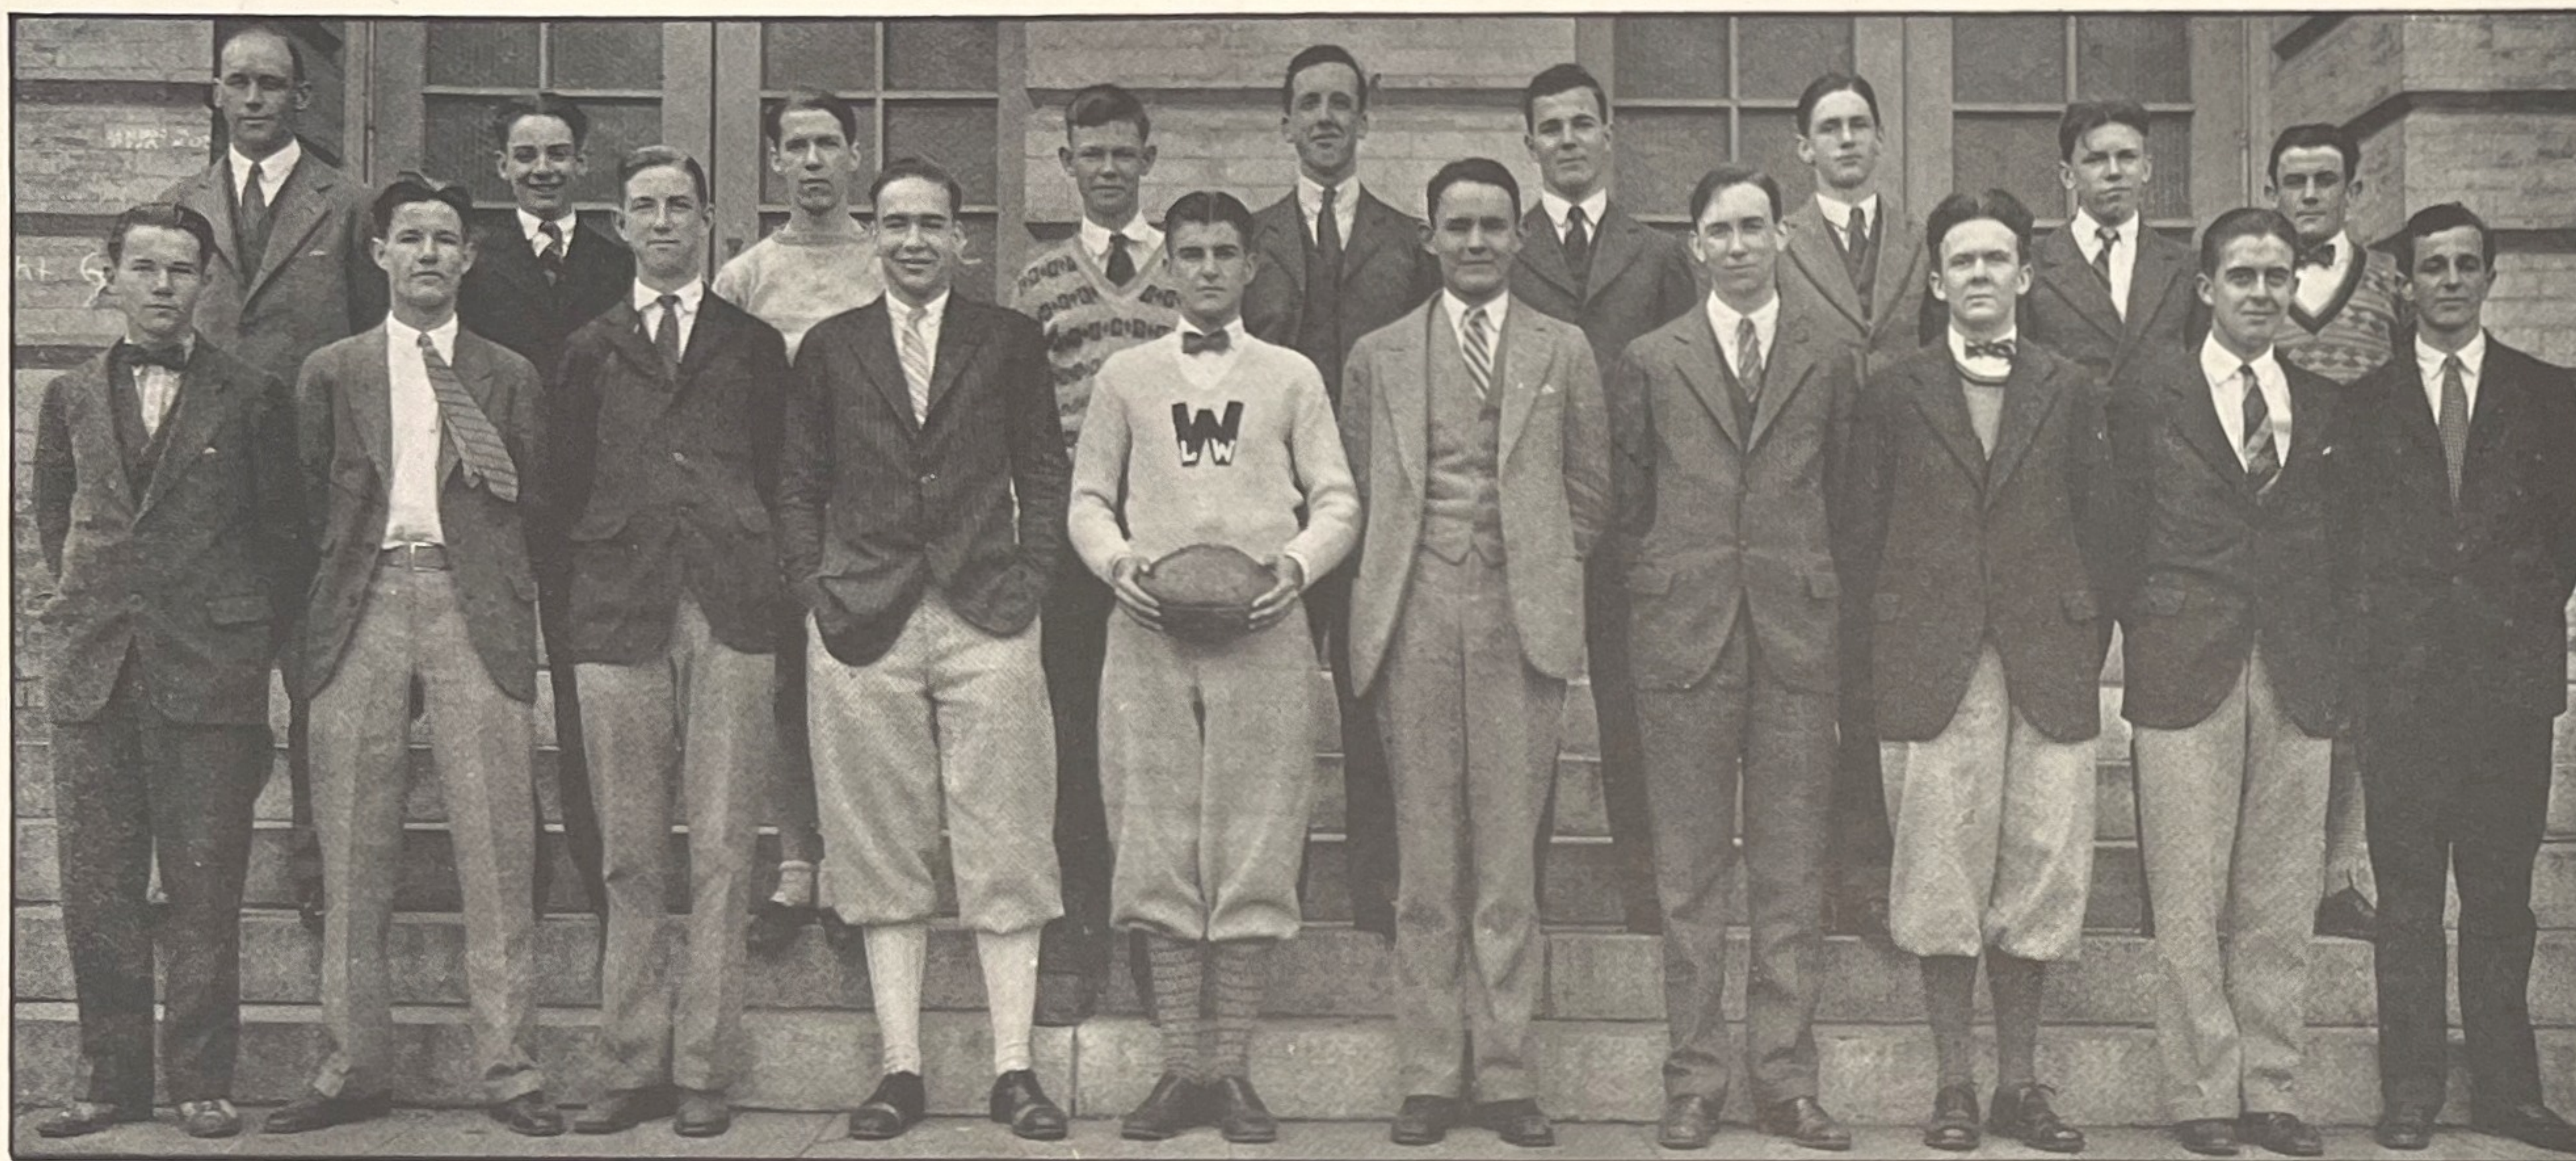

Wilfred Hearn, captain of last year's lightweight team, played his first season on the varsity.

Roland Dulin, chosen all-high end, excelled in snagging forward passes and timely interference.

Jimmie Bradley, following in the footsteps of his brother Duncan, last year's manager, more than measured up to the standards of the ideal manager.

Ray Garber, veteran player and one of the mainstays of the team, went through the season as end and punter with the usual success that marks all his athletic enterprises.

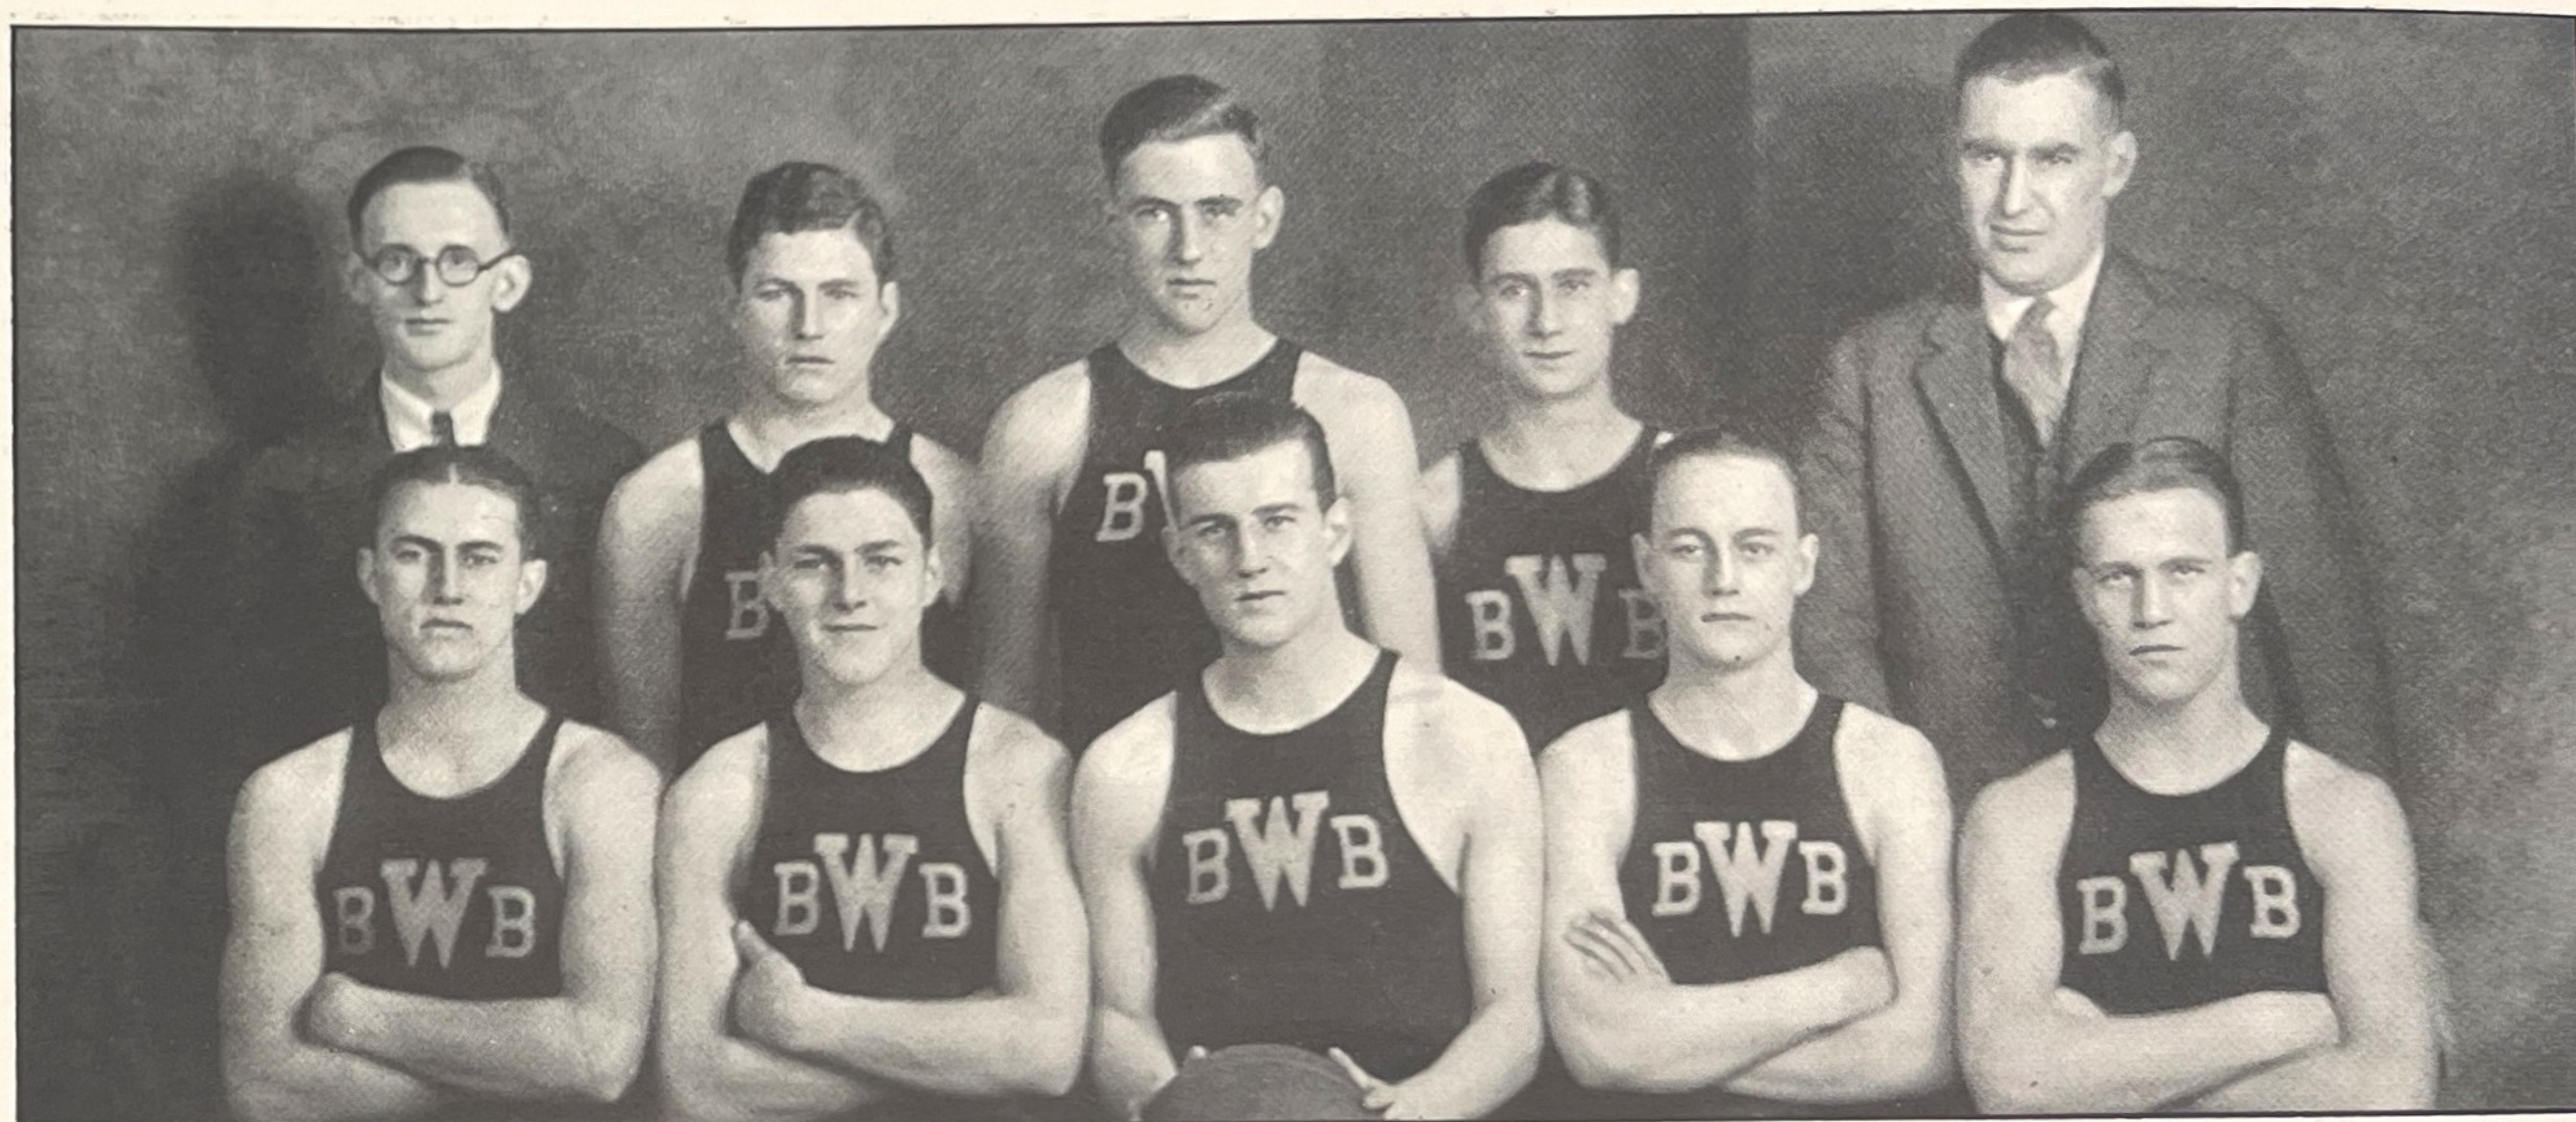

Lightweight Football

The lightweight team last fall enjoyed an interesting as well as successful season. Under the tutelage of Coach Moore the boys progressed rapidly. Although Mr. Moore was new at Western, he immediately won the confidence and help of the entire squad. Practice was held in the "Hollow" several times a week. Unfortunately Central and Tech had no lightweight teams, but this did not discourage the "dashing, crashing lightweights" who immediately scheduled several games with outside teams. Although they didn't win all games, every opponent was forced to acknowledge that Western had a fighting lightweight team.

Several likely prospects for next year's varsity were discovered in Shoemaker, Melville Cox, and Lloyd Free. All three played on the line and showed much power on the defense as well as on the offense.

Herrick and Dyer were the mainstays in the backfield. Herrick alternated with Young in backing up the line and playing safety. Herrick proved adept in smearing the plays before they started. Dyer played half and succeeded in breaking up the passes.

The backfield was a well-balanced affair with Young at quarter, Dyer and Herrick as halves, and Hornibrook at full.

Although Western did not win the inter-high championship, yet it had a successful basketball season by winning 16 out of 20 games and amassing a total of 577 points to 350 points of their opponents. Every team but Gallaudet, a college team, was defeated by the big West End lads at least once. Georgetown Prep, the Alumni, Gonzaga, Catholic University Freshmen, St. Johns, Eastern, Tech, Business, Central, Georgetown Freshmen, Maryland Freshmen, and Chevy Chase were all defeated at least once during the season.

The team reached its peak of training at two different times. After the first defeat at the hands of the Kendall Greeners, they went through the schedule by winning nine straight games, four of which were inter-high contests. There seemed no doubt that Western would win the local high-school championship, but at this stage of the excitement the Red and White lads went into a slump which lasted for three games and snatched the much-counted-on championship from their hands. After Central had finally captured the city high-school championship, the Western tossers again came to life and won from several excellent combinations, winning five straight victories, and thus completed the season's schedule. During this period, the Red and White completely outclassed all their rivals. The scores of the final games showed the real power of the team and were as follows: Georgetown Freshmen 7, Western 28; Gonzaga 34, Western 14; Maryland Freshmen 9, Western 24; St. John's 30, Western 51; and Chevy Chase 16, Western 64.

Captain Roland Dulin, playing guard, was the leading scorer for the team. He scored 169 points during the season, but was closely followed by Raymond Garber, who obtained 156 points; Henry Lamar, 96; Hugh McDiarmid 53; Albert Heagy 32; Henry Gichner 32; George Walker 19; Stephen Hulbert 6; Ford Young 6; Fred Randall 4; Roland McKensie 4.

Albert Heagy and Hugh McDiarmid will be the only regulars back for next year's Five, but many other players, who have stayed out all season, have obtained valuable information which will fit them for next year's team. George Walker, an ineligible performer who has played in several outside games in a very commendable manner, will no doubt be a great aid to next year's combination. Roland McKenzie, tall substitute center, who played for his first season, has also shaped up into a valuable pivot.

Hall of Fame

Captain Roland Dulin, unanimous choice for All-High guard, again played a stellar game this year. He was always a sure shot and one of the hardest men to cover in the series.

Hugh McDiarmid was put on the varsity after Gichner's graduation. Hugh's spectacular playing proved a big factor in reestablishing the team.

Albert Heagy, captain-elect '26, played his first season in high school basketball this year. As Dulin's mate, he played a hard and steady game.

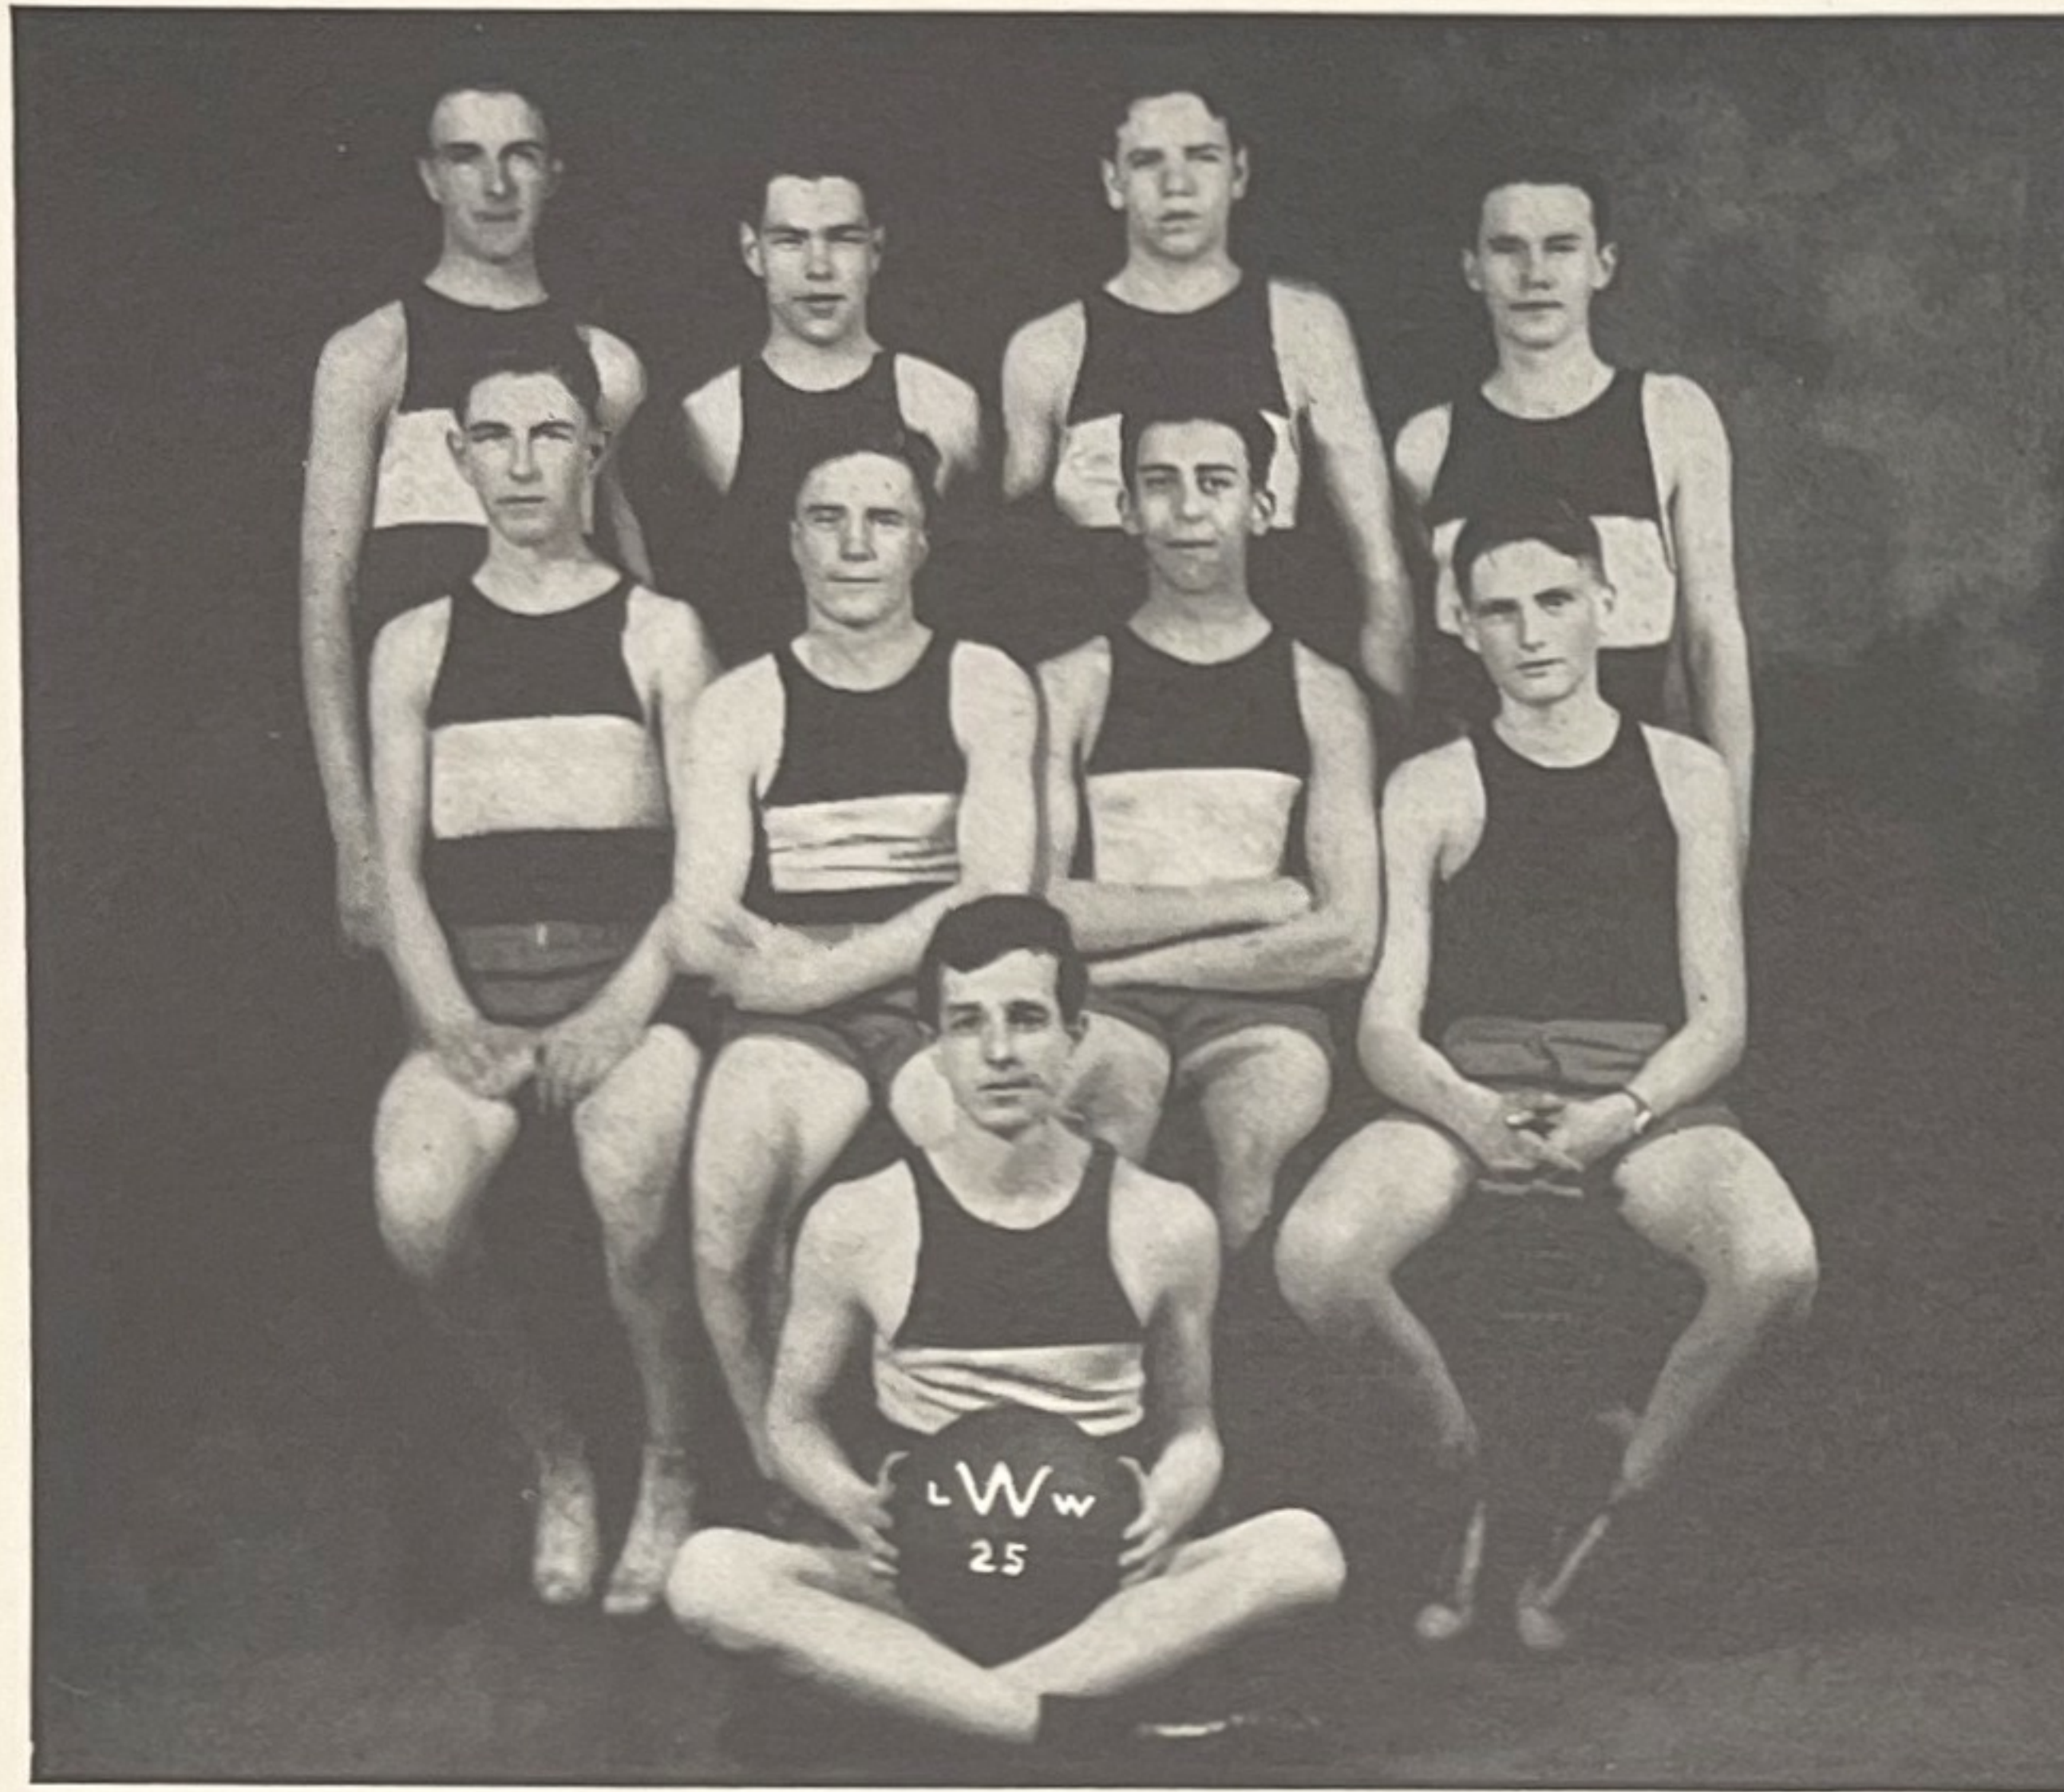

Henry Lamar, All-High center, played his third year on the basketball team. He out-jumped all of his opponents and was one of the hardest fighters of the season.

Henry Gichner was a new member of the team this year, but proved to be one of the strongest links. His graduation in February was one of the reasons for Western's slump.

Ray Garber, last year's captain, by his deadly eye in gaging the basket, contributed much to the success of the team. He was also a hard man to cover.

Lightweight Basketball

With a group of boys from the lightweight football team as a nucleus, Coach Moore issued the call for candidates for the lightweight basketball team late in December. The response was immediate and he was swamped with young aspirants, from whom a workable crowd was secured. Since no suitable gymnasium near at hand could be found, practice was commenced at the Salvation Army gym in Georgetown. Later, the boys joined the Y. M. C. A. and were allowed the privilege of practicing there every afternoon in the week. Everybody practiced hard and long until January, when the first outside games were played.

Many high school and independent teams were met during the season. The lightweight teams of Central, Eastern and Business proved superior to the Red and White tossers, but although Western did not win many games, the team was composed of boys who, with several more years in the school, will be valuable material to begin training next year.

Dyer proved to be the star of the crowd. Alternating in center and forward, he always was a steady performer and a sure shot. However, Beebe and Deveau were the first choices for center. Both are tall and lanky and were well fitted for this post.

In the forward positions were Dyer, Hornibrook, Brown, Miller and Levering battling for first choice. Dyer proved the first man, with the others alternating. Herrick and Teehaan were the best men for the guard positions, with Thornett as first substitute.

Manager Raymond Garber

Coach Mr. Ahern

Due to the scarcity of experienced material, Coach Ahern called out the candidates for the baseball team early in February. A large squad reported and practice was started on the Monument grounds and the "Hollow."

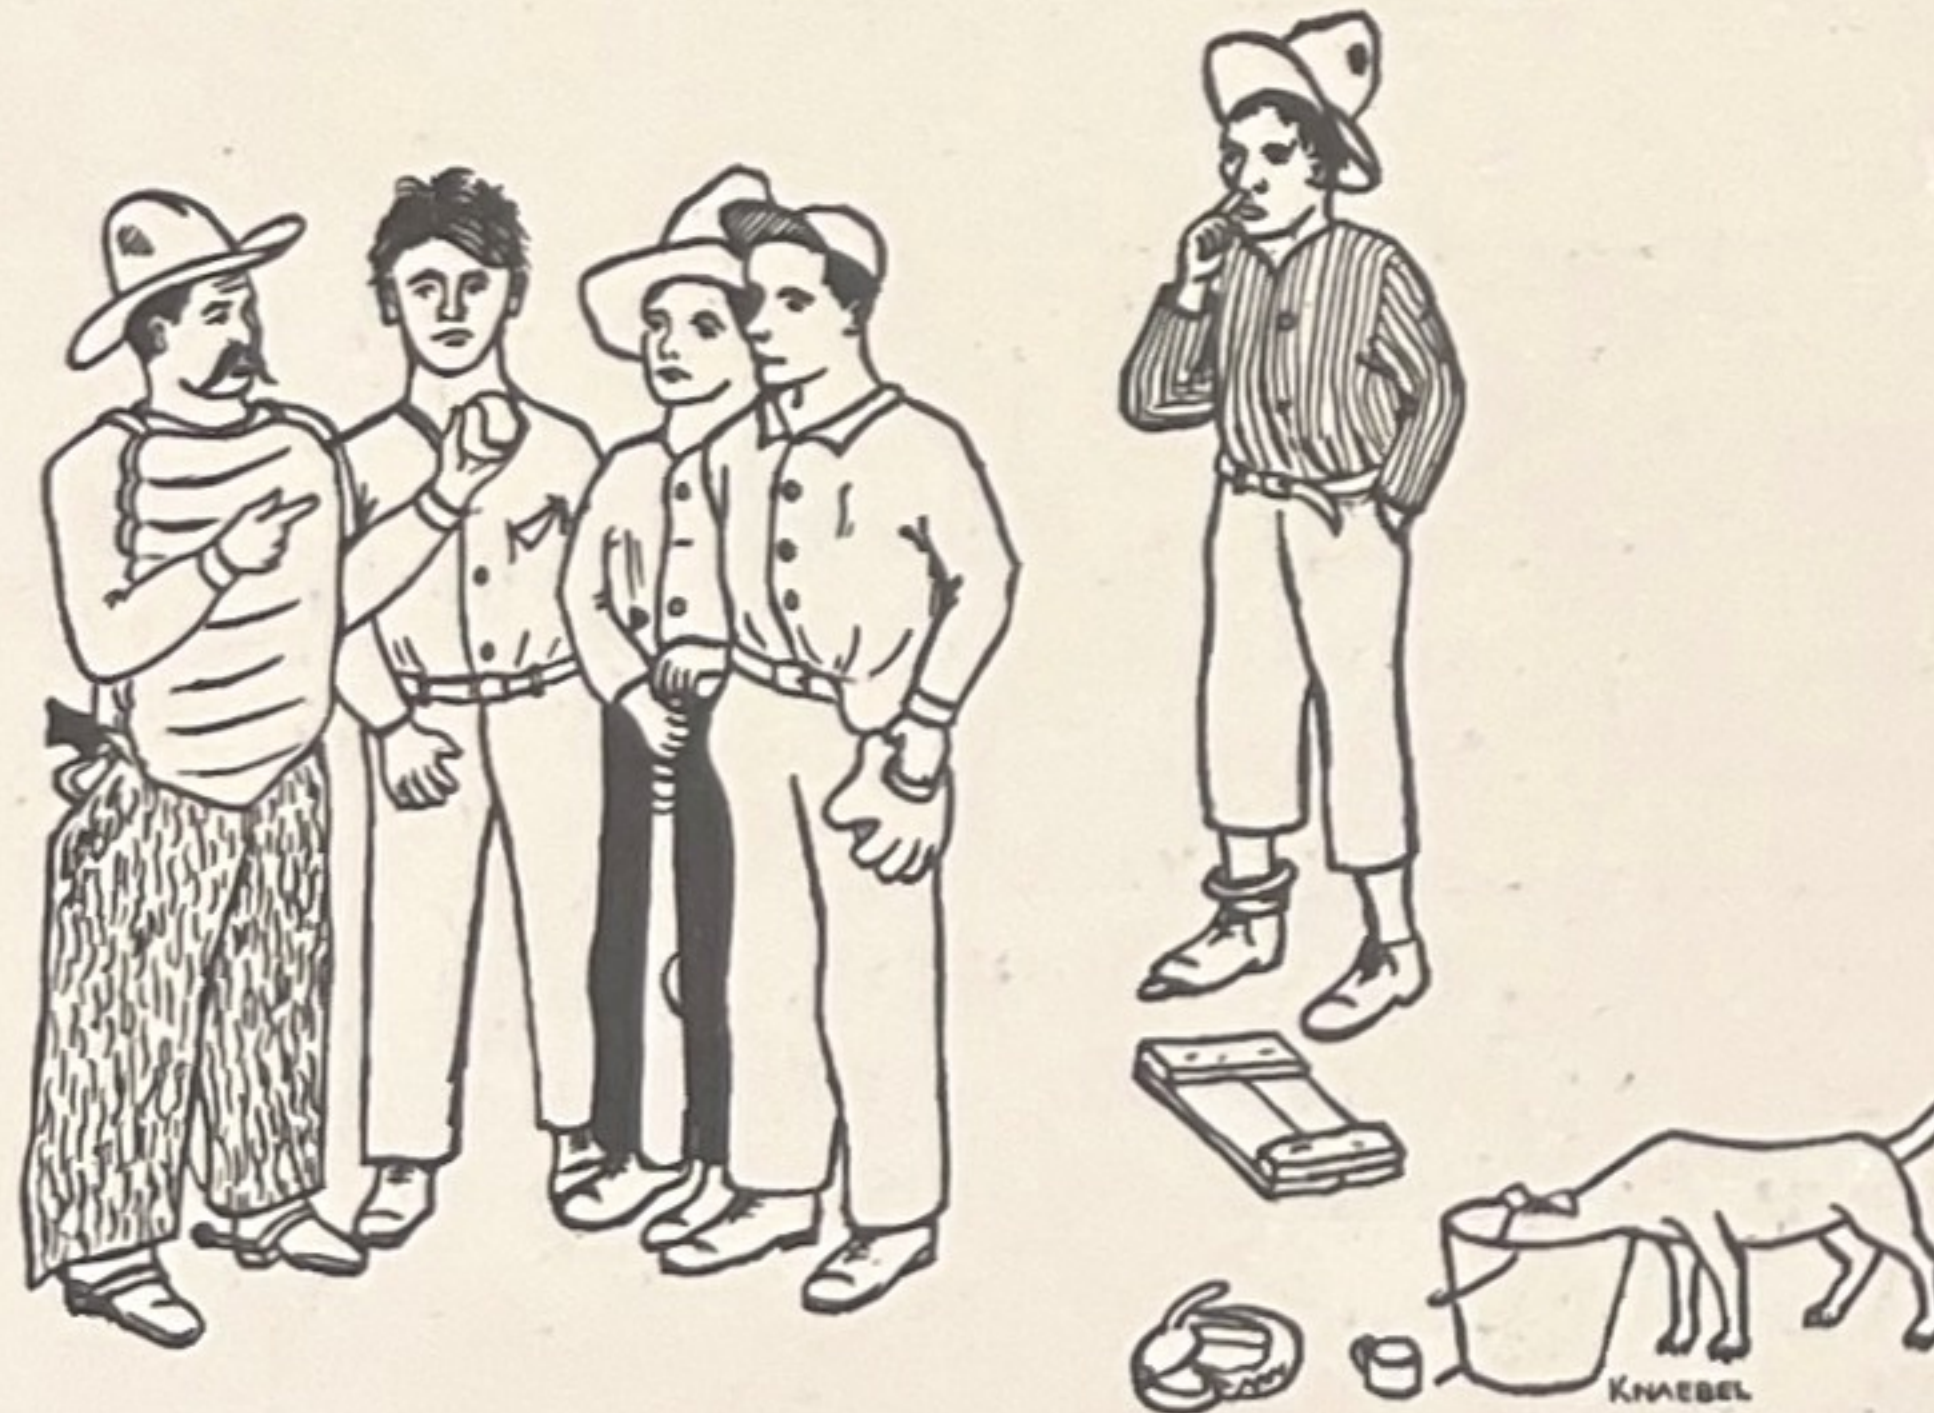

Everybody worked enthusiastically until Western seemed pointed for the high-school championship. In March, changes in the personnel of the squad seemed to threaten our chances in the pennant race, but this furnished the needed incentive for additional hard work on the part of coach and players. Even the weather was favorable, as an unusually dry spring was encountered.

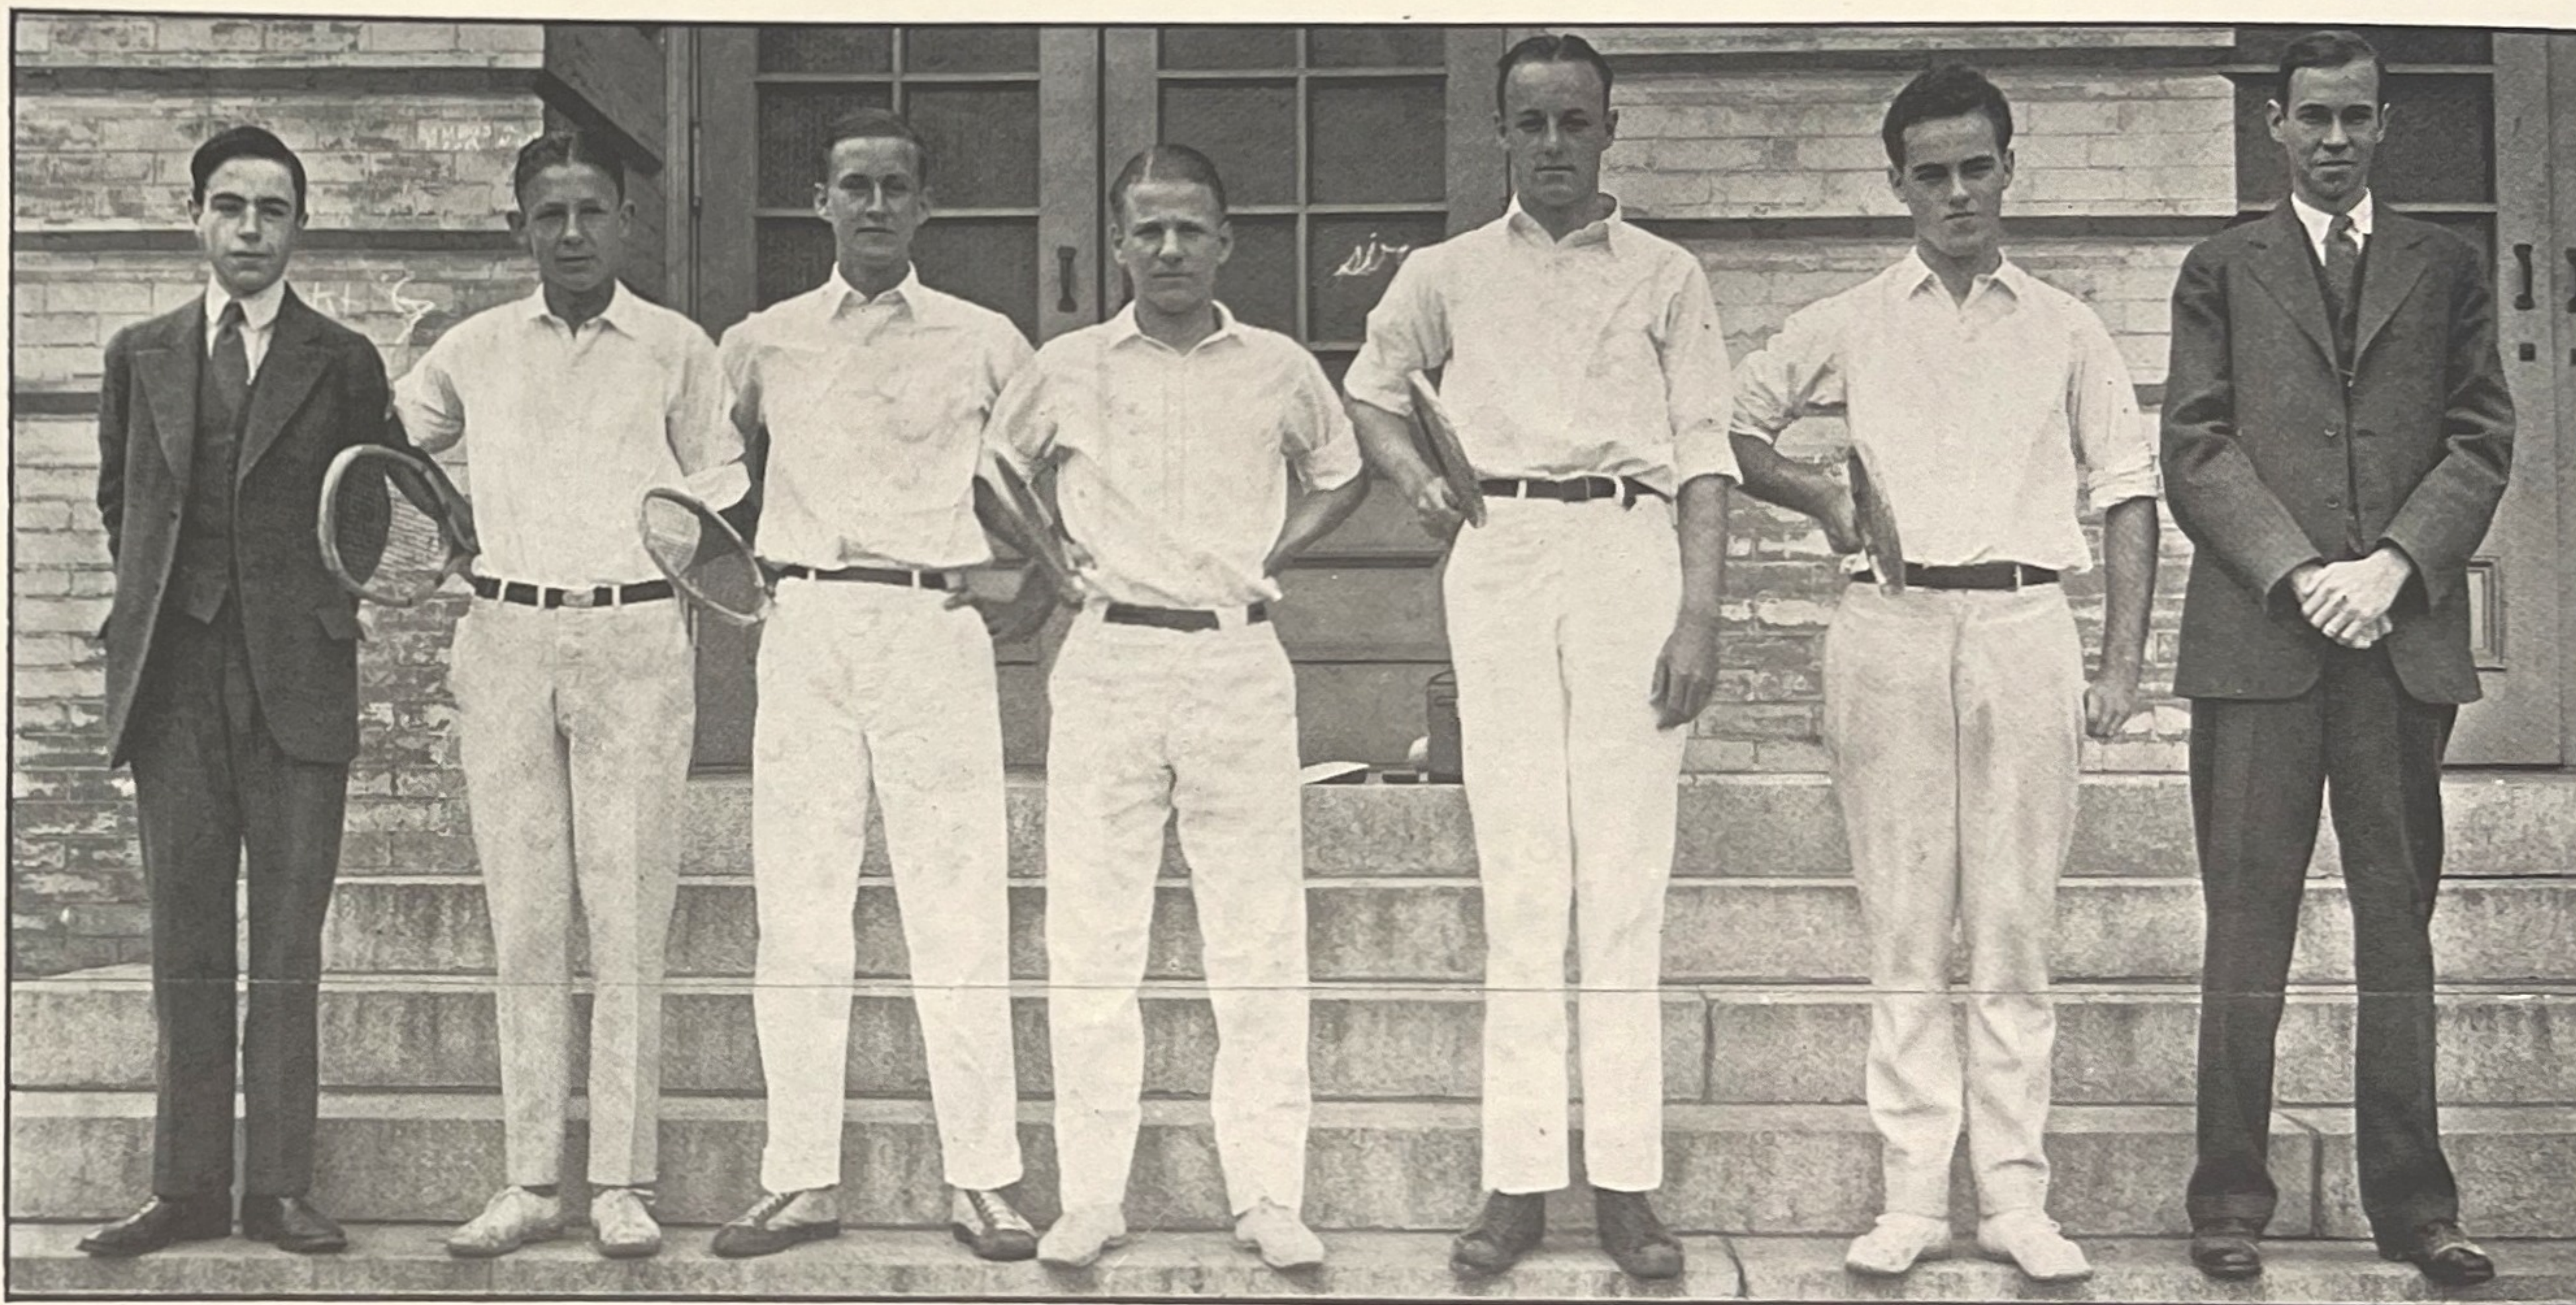

A number of outside teams were played in preparation for the grueling race for the championship and Western came through these most successfully. In the series' opener Western clashed with Tech, but took the short end of the score. Following this, Western met Business in a slugfest and won out 15-13, but annexed few other victories after that.

Central was met, though not conquered; but on the second round of the series Western proved to be the jinx by hammering three of Tech's pitchers. Business was met again, and again went down to defeat.

In the first part of the season the team was composed of Hilleary behind the bat, Tribby and Batson pitchers, David third, Stevens first, Palmer and Maurice second, and Mitchell, George Hageage and Higgins in the garden. However, after the advisory marks were turned in, it was found that several players were ineligible. This of course necessitated a rearrangement of the team. This, however, proved a benefit, for Western proceeded to upset the chances of the other teams in the series. The rejuvenated team consisted of Sasher as catcher, Brown and Batson pitchers, Hageage at first, Walker at second, David at short and Mitchell at third. In the outfield were Palmer, Batson and Higgins. David and Mitchell secured berths on the All-High Team.

Millard Lewis

Mr. Gordon

In 1924 tennis was made a major sport in the high school athletic world. Western took advantage of this fact and won the high school title, and, as the winner of the school league, played the winner of the prep school league, and by vanquishing St. John's, received the title of Junior Champions of the District.

Starting the 1925 season with only two regular netmen, Millard Lewis and "Dooley" Mitchell, Coach Gordon again turned out a winning team. Hugh McDiarmid, Robinson Glazebrook, and Warren Bouve were selected by competition from a list of over forty candidates to fill the vacancies left by those who had graduated.

Western was handicapped by having no courts of its own. Because of difficulty in finding clay courts, the candidates were at first forced to play on concrete ones at Reno. This placed the team at a great disadvantage because all the competitive matches were played on clay.

The Western-Tech match inaugurated the high school series. This was Western's second appearance on clay, but our racketers pulled through and won by a score of 4-3.

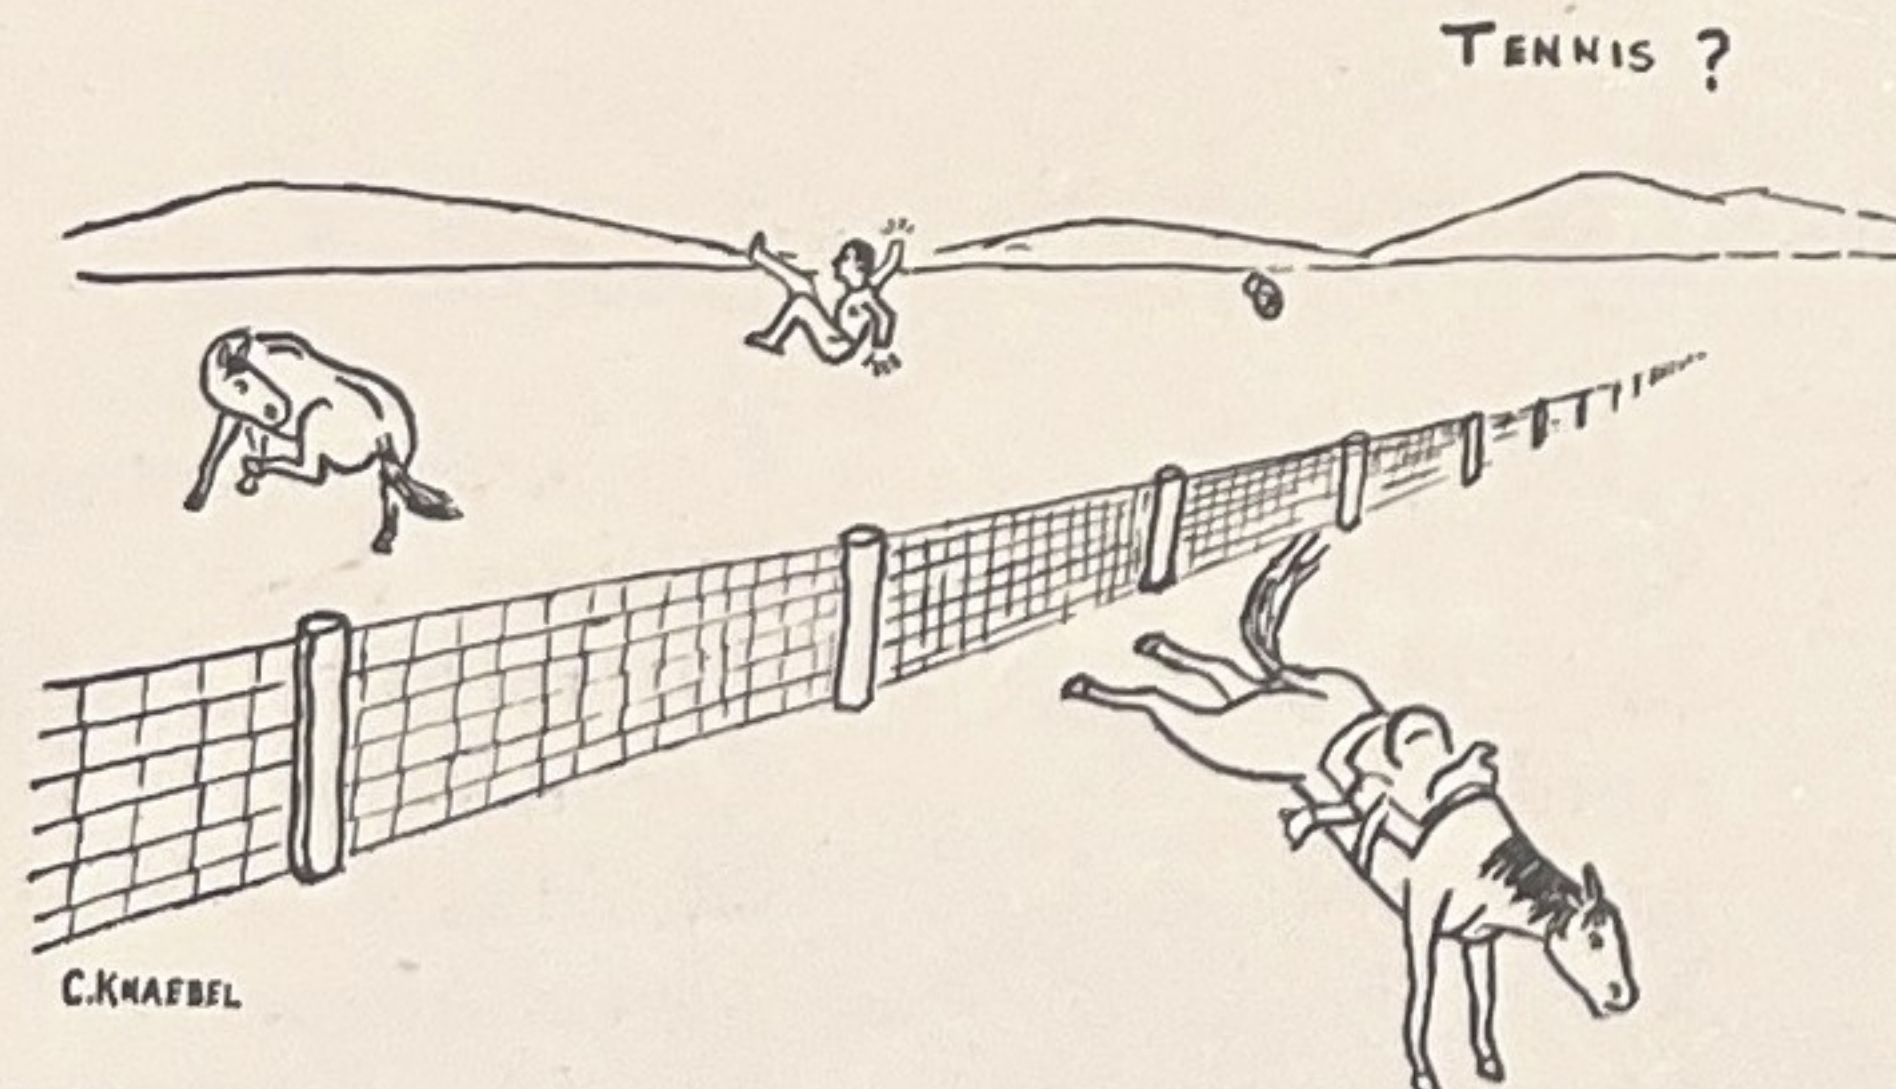

After this match, practice commenced in earnest; sometimes at the Chevy Chase Country Club and sometimes on the municipal courts. The practice bore fruit in the matches played against Business when the Stenographers went down to defeat by the overwhelming score of 7-0. The Western team took every set of the contest as well as every match.

With the able coaching of Mr. Gordon, the untiring energy and fighting spirit of the players, and the backing of the school, the team is sure to come out on top this year and therefore retain its title of High School and Junior District Champions.

Lewis was selected captain of the 1925 team because of the excellent playing and fine sportsmanship he had shown during the previous season. This year he has continued his steady playing and is a terror at the net.

Mitchell is undoubtedly the best tennis player Western has ever had; in fact "Dooley" is Junior Champion of the District.

McDiarmid has helped the team win many of its matches this season. Western is fortunate in having him as well as "Dooley" to form the nucleus of next year's team.

Track

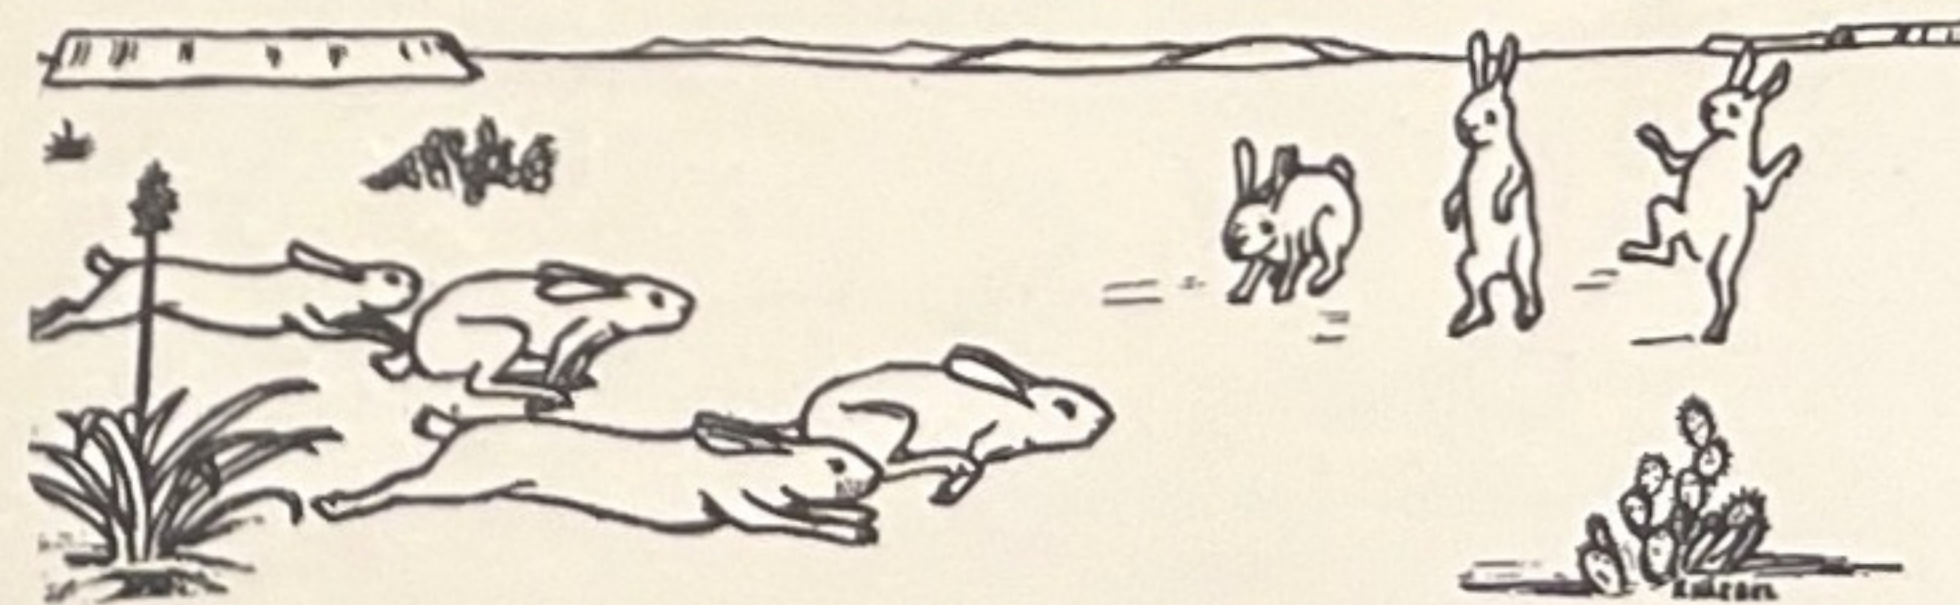

Immediately after the snow had disappeared, Coach Moore issued the call for track candidates. Many boys answered the call and practiced faithfully throughout the season. Although lacking a field near the school, the team journeyed to the Georgetown University track several times a week.

The best all-round man of the year was Winton Elliott. He was the best man on the broad and high jumps, and was also a sure man in the sprints.

In the long-distance events we were fortunate in having the veteran Humphrey. Last season he won the inter-high mile event and is counted on to do likewise this year. Another hurrier is young Ashton Bonnaffon. Although this is his first season with the Western squad, he ran very well in the Post Marathon on March 4th. With several more years' experience he will be a very valuable member of the squad.

Garber was ineligible to run in the meets between the high schools in the District because of the two sport rule. However, he ran in the outside meets and proved to be one of our strongest men. He was best in the pole vault, but due to his all-round ability, he was very good in the half-mile and other runs.

J. Howard, Hornibrook, Morscher, Chapman, N. Howard, Patterson, Auld, Hulbert, Kimball, Briggs, Free, Moreno, Nesbitt.

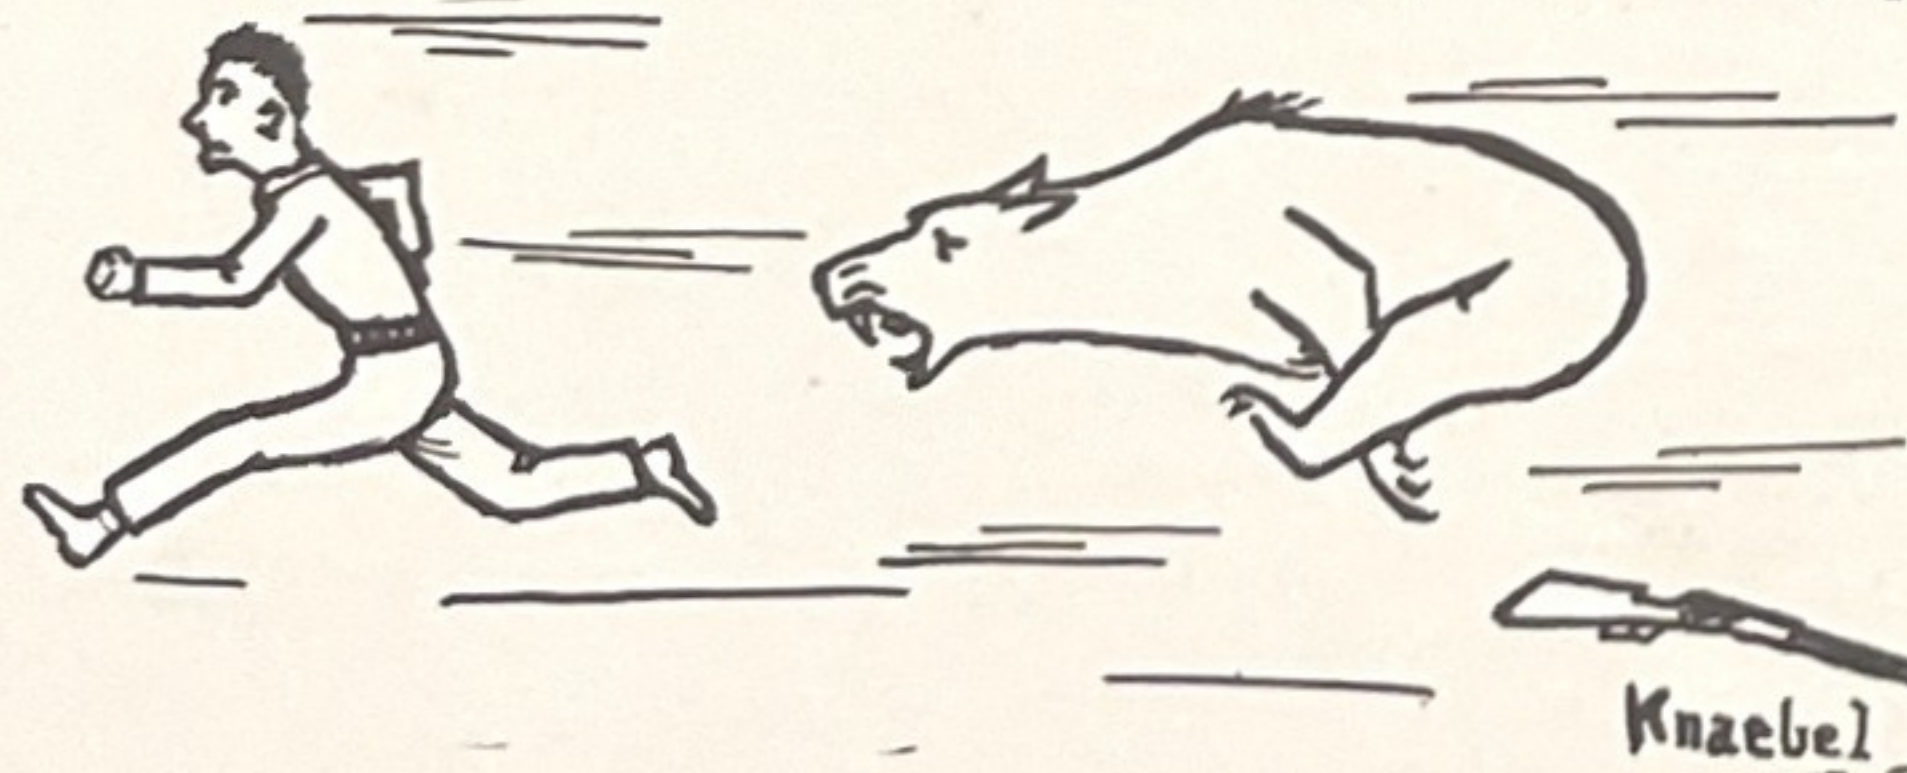

Rifle

Due to the lack of an indoor range, occasioned by the building operations at Western, and their inability to secure one, the boys' rifle team was disbanded until shortly after Easter of this year. However, at that time, they secured the use of the 200-yard outdoor range at Camp Simms, the National Guard Camp of the District of Columbia, on Saturday afternoons. Instead of the regular twenty-two caliber Winchester rifles, formerly used on the indoor range, they had the Regular Army 1903 model Springfields.

The team was under the supervision of Coach David Crockett, formerly of Central High School, and member of the 1924 Champion Olympic Rifle Team. Only four members of the squad (Stephen Hulbert, captain, David Auld, manager, William Briggs and Arthur Kimball) had had experience in outdoor shooting, though all were experienced in indoor work.

After an elimination match to pick the five best shots for the team, they entered the Inter-High School Outdoor Match, shooting offhand, prone, and rapid-fire sitting, acquitting themselves as all Westerners should. The work this year was, however, mostly preparation toward making next year's team the most successful one Western has ever had.

Hockey

Since the "back lot," the historic scene of former hockey battles, disappeared with the building of the new addition, it was feared that hockey would have to be eliminated from the girls' athletic program this year. However, through the courtesy of Mr. Moore, the Georgetown Hollow was procured for practice.

The fact that the field was a block from school and, once reached, was full of unexpected hills and valleys, and uninvited big and little boys, did not at all dampen the ardor of the one hundred and twenty enthusiasts whom the managers entered on the roll book. The Seniors and Juniors formed a first and second team apiece, while the Sophomores and Freshmen each had one.

The teams were progressing, and several of the championship games had been played, when a series of unfortunate circumstances caused an abrupt close to the season and the postponement of the remaining games until spring. The old rivals, Senior First and Junior First, were sharing honors at the end of the season with every prospect of a battle royal for the championship, with the Seniors victors.

A varsity team composed of eleven players was selected from all the teams in the spring. It was an honor to be placed upon this team. Each member of the squads voted for eleven people, in their judgment the best players of the season. From the nominees receiving at least seven votes a committee consisting of Miss Meyers, the captains and managers, selected the twenty-two with highest votes, from which the Athletic Association chose the varsity team. To them was awarded a hockey pin.

Tennis

Tennis has proved to be quite a popular sport among the girls at Western this year. The omission of baseball and track this spring has increased the interest, and by reason of the large number of entries, the plan of elimination has been revised. Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen each had a team composed of those surviving the individual elimination matches. These teams, in turn, contended against each other to determine the winner of the class championship title.

The points gained by the winning team count toward The Western High School Girls' Athletic Championship Cup which is awarded annually to the class whose teams have acquired the greatest number of points in athletics during the year.

To determine the individual star player, members of the winning team competed against each other. As has been customary in former years, the winner received a "W" and the runner-up a "T." The several members of the class squads each received numerals.

The game has developed many keen players. Among the Seniors, Virginia Brant, Florence Seward, Virginia Walthall, Lilian Rixey, and Margaret Bouve did excellent work. Other promising players were: Juniors, Mary Evelyn Bowers, Ann Boyle, Katherine Berrall, Jenny Turnbull, and Helen Ziegler; Sophomores, Rea Ballard, Dorothy Cook, Elizabeth Conway, and Ruth Molyneaux; Freshmen, Dorothy Seay, Louise Preston, Jane Mapes, and Rosalie Reed.

VARSITY TEAM: E. Wilson, R. Miller, M. E. Bowers, J. Turnbull, B. Garber, K. Casey, L. Rixey.

Basketball

Early in November, the question was heard, "Where are we going to play basketball this year?" It was feared no place could be found, when Miss Meyers announced one day she had been successful in arranging for the use of the Peck Chapel gym.

The drawbacks, instead of being hindrances, seemed to urge the girls on to do their best. One hundred and fifty girls began to look for their middies and bloomers and the familiar cry of "Who borrowed my tie last week?" was heard once more in the vicinity of the girls' locker rooms.

Then came the important matter of selecting captains. The Seniors chose Lilian Rixey, the Juniors Betty Garber, the Sophomores June Robinson, and the Freshmen Rosalie Reed. Enough girls came out to enable the Juniors and Seniors to have three teams each and the others one team apiece. The championship was closely contested, but the Juniors finally won.

The climax of the basketball season was the choosing of a varsity team. The players were chosen from all the teams as the seven best players of the season, and a small gold basketball with the owner's name and W. H. S. engraved on it was presented to each of the seven lucky ones.

SENIOR TEAM: Front row—H. Kerr, A. Stewart, B. Booth, L. Rixey (Captain), K. Casey, C. Carmichael, M. K. Lutz. Second row—M. Bouve, E. Miles, A. Graham, S. Voorhees, J. Watson, M. Stanley, M. Polacoff. Third row—F. Fort, M. Perrall, G. Wiseman, R. Miller, J. Steele, F. Waldron, M. Wheeler.

Rifle

A large number of enthusiastic girls reported for rifle shooting last October. Although Western was minus a range at the time, Miss Yoder, faculty adviser for the girls' rifle team, overcame the difficulty by procuring the use of the Central High School range for Saturday morning practice, and helped Captain Constance Candee and Manager Betsy Fries organize a fine group of sharpshooters.

Only a true sportsman will forewear a Saturday morning nap on a cold winter day and give up precious time for rifle practice. Conditions of this kind are a real test, and Western girls proved their mettle when they practiced all winter with a diligence which was well rewarded when in both matches with Central, February 17 and April 9, they bettered the score made last year by 4 and 18 points respectively.

Mary Tompkins was the outstanding marksman of the Western team in both matches. The other girls who shot were: Constance Candee (captain); Betsy Fries (manager); Nancy Beale, Helen Mason, Mary Worthington and Lillian Lindquist, all of whom made scores which would have been a credit to any team.

At the beginning of the new semester the Western Rifle Club applied for membership in the National Rifle Association.

FOREWORD

When we have fears that we may cease to be
When this old Year Book comes off the press,
And soulless persons, hurt by mockery,
On our poor cowering bodies seek redress;
When we consider the right righteous wrath
Of whomsoever we have pictured here;
The subterfuges, ruses, and the craft
That we have used throughout this mortal year;
And when we feel that all our ancient friends
Will gather and will cry, with furious shout:
“We’ve endured much, but this all law offends!”
And fiercely and with wrath they’ll turn us out—
Then do we sigh, and think, and finally call—
“Well, we don’t give a hang. It’s worth it all!”

To ———— whose sentimentally agile eyebrows, melodious warble, and graceful gestures, in his touching interpretation of the vigorous role of Sister Snowball, have won him forever a place high among the heroes of Western, and have given his dear public the inspiration to go on, and to accomplish bigger and better things, we “respectably abdicate” this *Wild
